

unity, feel satisfied against me
y disinterested
ment of my native
these pages.

I leave the subject to avail myself of the suggestion of
the Hons. Messrs.
Speakers, viz., to bring the next sitting
of the House at an early hour, when they will have an opportunity (if they have the will,) to bring a subject so important in a charitable view as well as in a public interest," and to propose a proper mode of proceeding, if any new law existing, and if any that have been so

PARK, M.D.

eight line from
"then is," read,