Burtis, W. R. M., was born at St. John and was educated at the Grammar School. He studied law in the office of W. B. & F. A. Kinnear and assisted in the formation of the Young Men's Debating Club. In 1841 he was admitted to the bar of the Province and from 1855 to 1863 he was Common Clerk of St. John. He took an active interest in many public enterprises. He was chosen Worthy Patriarch of Gurney Division, Sons of Temperance, when founded in St. John in 1847. From 1843 to about 1851 he edited Christopher Smiler's "Temperance Telegraph." He also contributed tales to the "Amaranth" and "Guardian," magazines of St. John. One entitled "Grace Thornton; a tale of British America" appeared in the "Guardian" in 1860. He died in December, 1882, aged 64.

Butler, Martin, editor and proprietor of Butler's Journal, Fredericton, was born at Bloomfield, Kings Co., N. B., Sept. 1, 1857. For the past fifteen years he has followed the occupation of a country peddler and his cart, which he calls the "Democrat," is well known through the centre of the province. He began contributing to the St. Croix Courier when only fifteen and in 1890 he started his "Journal," a small monthly, containing chiefly his own writings which are characterized by freshness and vigor of style. He does not permit himself to be fettered by conventional restraints and his writings, both in prose and poetry, are frequently very striking. He is a thorough nationalist in his views and in his patriotic pieces he sounds the true note of Canadian independence.
