

TEMPERANCE.

ST. JOHN TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.

From the Christian Reporter and Temperance Advocate.

Pursuant to notice, a Quarterly public meeting of the St. John Temperance Society took place on Tuesday evening last, at the Aylum Chapel.

The Rev. G. L. WIGGINS favoured the meeting with a peculiarly pleasing and interesting address, to which we regret our inability to do justice.

Perhaps, however, there were many individuals who wished well to the cause, who admitted that it was doing incalculable good, and who wished it success and prosperity, but who, most inconsistently still refused to come forward and enrol their names on its lists.

Moved by the Hon. Mr. Justice PARKER, seconded by the Hon. R. SIMONS:—That the circular which has now been read, be adopted, and printed for general circulation throughout the Province.

Moved by Mr. BROWN, of New-York, and seconded by Mr. G. T. RAY:—That while we deprecate and deplore the miserable fate of confirmed drunkards, commonly called hard drinkers; we deem it impossible to apply an adequate remedy to the evil of Intemperance, until the moderate drinkers, or those who are sometimes said to make temperate use of ardent spirits, shall be induced to betake themselves to total abstinence.

Moved by the Rev. F. COSTER, of Carleton, seconded by the Rev. I. W. D. GRAY:—That our Provincial accounts, so far as we are in possession of them, are encouraging. The cause in our neighbouring districts particularly is progressing; and generally throughout the Colony, the consumption of ardent spirits is upon the decrease.

Moved by S. HUMBERT, Esq., seconded by M. PARKER, Esq.:—That Temperance is not only a pledge for national respectability and happiness, but a source of national wealth.

Moved by W. B. KINNEAR, Esq., seconded by C. SIMONS, Esq.:—That altho' public opinion is a most important agent in the great work of Temperance Reformation, yet it is not expedient that we should wait its tardy operation in the renovation of the Society.

Moved by the Rev. S. BUSBY, seconded by Lieut. S. HUGHES:—That if the traffic in ardent spirits is immoral, all who patronize a Tavern Rum-dealer are guilty of an immorality. It is therefore a matter of conscience with the Members of Temperance Societies, to avoid purchasing any article of grocery at such places, while they can be had elsewhere.

riously into the matter; if they did not think it likely to attain its object, they might withdraw their countenance from it, but if convinced of its adaptation to the desired end, it was the bounden duty of every one to come forward and join with those already engaged in the cause.

The Rev. G. L. WIGGINS favoured the meeting with a peculiarly pleasing and interesting address, to which we regret our inability to do justice. He observed that the principle on which the subject of his motion rested was one which, perhaps, some years ago would have been strongly disputed, even by some who now advocated the cause of Temperance.

Perhaps, however, there were many individuals who wished well to the cause, who admitted that it was doing incalculable good, and who wished it success and prosperity, but who, most inconsistently still refused to come forward and enrol their names on its lists.

The Meeting was eloquently addressed by all the speakers of the foregoing resolutions, and the second of the 6th, and great interest appeared to be excited among a very attentive audience, by the animated and forcible appeals of the various speakers.
