NO. 2 COMMITTEE
TOURS CITY TO SEE
DAMAGED PROPERTYComplaints Following Recent Floods Investigated by Aldermen.

Members of No. 2 committee of the city council conducted a tour of the city Wednesday afternoon, investigating several complaints laid before them at their meeting Tuesday night by deputations of local property owners.

At the first meeting, where water has accumulated in cellars and become stagnant was inspected. A storm sewer, for which the owners agree to pay, is suggested as the remedy.

The creek near Elmwood avenue, between Wharncliffe road and Edward street, was also inspected, a deputation protesting Tuesday night that it is the source of disagreeable odors and is a nuisance. The city engineer is attempting to remedy this nuisance.

Property at 30 Eldon street was also visited, the members of the committee being shown the house perched dangerously on the bank, which is being annually washed away by the river. Emery street property in the vicinity of Ald. B. F. Brighton's bakery, which is periodically flooded from the creek, was also included in the tour.

Princess avenue, east of Adelaide street, a flood area from Carling's Creek, was looked over during the afternoon, as were also other sources of complaint throughout the city.

"All the complaints, under the circumstances, were justified," Ald. W. A. Wilson, chairman of the committee, informed The Advertiser at the conclusion of the inspection.

"The committee will be in each case, and will take any action necessary that we possibly can at once."

"There is a fall of three feet in a short distance in that creek over by Elmwood avenue," declared Ald. John Ashton, "and I do not see much wrong with it, as it is running water."

"I do not see how the people live under present conditions at Brydges street," was the comment of Ald. G. B. Drake, and his remarks were borne out by fellow councillors, who advised this to be the worst grievance of the afternoon, with a disagreeable stench given off from the stagnant water collected under the houses.

"All these complaints resulted from the heavy storm of last Sunday," explained Ald. H. J. Childs, who states that similar conditions may not occur again for years. However, the committee will consider all complaints, and the results of their inspection, with a view to eliminating the causes of the former if possible.

LEO WADDICK IS DROWNED AT PORT

St. Thomas Youth May Have Suffered From Heart
Failure.

PORT STANLEY, July 27.—Leo Waddick, aged 19, of 21 Elora street, St. Thomas, while bathing late this afternoon, was drowned owing to a sudden attack of heart failure.

Mr. Waddick was found by Gordon Erskine of London in three feet of water, when he stumbled over the body. Erskine thought at first someone was playing a trick on him and was horrified when he discovered that a drowning had taken place. The only means of identification was a button of a Catholic order, "Holy Name Society." Father Tobin of Port Stanley identified the body.

Dr. Hugh Stevenson, M.P.P. of London, who was in bathing at the time, attended him. Dr. Jackson was also called.

The body was taken to St. Thomas.

LOCAL MILK FIRM
HELD ANNUAL OUTING

PORT STANLEY, July 27.—The London Pure Milk Company held its 7th annual picnic here today, and was attended by 75 employees. Arriving at noon, the majority spent the afternoon in the lake, and after supper on the heights sports were enjoyed.

The Knox Presbyterian Church Choir of St. Thomas and friends picked up today also. About 40 were present, including their pastor, Rev. G. M. McGillivray.

JUVENILE COURT IS RECOMMENDED BY
NO. 1 COMMITTEE

Council Requested To Ask
Attorney-General For the Necessary Permission.

After considerable discussion, members of No. 1 committee of the city council, in session Wednesday afternoon, decided to recommend that the city council request the necessary permission from Attorney-General Raney for the establishment of a juvenile court here on a no-cost basis. Ald. Cameron Wilson objected on the grounds that the present system is efficient and that the juvenile court possesses no new advantages.

Justice to Boys.
Duncan McDonald, president of Children's Aid Society, addressed the committee at length, outlining the advantages of juvenile courts as demonstrated in other centres throughout the Dominion. He pointed out that the majority of public opinion on the court scheme has swung from justice to boys, and that while girls' cases are not so numerous, they are usually "much worse."

He stated that the press will be barred from juvenile court sessions, with no publicity for participants. "The judge should have enough of the boy in him to get into a lad's confidence and get the story from him," he declared, "and women should deal more intimately with the girls' cases." He deplored the fact that the absence of segregation in the Victoria Industrial School at Mimico, permitted younger boys to mingle with the older offenders, the former thus becoming apt in criminal ways.

A solution of this problem is under consideration by the Ontario Government at the present time, he stated, with construction of a reformatory for juveniles to be situated west of Toronto proposed.

Throws Cold Water.
"The City of London could keep a man occupied full time in a probation office," he said, throwing cold water on the "no cost" scheme with Children's Aid Society and Soldiers' Aid Commission officers acting in this capacity. "Mr. Kelly of the Children's Aid Society has too much work now, and has asked for help."

The report of juvenile offenders haled into the city police court during a period of approximately the last year was then presented. This report was published in The London Advertiser Tuesday, showing that 47 juveniles have appeared in court during this period, 70 on charges of theft. Of this 70 children, 17 were sentenced to reformatory terms, costing the city 50 cents per day for their maintenance. In all 55 were sentenced to terms in the Industrial School.

Young Offenders.
A touch of humor was introduced during the hearing, when it was brought out that two of the juveniles were between 2 and 4 years of age, while one offender was under 1 year of age, at the time his name was entered on the court blotter. These infants were listed as neglected children.

"Since the last meeting of the committee I have been converted to the juvenile court idea," said Ald. G. A. Wilson, "and I am morally and financially in favor of it, as it is conducted by the police."

"I am not opposing this thing at all," said Ald. Cameron Wilson, "and the arguments presented this afternoon will not make me change my opinion. The great argument has been these six boys sentenced to two-year terms for auto theft. It is conclusively crude, and if they write to the attorney-general you will find that a juvenile court judge has no discretion in the disposition of these cases other than that shown by the magistrate."

Protect Public.
"The public must be protected. In the days of no telephones horse thieves captured were severely dealt with because once they got away they were gone. Stringent laws are necessary to protect the public, and it would be dangerous to attempt to change the law without careful consideration."

"It merely shows great ignorance, when it is said that Graydon cannot investigate these cases thoroughly. No juvenile court judge in Canada gives more thought to these cases than the police magistrate does. He remands the juvenile delinquents from time to time, and deals leniently with them to the best of his ability. A juvenile court is no improvement."

Consistent Physician.
"Magistrate Graydon constantly consults with the jail physician on the condition of the boys brought before him, and it has been done dozens and dozens of times. These hold-up men are quoted as graduates of industrial schools, as they were incorrigible when first placed there."

"Down at Toronto if a boy breaks a window, as a nine-year-old kid might, he is haled by the probation officer before a magistrate, and the judge who forces a motherly old juvenile judge to give him a lecture and let him go. Then for six months the probation officer comes to the boy's mother as a pest, and wants to know if Willie is a good boy. It is ridiculous to say that 'if I can be shown definitely that a juvenile court will do any good (it will not prevent juvenile crime), I will favor five people in this town are going to get jobs and paid for them, that's all.'"

Casting Reflection.
Ald. E. E. Harley: "You are drawing a herring across the trail." "You are casting a reflection on the administration of justice in the city of London, when you maintain that a juvenile court is better than the present system," retorted Ald. Wilson.

Ald. Harley then moved that the juvenile court be recommended. Ald. Wenige seconded the motion. Ald. Wilson registered nay. A communication received from the local Trades and Labor Council, protesting against the establishment of a juvenile court in the market house, to operate in opposition to the municipal stall was filed.

J. P. Thompson submitted a bill of expense entailed by the high cost of justice from the city clerk of this living committee. As payment for this committee has previously been made to J. M. Donahue, Mr. Thompson will be notified to collect from him.

A communication from the city clerk of Peterborough, asking London to take a stand in demanding that police court fines be diverted to the municipality in which they are collected, and not to the province as in effect now, was filed, as the city council here has already decided on this course.

A reply to the recent request forwarded to Attorney-General Raney was received, stating that his department has no power to authorize a commission to investigate the bread situation here.

At this point, Ald. Wenige and Ald. Harley hastily left the meeting, explaining that they had to catch trains, and Chairman Watkinson, with the assurance of the committee, was compelled to adjourn the meeting because of lack of a quorum. Ald. Cameron Wilson being the only other member present.

MUST ABATE NUISANCE.

HAMILTON, July 27.—Unless speedy action is taken by the city to abate the nuisance of untreated sewage entering the bay, beach residents, it was learned, will be compelled to either the Ontario railway and municipal board or the provincial board of health.

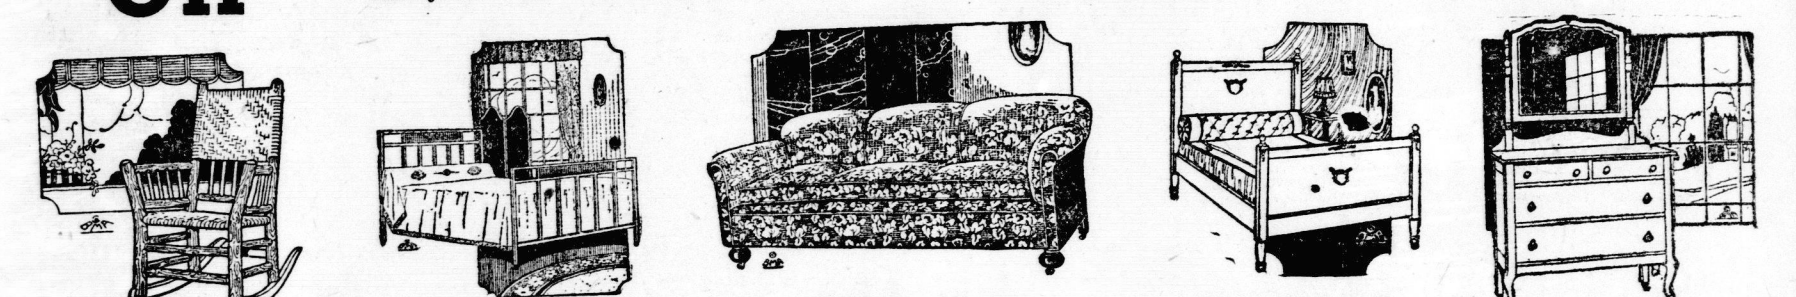

NO HAY FEVER HERE.

Thousands of people suffer annually from this most distressing ailment, hay fever, known also as "autumn catarrh," "hay asthma" and "rose catarrh." The complaint usually continues until frosty weather, and is aggravated by dust, riding in street cars, and by the pollen of hay or flowers. But within a few hours' journey are regions rich in beautiful scenery, there health and pleasure go hand-in-hand and where perfect immunity from any fever is assured.

Among these regions none offer surer relief to the hay fever sufferer than the Lake of Huron district of the "Highlands of Ontario." For illustrated descriptive literature, write to any Grand Trunk Ticket Agent, or C. E. Horning, D. F. A., Toronto, Ont.
