Cubs Shatter Reputation.

The reputation which the Cubs have went screaming down the first bas for not being able to hit left handers fell flat at this afternoon's merriment. They started after Siever in the second inning with two doubes. And they kept right at him until the fifth, when Killian took his place. For one inning they made merry with Killian, but after that they got but one man on the for not being able to hit left handers line, Steinfeldt scoring. The break on the luck was all with to make third, but was caught between the Cubs. The double play into which the bases, Crawford to Coughlin to Schaefer hit in the sixth inning was nine times in ten, but Harry went after it and made good on a most speccatch. That ended the fun. And in the preceding inning O'Leary had hit into another double play. Tinker pulling in a ball which went at him like a bullet. It was more luck than good judgment, but Coughlin and Charley were both out and Tinker had pulled off a spectacular play un-
