

and its hard-worked convener. The committee comprised Messrs. Geo. Weir, B.A., convener; Hector Mackay, secretary-treasurer; W. W. McCuaig; Alex. McGregor, B.A.; D. N. Coburn, B.A.; W. T. B. Crombie, B.A.; F. W. Mahaffy; H. H. Turner; H. S. Lee; J. S. Johnston.

(With apologies to the shade of Sir Walter.)

The way was long, the water cold,
The Artsman was downcast and sold;
His tattered pants and tresses wet,
Seemed to have known a better set;
His pants, his sole remaining joy,
Were carried by a down-east boy.
The last of all the boys was he
To meet the Hall in chivalry.

Wanted.—In exchange for an Eclipse bicycle, good as new, a cooking stove. Reasons for parting with the wheel quite satisfactory. Apply, with references, to P. A. W., Third Year Theology.

Scene.—The Dining Hall. Time.—Immediately after dinner.

The President.—“Gentlemen, I am requested to announce there will be no lecture in System this afternoon.—Mr. Crozier will return thanks.”

The “Deacon” has on view the photographs, in group, of last year’s Journal staff. A great deal might be said about the picture, but ye had rather not say it. The frame, “however,” is very nice.

Two former students, the Rev. C. W. Whyte, B.A., of Kam-sack, Assa., and the Rev. Robert Eadie of Ottawa, visited the college recently. Mr. Whyte, who is principal of an important Indian school, graduated in 1890, and Mr. Eadie in 1894.

At the last meeting of the Third Year it was unanimously resolved to have a class picture.

Mr. D. M. McLeod, after a few days’ illness, is again convalescent.
