Our Soldiers

Mrs. P. J. McNamara, of St. Stephen, formerly a resident of this city, on Wednesday received official information that he youngest son, Pte. Leo McNamara, was wounded in the knee, but it is considered slight, being a barbed wire wound. Private Leo crossed over with the 55th Battalion and was later drafted the 55th Battalion and was later drafted into another battalion, in which he has been fighting fifteen months.

His brother, Pte. T. Byrne McNamara, was wounded with shrapnel in the head on April 8 and is yet in hospital in England. This youthful soldier enlisted in the first contingent, but on account of defective eyesight was transferred from one battalion to another and although he has been some three years in the service of king and country he had been on active service scarcely one year when active service scarcely active service scarcely one year when wounded. Both these brave boys have nany friends in the city who will hope for their recovery.

Rev. A. W. Daniel, Rothesay, received word yesterday that his son, Private Reginald Heber Hamilton Daniel, had been killed in action on August 15. Private Daniel was twenty-seven years old. Prior to going overseas he was a member of the staff of the Bank of Montreal

The lobby of the it. Regis glowed with light and vibrated to distant dance strains while Mrs. Millholland begged for the life of her son. Officers stiff with recently conferred autority stalked to and fro. Women in ilks and jewels walked past and stare curiously at the tragedy staged in the sadow-less, geam-

Mrs. Mulholland set on the edge of a brocaded sofa. She saw neither uniforms nor jewels. She wept silently as she waited, and her niece, Mrs. Katherine Shields, and a friend, Mrs. Katherine Hannan, who set beside her, wept also, They did not rise when Governor Whitman and his military secretary, Major F. L. V. Hoppin, came. They did not know they had come until the governor sat down leside them.

Clutched in Mrs. Mullholland's hand were seven sheets of blue-lined paper. were several sheets of blue-lined paper on which she had written in delicate, curlicued hirography, her plea to the governor st her tongue fail her in his governor ist her tongue fail her in his presence. At times, the neat letters had sprovled off the lines and there were blurs here and there that told of the travil of their composition.

She fit no awe of the man seated beside er, however, and her fingers crumpla and picked at the laborious document as she told of her son "who always had been a good boy." Her writte plea was soon a wrinkled, tightly-rellid ball, which, at the end of the ly-relld ball, which, at the end of the intervew, she carried away mechanically. Simple Home Treatment to Remove Hairy Growths A Home Recipe For

USE THE WANT

Removing Wrinkles

Two or three minutes use of a delatone paste will banish every bit of hair from your face, neck or arms. This paste is made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. After the paste is removed, the skin should be washed to free it from the remaining delatone and it will be clear and spotless. You will not be disappointed with this treatment if you are sure to obtain real delatone from your druggist.

Who will blame the modern woman for trying to look as young and attractive as she reasonably can? Why should she be placed at a disadvantage in numerous ways by wearing wrinkles, if she can avoid these hateful marks of advancing age? Few women, however, know what to do to effectually rid themselves of wrivkles of wrivkles of wrivkles of wrivkles of wrivkles and early of the advertised preparations are unsatisfactory and very expensive. But a very simple and harmless home remedy, which any woman can make, will work wonders where all the patent preparations fail.

Buy an ounce of powdered saxolite at any drug store. Dissolve the whole ounce in a half pint of witch hazel and use as a wash lotton. The results are practically instantaneous. Marked improvement is noticed immediately after the very first trial. Wrinkles and sagging are corrected and the face feels so refreshed and smug-like.
