Canadians Under Fire Casualties Reported

Hamilton Soldier Said to Have Been Recommended for Victoria Cross—Ottawa Has No Definite Word of Action Said to Have Been Fought This Week.

Conflicting stories of the Canadians being in action in Flanders came over the wires yesterday, but that they have been under fire is indicated by private messages received by relatives. James McFarlane of Marmora has received word that one of his sons who is serving with the Canadian contingent in France had been severely wounded, but no details are given of the scene of engagement in which he took part. The only death reported from Ottawa to a late hour last night was that of Corp. E. L. Davey Thomas, who succumbed to enteric fever.

The Canadian Associated Press sent the following cable under yesterday's date:

"We hear from an officer just returned from the front that the Canadians were in the trenches in the middle of this week, relieving English troops. The Canadians suffered the loss of three killed and 11 wounded."

"We give this with every reserve, there being no confirmation of the same in official quarters."

It was denied by the Canadian department of militia that a heavy casualty list was being held back to allow time for the relatives to be notified. Major-General Hughes said that he had not been advised that any other unit than the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry had taken part in the fighting.

Casualties Announced.

OTTAWA, Feb. 26.—The following casualties among members of the Canadian expeditionary force were announced by the militia department to-night:

Death.—Feb. 26, Corporal E. L. Davey Thomas, P.E.C.L.I., at No. 14 stationary hospital, Saint Omer, from enteric fever; next of kin, P. Davey Thomas, Avenue D, Ludgwan, Cornwall, Eng.

Seriously ill.—Admitted to No. 14 stationary hospital, Feb. 26, J. T. Leatherby, P.E.C.L.I., with cerebro-spinal meningitis; next of kin, J. T. Leatherby, 1374 Cottage, Tiesley, Middlesex, Eng.

Ill.—At No. 2 stationary hospital, Capt. B. J. Coghlin, 1st Battalion, with pleurisy (progressing favorably); next of kin, Lillian Goghlin (sister), Stratford, Ont.

men in the city, including the members of city council, many civic officials, Exhibition board, fire officials, etc. I contend it was criminal to send passes to firemen, why, it is criminal to send passes to the others. The sending of passes to firemen seems to be linked with their betting, but your honor I can tell you that the firemen were betting on the races long before I sent the passes. I have admitted sending the passes and shall continue to send them until the fire department ask me not to. I did not send these passes to the firemen personally, but sent them to Secretary Alex. McGowan, who made the distribution."

Did Not Know It.

T. Herbert Lennox, K.C., counsel for defence, asked: Did you know Noble objected to men getting passes?

A.—No.

Q.—Did you know that these passes were not to be given after the first year?

A.—No.

Q.—You are the father of these charges?

A.—Well, I won't acknowledge that.

Q.—Well, you took responsibility for two charges, one with regard to the slides on the barge, and the other with reference to plumbing being done?

A.—Yes, that's so.

Mr. Geary then called Mrs. Mabel Foster.

Q.—Have you ever been in the Portland fire hall?

A.—Yes, on different occasions with Mrs. Peterson.

Q.—Were you in Roach's room?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Who was with you?

A.—Mrs. Peterson and Roach.

Q.—Did you have something to drink?

A.—Yes, a bottle of beer.

Q.—Was that the only time you had anything to drink there?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Where did the liquor come from?

A.—Roach sent out for it.

Q.—Was Noble in the fire hall at the time?

A.—No.

Q.—Were you well acquainted with Roach?

A.—Yes, I have known him about two years. He was a friend of the family.

Q.—Did you think it was improper to go into the fire hall?

A.—No, certainly not.

Q.—Did anything improper occur while you were there?

A.—No.

Q.—What day of the week was it?

A.—On a Wednesday night.

Arthur Brant, an employee of the Canadian Kodak Co., testified that he had taken bets for men at the factory to Roach, but stated also that no one but Roach knew of the bets.

Alice Brooker testified that she had made bets with Roach, and had telephoned him once at the Portland hall.

Chief Thompson called.

Q.—Did you know that Deputy Chief Noble had slides to cover letters on the buggy or auto?

A.—No, not until the charges were made.

Q.—When promotions were to be made did you make them?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you promote Noble?

A.—Yes.

Q.—How do you make promotions?

A.—I look over the list, and then took into consideration the man's qualifications, and made inquiries regarding him, and made my decision on service and merit.

Q.—Did you have Roach up before you to discipline him?

A.—Yes, I got information that there was betting and a handbook being kept at Portland station from a very valuable source—I will not mention the name—and two men were sent to me by Noble. The first man I met for that he was not a betting man, and that he needed his money for better purposes than putting it on the races.

Roach admitted betting, and said he had done it for years, but as to a handbook being kept, there was no truth in it. I did not discipline the man for that he was not a betting man, but I told them not to do any more betting.

Mr. Lennox then took up the cross examination.

Q.—Did a brother of Fleming get on the fire department again after he had left?

A.—Yes, he was a very capable man, and I put him on without any recommendation by any means. They are with the men all the time.

Q.—What men are responsible officers at Portland station?

A.—The captains are responsible for the morality of the men, I suppose?

Q.—The captains are responsible for the morality of the men, I suppose?

A.—Yes, by all means. They are with the men all the time.

Q.—The deputy, like yourself, then, is not with the men as the captains and lieutenants?

A.—No, certainly not.

Q.—I am right if I say these men were trusted by you?

A.—That is my opinion.

Q.—While gambling is not forbidden in the fire hall?

A.—No, certainly not.

Q.—With the confidence you had in the men, you are satisfied that there was no gambling?

A.—I am satisfied there was no gambling kept, and no gambling, but there was betting, and I dealt with that.

As Mr. Lennox was going into several questions regarding Mr. Noble's part in the fire department, Judge Denton called a halt, saying that no doubt Mr. Thompson would like to say a lot of things about Mr. Noble. It was not necessary.

At this point Mr. Geary jumped to his feet and said that if Mr. Lennox was going to dwell on the former movements of Noble he would very much like to accommodate him by presenting his own case.

"You Can't Bluff Me."

Mr. Lennox then replied: "You can't bluff me like this, I am ready to have anything brought out."

"You have said a lot about me having detectives on the case, but you have not shown me with your own eyes. He is at the defense table now. It is James Forrest."

Mr. Forrest (claiming agent for the Toronto Star) said that Mr. Geary said: "It is not true, I have not said a word at this investigation, and I did not see Mr. Geary's business if I did."

Mr. Lennox substantiated Mr. Forrest's remarks, saying that he was in no way connected with the case.

Mr. Geary demanded an apology.

Judge Denton said that Mr. Forrest said: "I will apologize to your honor if you wish, but not to Mr. Geary," said Forrest.

Mr. Denton will continue the investigation next Tuesday, March 2, at 2 o'clock.

PATRIOTISM and PRODUCTION

"I would urge the farmers of Canada to do their share in preventing the people of Great Britain from suffering want or privation."

HON. MARTIN BURRELL, Minister of Agriculture.

Fertilization and Thorough Cultivation Will Help the Empire

Patriotism and Production must go hand in hand. Great Britain and her Allies need food. Canada must help in supplying that need. You as a Canadian must do your share. The soil is the basis of food production. Therefore, cultivation, proper fertilization and good seed are important factors. This does not seem very complex, but with the right crops on the right soil, this is the whole gospel of crop production.

How can you better at your self for your work this year?

(1) Attend your Conference.

(2) Talk matters over with your neighbor farmers. Give help and get help.

(3) Read the agricultural articles in the daily and weekly press and in the agricultural papers.

(4) Write to the Canadian Department of Agriculture at Ottawa and your Provincial Department of Agriculture for information.

Germany, France, Belgium, Holland and Denmark have increased their food production enormously during the last twenty years through cultivation, fertilization and seed selection. These are the countries that are being either devastated or most seriously affected by this war. Now is Canada's opportunity as well as Canada's responsibility.

The German Kaiser has cut off the supply of potash fertilizers from the rest of the world. This does not mean that we are without all supplies. Canadian fertilizers are still available. Use those "Made-

Attend Your Conference

In-Canada." Read the Bulletin on "Potash in Agriculture" issued by the Canadian Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Do not waste anything this year. Save carefully. Every pound of fertilizer in and around farms and stables.

Gather waste vegetable matter of all kinds. It will pay this year to clean up and to keep clean.

Wash-water contains potash. Coal ashes are good for heavy soils. Wood ashes are rich in potash and lime. Save everything.

Every day counts in getting on to the land. Drain off all surface waters as early as possible. Do not wait for Spring. This may mean a week or two more for growth.

Perform every farming operation thoroughly. Do the ploughing, harrowing and sowing well. Disc and harrow the land until a perfect seed bed is prepared. Sow the seed carefully. After seeding, roll if the soil is not too damp, then lightly harrow.

See that water furrows are run where needed.

Keep the weeds in check.

Do not economize in labour at seed time. A last stroke of the harrow after the seed bed seems perfect usually means extra bushels.

By each and every one of us doing the best that is in him and making the very wisest use of every acre, we, as Canadian farmers, may do much to help our Country.

LIVE STOCK

Breeding stock are to-day Canada's most valuable asset. The one outstanding feature of the World's farming is that there will soon be a great shortage of most supplies. Save your breeding stock. Plan to increase your live stock. Do not sacrifice now. Europe, as well as North America, will pay higher prices for beef, mutton, and bacon in the very near future.

GERMAN SPIRIT IS WANING

All the ground near the front line is plowed up with shells and furrows. The remains of old trenches and graves. The whole place is a vast cemetery, in which our trenches and those of the enemy wind in every direction.

This statement is made by the "eye-witness" in a description of the recent battles southeast of Ypres and of the country in which the armies are fighting.

"In a sheltered spot," he continues, "there is a little graveyard where some of our own dead have been buried. Their graves have been carefully marked and a rough square of bricks have been placed around them. In front of the trenches, the German bodies still lie thick."

Gray Figures Litter Ground.

"At one point of the brickfields recently some 30 men tried to rush our line. At their head was a young German officer, who came on gallantly, canal," says the "eye-witness," "the ground, although there are some enclosures, is comparatively open. To the north of it, however, there are some woods, and these have become a tangle of fallen trees interspersed with shell craters. It adds to the hardships of such fighting, the troops have been attacking on ground in which they sink up to their knees in mud."

Dashing Attacks.

"Despite all these drawbacks," continues the observer, "counter-attacks have been carried out with such resolution that in nearly all cases the original line has been regained. On the night of Feb. 15, as our troops were preparing to drive the enemy out of one of these trenches, his guns suddenly opened a tremendous fire. Our men were in the open at some distance from the Germans at the time, and being thus taken at disadvantage, their chance of success looked small. Without a moment's hesitation, however, the attacking line broke into a double quick and, pounding thru the mud, burst into the German trench."

Knee Deep in Mud.

"To the south of the Ypres-Comines canal," says the "eye-witness," "the ground, although there are some enclosures, is comparatively open. To the north of it, however, there are some woods, and these have become a tangle of fallen trees interspersed with shell craters. It adds to the hardships of such fighting, the troops have been attacking on ground in which they sink up to their knees in mud."
