FARMERS NEED PROTECTION

Too Far From the British Markets and Tariff Just Now Favors U.S. Competition

Amos Doupe of Wetskiwin, Alberta, writes The World as follows: "A deputation of farmers from the vicinity of Wetskiwin went before the tariff commission at Edmonton on Dec. 12, to ask for increased protection. The enclosed address, representing the views of the deputation, was read to the commission. As the newspapers have published so much about what free trade farmers have said, we hope your paper will publish in full this address, which gives the views of a good many Alberta farmers."

On the other hand, if we want to ship our products to the United States we must pay such high duties that there is no profit. Fortunately, the development of mining and lumbering in Alberta, British Columbia and the Northwest Territories, has created a considerable demand for our farm products.

Each new settler who comes in adds to the quantity. If we have good markets near at hand for all we produce, the more new settlers there will be, and the better it will be for the country.

It is therefore a matter of great importance to us that we should keep the markets we already have, while we endeavor to get new ones. The United States are allowed to come into Alberta free of duty. It must be remembered that we are not allowed to sell our farm products in the United States.

It is therefore only fair that the Alberta farmer should be given as far from England should be allowed to hold our own market. Instead of holding or reducing the duties on farm products coming into this country from the United States, it would be fair to make the Canadian duties as high as the American duties.

Force Them in. If the manufacturers of the United States are allowed to send their goods freely into this country the farmers of the United States will feed the workmen employed in making them. But if the goods made in the United States are shut out of Canada by high duties, the American manufacturer will come over and start branch factories, employing a large number of workmen.

exemplary convict. He learned the tailoring trade as prominent in the prison orchestra and taught a class in the prison Sunday school. Something about the murder of his father-in-law, Geo. F. Smith, Seymour's career was truly that of a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Well educated, a good looking and unusually polite he quickly gained access to the best of the Anamosa upon his arrival here in 1885 and for several years was a pillar in the Baptist Church and outwardly respectable citizen was leading a criminal career.

When released the other day he secured a broken down automobile, which he used to transport himself to his home. He was released on his own recognizance, for the greater crime.

FIREMAN'S RISKY DEED

Perilous Attempt to Save Man's Life Proved Unavailing. Boston, Dec. 25.—Ten thousand people watched with shivers of fear to-day the feat of a fireman who perched at the top of one of the big water towers, tried time and again to span the distance between the tower and the fire window of the building at 13 Green-street. Smoke dyed red with tongues of flame poured from the window. The fireman had a rope in his hand and a companion on the tower held the other end. The window he was trying to reach was about 100 feet above the ground. He could just about reach the sill. For ten minutes he continued his attempt, but he failed. He was lowered by his comrades and taken to the hospital.

Was a Promising Youth. About 1885, Seymour, then a young man, came to Anamosa from New York State, and took up his residence in the town. He was a promising youth, and early became identified with an active worker in the Baptist church. He was the youngest daughter of George Field and his wife, and she was a very beautiful girl. Seymour was a very good looking man, and he was very popular in the town. He was a very good worker in the Baptist church, and he was a very good citizen.

RIGA REPORTS THAT SHAPE OF RIGAS' MIND IS BEING SHAPED BY FOREIGNERS

Times Are Ticklish, But Quiet—Foreigners Have Relief Ships Near for Emergency. Riga, Dec. 25.—(Via Ekshuhin)—The railroad employes throughout the Baltic provinces went on strike last night. The newspapers protest against the false reports printed abroad to the effect that Riga was being shelled and that revolutionists blew up a railway carrying 200 Cosacks, and the Associated Press is able to deny these rumors. The town is perfectly quiet, the inhabitants go about their usual business, and the streets are in good order, and there are opera performances daily, but attended by small audiences.

Soldiers and police are patrolling the streets day and night. Three cruisers were sent to the harbor, and the disposal of the new governor-general, Lolluhub, who has not yet arrived, is in perfect safety. At present, but they are of the opinion that it would be a very wise precaution if the fourth a broken down automobile were sent to the harbor, and the agitators are quiet and holding few meetings.

At a meeting of the foreign consuls it was decided to try the national color of the revolutionists. While the town is regarded as sufficiently protected by Russian troops, consuls find it necessary to take precautions in case of necessity. The revolutionists continue a program of agitation, hold daily meetings, and to-day posted an order to participate in the harbor, and the agitators are quiet and holding few meetings.
