It was a trifle chilly in the grand stand at night and the wind blew too fresh to allow the performance of the bicycle leap. Compilments From Far East.

Issa Tanimura spoke with a vigor and intensity that showed the tenacity and fixed purpose of his race. He had been taken care of by an American and more than half of his life had been spent in the States, which was a young country, but had done a great deal of good for the world. Canada was young, but was following in its footsteps, while Japan was also advancing, altho not so fast. He would recommend to his government that young Japanese be sent here to be educated. "We want your timber, your Manitoba No. 1 hard and your salmon to pickle and send over to China. The Chinese are only good to wash the clothes. We like to be English, and are now limitating what England has done. I shall propose to my government to ask the Japanese Tea Association to establish a tea house here, where we can show the Japanese dress, music and the arts." The speaker said he considered the exposition a much better one than the St. Louis Fair, as the exhibitors were so willing to explain everything that it was a very fine system of education.

Dairying Progress.

Yesterday afternoon Prof. Dean, O. A. C., gave a very interesting and instructive address on "Canadian Dairying: Its Past, Present and Future," to a large audience. In butter, remarkable changes had come over the industry during the past ten years. To day butter making is both easily and quickly accomplished. Owing to the establishment of dairy schools, there is now no excuse for ignorance of the principles of dairying. Boric compounds for the preservation of export butter were being tested at the O. A. C. Cheese making had also advanced streatly during the past ten years, and the making of Canadian cheddar is now a science and an art.

Large crowds watched the butter-making competition, in which Miss A. S. Orr, Galt, and E. A. Rodgers, Rochester, N. Y., took part, Miss Orr, Galt, and E. A. Rodgers, Rochester, N. EXHIBITION NOTICES.

A most popular rendezvous at the Exhibition is the handsome tent of the L. O. F. in Society Row. Thousands have visited here and it has been a scene of much activity, but notwithstanding many a jaded and weary visitor has found it a bower of peace and quiet, in which to rest. To make their guests comfortable and "at home" has been the one anxiety of the very energetic staff on duty, and no small amount of praise is due to them for the viscous accomplished. Associated with unt of praise is due to them for the uccess accomplished. Associated with he superintendent of deputies, G. A. Mitchell, who is in charge, are T. G.

The Foresters' Orphans' Home on Foresters' Island, Deseronto, Ont., is now in course of erection and is already well under way and on the road to completion. It is proposed not to have the orphans of the order sent to the home, but to go themselves and get them to the home, there to care for train and educate as far as possible as a parent would train his own chil-

Mr. Gunsaulus expressed his appreciation of the honor done the country he represented. He considered that the more friendly intercourse that took place between the two countries the better it would be for each. There was no chance of any political change, but there always would be a healthy commercial rivalry.

Hon. E. J. Davis spoke at some length on the great development of the country during the past year, in population and trade.

Less Continued success and rapid advancement. Its continued success and rapid advancement is a permanent monument. Its continued success and rapid advancement is a permanent monument to the ability and forethought of its founder. Thirty-six-years and eight months is the average age of its members, who number 220,000, and youth, therefore, is a predominant feature of this great order.

The society has been in existence 30 years, but its death rate is only 6.46 per 1000. Not a dollar has ever been lost thru careless management and its accumulated funds are safely invested in the best of gilt-edge securities. On Jan. 1 of this year its accumulated funds amounted to the large sum of about $7,500,000. The I. O. F. in the year 1903 paid out to widows, orphans and disabled brethren $1.658,108,92; sick and funeral benefits, $192,163.71.

A great many storm-stayed visitors availed themselves of the opportunity to avoid a wetting, and at the same time supplied themselves with excellent umbrellas.

Mitchell, who is in charge, are T. G. Davey, past supreme treasurer; James Glendenning, D.S.C.R., and W. H. Hall, D.S.C.R. It may be of interest to readers to show how these men have toiled during the fair. They have personally distributed a large amount of advertising matter, giving away 50,000 booklets and 28,000 buttons, each one of the staff, a hearty handshake and smile being also accorded the recipient. About 2500 names, including addresses, from almost every country in the world, have been registered at the tent.

A big fall and winter campaign all along the ime is now being engineered, and in Huntsville, London and Hamilton hugh initiations will take place, the numbers being 300, 1500 and 1200 respectively.

There is no need to mention the financial standing of this well-known order, but they intend to emphasize and bring before the general public the fraternal side of the order and this will no doubt be the greatest strength of the order in the coming years. In this case were an order made a breach would take place only upon a demand being made and refused, and that could be readily proved. Further, legislation was passed in Ontario in 1900 which seemed to meet the objection in the Kingston matter, and English and Irish cases supported the contention.

"Oh," returned Mr. Riddell, "my learned friend knows well that the public can't sue. This is the city's suit in their behalf."

However, the evidence of these men was only to show that the company was carrying out the terms of its !he gal notice. In such cases as the present, orders of this character had been made upon interlocutory applications. The object of the defence was to have as much delay as possible.
