In The Globe is to this effect: "A well-entrenched monopoly with a capital of fifty millions takes a good deal of bursting, as the people of Canada will discover before the fight now in progress for the control of the export of Canadian nickel by the governments at Ottawa and Toronto is brought to a successful conclusion."

We know that as well as The Globe. But The Globe is doing nothing to bur it; in fact it was absolutely slient about the matter except to put in a good wor

And what does Sir Robert Borden think about this, and what do our friends in Gueen's Park think about it; or are they satisfied with the assurance received from Mr. Cochrane's controller of the railway department and the officers of the British Admiralty? And where are these officers of the British Admiralty and the secret service men who have been watching where the nickel went? Of course the nickel came from Canada; or if not where did it town from? Or is the war to go on for years yet, and are we to continue to allow German: to control our nickel? We've sat still for two years. The Deutschland is loading up with nickel; other undersea boats are coming for other cargoes of it. But Sir Robert Borden and Hon. Mr. Hearst have still written assurances. But are they signed by the Canadian soldiers and the Canadian people? And when Sir Wilfrid's economic committee of leading Liberals to advise the party meet next week, will they, too, be supplied with the written assurances of The Globe? Will Mr. Ed. Young Man Did Not Come Up After Taking Plunge.

EAMILTON, Saturday, July 15.—The daylight saving scheme which was adopt in this city thru the energies of a few members of the Board of Trade and council has proved a failure, and if the wishes of the taxpayers bear any weight standard time will be in use by the end of this month. As a result of the number of objections that have been made against it some of the members of the council are rapidly changing their coats and are loudly calling for standard time. Those in favor of it now are: Acting Mayor Morris, Controller Cooper and Aldermen Langs, Shepard, F. B. Wright and McQuestion, who is content to let it run to the end of August. Seven aiderment and two controllers are against it run to the end of August. Seven ascer-men and two controllers are against it. A special meeting of the council to res-cind the bylaw has been suggested, but up to the present every effort to bring it about has been held up by the few city hall officials who favor the scheme. Plans are now under way for a monster eputation that will wait upon the counties of practically force it to put the clock ack one hour.

immediately driven out by a rush of British infantry. Our troops appear to have gained a complete moral ascendency over the enemy.

From the despatch of Sir Douglas Haig, announcing the success, it can be seen that the attack was methodically prepared for. After the enemy had lost his first system of defence he was driven back, step by step, on his second system. The British artillery spent July 11 and 12 in bombarding the formidable German positions, and the infantry spent these two days in making other necessary preparations for the achieving of a further advance. One assault only was launched and that assault was decisive. The bombardment began at 3 o'clock in the morning and the infantry lines swarmed over the remains of the organized works of the enemy just 25 minutes later. In a few minutes they had ousted the Germans. The resourceful British officers befooled the enemy by making him believe that the assault was going to come from another direction than it actually came. Thus, the element of surprise played a big part in the carrying out of this successful stroke.

significance attaching to this is that the Germans are too hard pressed to counter-attack and try to win back the ground lost to the French on the banks of the Somme. It would not be like that a year ago. Any allied assaults then were sure to stir up a hornet's nest. The German soldier has lost much of his old-time aggressiveness. The French sent an aviator, out to bombard the Town of Mulheim, on the right bank of the Rhine, in reprisal for the German bombardment of the open town of Luneville.

The Belgians report that intense artillery duels prevail on their front. They are preparing the way for the regaining of their country.

West of the Stripa River in southeastern Galica, the Russians are letting the Austrian and German troops beat their heads off in attacking their strong defence. Furlous counter-attacks, launched by the Teuton troops, suffered repulse. The making of counter-attacks shows that the Russians have captured some positions and the enemy is trying to oust them before these are consolidated. The Russians took $200 prisoners, two guns, 19 machine guns and a bomb-thrower. The capture of guns indicates an advance of two or three miles. On the Stokhed the Russians are established on the left bank. They are being furiously attacked by the Austrians and Germans and these are also starting a furious bombardment of the Russians in the region of the lower Lipa. The Austrians claim that they have retaken their old positions lower Lipa. The Austrians claim that they have retaken their old positions on the heights west of the upper Moldava and they have repulsed two Russian attacks on a broad front, west and northwest of Buczacz. The Russians gained ground in a third attack, but the Austrians claim that they were completely ejected in night fighting. North of the Kovel-Sarny railway the Austrians assert that the Russians gained a footing on the left bank of the Stokhod River, but they say that by a surprise attack late in the evening they drove the Russians back and took 160 prisoners.

Rumors of peace have come out of Austria-Hungary so often and they have as often proved abortive that there would perhaps be a tendency to disresard the present upheaval in the Austrian cabinet, whereby Count Andrassy, leader of the opposition, is to succeed Baron Burlan as premier. Count Andrassy has before attempted to negotiate a separate peace with the allies, but the Austrian demands have hitherto been too high. But the disastrous defeats of the Austro-Hungarian armies, coupled with the revelation that by defending Kovel, Germany intends to use the Austrian armies to defend Berlin instead of Vienna and Budapest, may well cause the Austrian Government to lesten to reason.

Ald Ball Speaks.

Ald. H. Ball eulogized the work of Chairman J. R. MacNicol and the executive committee in arousing the enthusiasm of the merchants in the outlying sections. The alderman was of the opinion that there should be no express companies. The parcels post delivered in the city and suburbs, and was handled by the Dominion Government.

"We must depend upon the ordinary straight code of justice which the public demands," said the alderman. "With free express delivery, I am satisfied that not only merchants, but residents, will get more parcels to their homes and create an interchange of traffic. The residents of the suburbs are entitled to financial help, the same as those in the centre of the city, and I think a grant of $200 would be carried thru council."

the city, and I think a grant of $200 would be carried thru council."

H. H. Newman, solicitor for the Citizens' Freight and Express Campaign, was of the decided opinion that the express companies are guilty of misrepresentation, instancing the conditions under which agents at outside points accept goods to be delivered to residents in the city. In very many cases demurrage was charged on goods which they required people to call for.

Finding Enemies.

A. Hanna, East Toronto, said he appreciated the business methods carried out by the express and freight campaign. "You are finding out your enemies," he said, "and you are preparing your ammunition in a splendid way. We have in our midst a sort of piracy which fleeces us out of our rights, and East Toronto thoroly endorses this campaign."

F. Patience, East Toronto, also endorsed Mr. Hanna's statements, charging that the express and railway companies were allied corporations. "They are getting thin-skinned since our campaign started," he said.

L. Jarvis, Oakwood, declared that the day would come when the merchants would show to the City of Toronto the unjust treatment received from the express companies.
