

CONTENTS

xvii

CHAPTER V

PAGE		PAGE
364	Meeting at Charleston to denounce banks captured by opponents — Reverend Fiske threatens bloodshed if Hayne presides — Hayne presides and Fiske is struck — Ex-Governor Wilson and Waddy Thompson criticise the chairman — Hayne's term as mayor ends successfully — Division in Congressional delegation from South Carolina — Petigru a false prophet	430

CHAPTER VI

373	Hayne's argument in behalf of the French Broad route — His reception in Tennessee and his last meeting with Jackson — South Carolina Legislature supports Calhoun's attitude on voice of bank and State, but lends credit of State to road, on Hayne's appeal	441
-----	---	-----

CHAPTER VII

383	R. Barnwell Rhett's remarkable resolution concerning abolition — Calhoun not ready for it — Hayne's wonderfully clear appreciation of Southern industrial conditions	451
-----	--	-----

CHAPTER VIII

393	Hamilton's recall — Calhoun consults with Van Buren's Secretary of War as to the overthrow of Thompson and Legare — The quarrel between Calhoun and Thompson	461
-----	--	-----

CHAPTER IX

404	Calhoun resigns from the directorship of the Louisville, Charleston and Cincinnati Railroad — His two letters considered — Hayne's letter, which intervened	471
-----	---	-----

CHAPTER X

417	Judge King's letter on the bank elections — The estimate of Hayne and the Western Road at this time in Virginia — Hayne's letter concerning the vote to reject the nomination of Van Buren as Minister to England — His powerful influence with the South Carolina Legislature	489
-----	--	-----