ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., APRIL 15, 1901.

UNCLES PAUL AND UNCLE SAM.

The Star begs to assure that eminent patriot, Oom Paul Kruger, of his distinguished consideration. Never having been in America, nor intimately acquainted with the subtle qualities of American statesmanship, Uncle Paul may have been puzzled and disturbed by the cables he received from this side on Saturday. One of them told him that the lower house of the legislature of the great state of Illinois had adopted resolutions hailing him as the champion of liberty and the victim of oppression, and extending to him, along with the sympathy of the members, a cordial invitation to run over to Holland some afternoon and deliver an oration. Right on the heels of this went a cable to the effect that the United States would not in any way interfere with the shipment of mules from New Orleans for the British army in South Africa. To a mind not skilled in other than scriptural interpretation, there might seem an element of contradiction in these two messages. To the gentle and open mind of Uncle Paul, untutored in the arts of dissimulation and political finesse, it would doubtless seem so. Therefore the Star tenders to the ingenious exile its kindly offices, and interprets to him the apparent mystery. The people of the United States entertain for the Boers a feeling of profound sympathy and brotherly regard. They have said so in many words, and with many resolutions. But if they took open action in behalf of Oom Paul and his friends there would be war; and war—in the words of one of their eminent soldiers—is hell. But they know that mules cost money; and ships to transport them, and supplies to feed them, cost money. Therefore the British treasury suffers in proportion to the purchase of mules. If enough mules are bought the treasury will become bankrupt, and there will be no more funds with which to prosecute the warlike operations in South Africa. In that event Uncle Paul could return to Pretoria and resume the reins of power, and disseminate liberty and righteousness and concessions and monopolies all over that vast region. Mark the subtlety of the scheme. Uncle Sam will help Uncle Paul by encouraging the production and export of mules, to the point where the British treasury will be a bankrupt institution. Then Uncle Paul can run over some afternoon and address the legislature of Illinois, and with the plaudits of admiring millions in his ears hurry back to the Transvaal to inaugurate the Republic of Man, which Hall Caine foolishly thinks will be started somewhere in Europe.

The Star has much pleasure in acquainting the apostle of liberty with these facts. They will explain to him much that must, to his honest and simple mind, have appeared contradictory in the attitude of the great American nation during the last year or more. Let him now, in his daily devotion, pray that many mules may die on the passage, and that many more may starve on the voyage. If, as he avers, Providence is still in his side, the property of such a course will at once suggest itself to his devout mind. A few thousand mules, more or less, cannot be of great consequence in the development of a plan which is to destroy an arrogant empire, and usher in the era of the brotherhood of man.

TO DISCUSS TAXATION.

An important interstate conference to discuss the subject of taxation is to be held in Buffalo on May 23rd and 24th. The call for the conference is signed by leading economists, tax experts and public men representing all portions of the country and all interests. The letter of invitation says:

"For many decades the states have been building up independent systems of taxation without reference to each other, until now we have a state of affairs bordering on chaos where each state is practically fighting nearly every other state. Some property is taxed three or four times, while other property is not taxed at all. Corporate activity has largely changed the character of individual investments. Industry has overstepped the boundaries of any one state and commercial interests are no longer confined to mere local limits. This conference will be the first attempt in this country to work out some uniform principles. It is not expected to settle any of the problems in the two days' discussion, but it will be beginning and may result in the appointment of a permanent commission to work out some basis for future action."

THE WONDERFUL TURBINE.

The development of the turbine in marine propulsion suggests great things to a writer in Chamber's Journal. Those who have read the story of the Turbine, designed by the Hon. C. A. Parsons, remember that this vessel, fitted with steam turbines instead of ordinary engines, amazed everybody at the British naval review in 1888, by the great speed which she developed. The admiralty authorities were so impressed that a torpedo-boat destroyer called the Viper was built on the same model, and is now the fastest vessel in the world, having attained a speed of thirty-seven knots, or forty-three miles per hour. The Viper could cover the distance between Dover and Calais (eighteen miles) in less than half an hour. The writer in Chamber's predicts that vessels on the turbine principle will eventually perform the channel service, and sees no reason why in time the trains may not be run on and off turbine-driven ferry boats and enable the passengers to go between London and Paris without change of cars.

One of the difficulties in connection with the turbine is that the engine cannot be reversed. This, it is pointed out, is no disadvantage in fixed engines, and in marine movements it is overcome by having a separate propeller. Besides the greater speed of the turbine, there is an utter absence of vibration, which suggests greater comfort for passengers, many of whom are made sea-sick by the vibration and "racing" of the ordinary engine. The principle of the turbine was known to Hero of Alexandria two hundred years before the Christian era, and a variation of his idea was worked out by Giovanni Branca in 1629. Many attempts to achieve success have been made since then, but it remained for Mr. Parsons to produce a good working model. It is believed that with greater speed greater economy in coal can also be further experiment be attained. A vessel on the Parsons' turbine principle will be running on the Clyde during the Glasgow exhibition, which opens in May.

It is stated that thirty free sanatoriums for consumptives are maintained in Germany. King Edward visited one of them on his recent visit to Cronberg, and was shown over the place, which was founded in 1874 and has been steadily improved with the advance of scientific knowledge since that date. German physicians appear to lead in knowledge and skill in the treatment of tuberculosis.

Great Britain, Canada, Australia, South Africa, Russia, France, Denmark, Austria, Japan, Mexico, and many other countries will be represented at the Glasgow exhibition which opens next month. Preparations have been going on for two years. The British association and many other societies will meet in Glasgow during the period of the exhibition.

CLEVER SWINDLE

By a Young Man Who Claimed to Come from This City.

TORONTO, April 14.—The Imperial Bank and Bank of Commerce of this city have been swindled to the tune of $2,405 and $2,500 respectively, and there is strong presumptive evidence that other monetary institutions have also been victimized.

Late yesterday afternoon the Imperial Bank authorities discovered that a marked cheque for $10, made payable to C. A. Winton, had been cleverly raised to $2,405, presented in the regular course of business and duly cashed by the teller. A similar discovery was made by the Bank of Commerce, but in this case the cheque had been raised from $20 to $2,500.

Winton, who is described as 25 years of age, fair and about 5 feet 7 in height, arrived in this city about eight days ago. He gave out that he was from St. John, N. B., and claimed to be the representative of a bicycle company at 70 King street. On April 11th he opened an account in the savings department of the Imperial Bank, depositing $50. Yesterday morning he presented a cheque for $10, which was marked good by the teller's keeper. In the afternoon the marked cheque raised to $2,405 was duly cashed by the teller. The same plan was followed with the Bank of Commerce.

The cheques were not made out on the regular bank forms. Acid was used in perpetrating the fraud, the work being of such an artistic character as to defy detection.

The bank authorities are very reticent in regard to the swindle, but the matter is now in the hands of the local detective force, while the services of the Pinkertons have also been called into requisition.

TORONTO, April 14.—The Telegram's special cable from London says: A correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at Rome says the emigration of Italians to Canada lately has been considerable. The Italian consul at Montreal telegraphs there is a large number of immigrants there without work and without resources, and he asks the Italian government to take steps to prevent such an exodus in the future.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

John W. Jones, a Well Known Citizen. Meets His Death on Market Square Saturday.

On Market Square about five o'clock Saturday afternoon, John Wallace Jones, a well known citizen of Carleton, fell from a wagon and sustained injuries from which he died shortly after.

Accompanied by Edward Jones, he had just driven from home, coming around by the bridge. Passing through Market square one of his reins broke and the sudden pull on the other made the horse turn quickly around. The wheels became locked and the wagon upset. He called to his companion to jump out and seize the horse's head, which was immediately done. He stood up in the wagon and involuntarily pulled hard on the sound rein, causing the horse to reeve suddenly around, upsetting the wagon and precipitating the unfortunate man heavily headforemost to the ground.

A crowd immediately assembled and conveyed the unconscious man to the sidewalk near the ship. Dr. Morris, who was passing, sent for the ambulance and had him conveyed to the hospital, where he died about half an hour later without regaining consciousness. His remains were removed to his home on Middle street, west end, yesterday.

The deceased was 58 years of age, and before the fire was the proprietor of the old Phoenix hotel in Indian town. Of late years he has been employed as a flier in Jordan's mills at Point Pleasant. He leaves a wife and two children, one of whom, O. V. D. Jones, at one time kept a drug store on Golden Ball corner and later in the north end, moving to Chicago about four years ago. The other child is Mrs. Capt. T. Thosson, resident in Norway.

The funeral took place today from his late residence to Cedar Hill cemetery. There was a very large attendance of friends and acquaintances to whom his untimely death came as a great shock. Services were held at the house and grave by the Rev. B. N. Nobles.

A POPULAR CLUB.

Annual Meeting of the Neptune Rowing Club—A Very Satisfactory Year.

The annual meeting of the Neptune Rowing Club was held in their rooms, 35 Charlotte street, Saturday evening, and was very largely attended.

The report of the managing committee showed that last year's rowing season was a most satisfactory one, the number of rowing members being larger than the preceding year, and the racing life and regattas becoming more popular every year. The committee were of the opinion that the club should more the racing life and recommended that two single scull boats, a four-oared boat and a four-oared scull, other barge be added to the fleet, and also recommended that single and double scull regattas be held in the harbor, starting early in June. The committee reported the financial statement presented by the treasurer was most satisfactory, showing the club was two hundred and fifty dollars better off at this time last year, and with all bills paid.

The election of officers resulted as follows: John F. Robinson, president; Fred E. Houghton, vice-president; George McAvity, and vice-president; Rowland Frith, secretary; R. H. Campbell, treasurer; Heber Vroom, captain; managing committee, W. McLeod, J. A. R. Jones, Frank A. Kinney, J. P. Robinson, Douglas Sutherland.

After the meeting adjourned an informal social was held, which was adjourned shortly before midnight, but during the two hours a splendid programme was given, including songs by R. H. Seely, Robert S. Ritchie, Chas. D. Shaw, Harold Allen, Stephen Blawie, J. P. Robinson, Buck Leblanc of Montreal, and Jack Power, a buck and wing dance by Mr. Connolly of P. McLeod and John Harding, a three-round bout between John Brown and John Taylor; two or three stories were told in the hall, and a joining in the national anthem. Coffee and sandwiches were passed round during the evening.

The rowing committee of management of the club intend getting right to work on the recommendations brought in by last year's committee, and hope to open the rowing season a week or ten days earlier than usual. They have already received great encouragement in the shape of a large number of new applications for membership, and with the aid of a few weeks' work for the largest membership this season that the club has ever had since it was organized in 1878.

OTTAWA NEWS.

OTTAWA, April 14.—It is believed the government will bring down a bill to increase the seasonal indemnity from $1,000 to $1,500. The French Liberals are largely responsible for forcing the hand of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. There seems to be little doubt that the measure will pass.

Lord Strathcona has sent Col. Steele a substantial remembrance in the shape of a cheque for $25,000.

It is as good as settled that the government will present Captain Bernier with the vessel and instruments for his Polar expedition.

The minister of customs has issued a circular notifying the collector of customs to exercise special vigilance in the inspection of vessels coming from small ports infected ports and to co-operate with the quarantine officials to this end.

BISHOP CASEY SPEAKS.

In his sermon in the cathedral yesterday morning Bishop Casey referred to the will of the late bishop and the protest made in the probate court. He said there was no disposition to interfere with family affairs more than was absolutely necessary. The late bishop had said that all he had came from the people and should return to them. For himself, Bishop Casey said he was personally neither better nor worse off than he was before, but as bishop he had the management of the corporation. He would look into its affairs and give the people information concerning it. As to the late bishop, there could never arise any question of his keen sense of justice.

The bishop said that the people as a matter of conscience and a duty of patriotism to receive the census enumerators courteously and give them all proper information. It was in the interest of the province and of our dominion and of themselves that full information should be given, and the officials who asked the questions were strictly bound to secrecy.

A CHURCH DEDICATED.

The new Tabernacle Baptist church on Haymarket square was dedicated yesterday. The building has already been described in the Star. Rev. Mr. Nobles preached at the morning service and in the afternoon addresses were delivered by Revs. H. F. Waring, C. T. Phillips, Dr. Black, Ira Smith, John Shaw and Dr. Manning. In the evening the pastor, Rev. P. J. Stackhouse, to whose energy its erection is due, conducted the service.

In closing the preacher said "There comes to me tonight a vision of what this church may become as a power for good. I see a band of consecrated men and women bound by a spirit of love, as broad and deep as the universe. No wrangling is there nor jealousy; nothing but love. If a member be in sorrow or sickness or poverty he is comforted and ministered to. If some one has denied his Lord and wandered away in the paths of sin he is sought and led back again. There are no panted pews nor favored class to say 'I am holier than thou,' but the church is democratic for the people, and the Lord adds to it daily such as shall be saved. Is the vision possible? God help us to make this such a church."

At the close of the service the ordinance of baptism was administered to two candidates, and eleven were received into the church at the morning service.

SALUTARY FRUITS OF CRIME.

(Amherst Press.)

Yesterday was an unusual day in Amherst. The rumors in regard to the shooting flew wide and fast, and became, sometimes, quite unreasonable.

The claims of the day were most in evidence, and the papers went on the ordinary edition and issued hundreds of both its first and second editions within an hour. Newsboys were numerous and active. They scarcely gave time to count their quantities when they were off, returning, some of them, several times. The lessons of the shooting are very forcible, but moralizing would be unfair at this stage. The matter is in the hands of a judge who well understands the law and will administer it impartially. It is understood that the prisoner has taken advantage of the Speedy Trials Act.

MR. BLAIR AND THE CATHOLICS.

(St. John Freeman.)

The Canadian Freeman of Kingston, endorses our article on Hon. A. G. Blair. It says:

"The Kingston Freeman echoes the sentiments of its St. John namesake. We have always reason to know that there is not the slightest tinge of bigotry in Hon. A. G. Blair's make-up; and this fact can be attested to by the many battles he has fought on behalf of Catholics since he has been in public life, so much so that he has made thousands of friends not only in his own Province of New Brunswick, but in the other provinces of the dominion. In the case of Mr. Blair as far as Catholics are concerned, the proof of the pudding is in the eating of it."

LATE HON. T. R. JONES.

The following resolutions have been adopted by the Board of Trade:

Resolved, That the members of the St. John Board of Trade desire to place on record their sense of the great loss sustained by the death of the late Hon. T. R. Jones, one of the oldest members of the board, and one time its president, and on the occasion of his death to express their sincere sympathy with his family and to record their appreciation of his services to the community.

Active and energetic in business, keen and clear-sighted, Mr. Jones has for many years taken a prominent place in business circles, and as a member of the City Council he was active in promoting many necessary reforms. As a Legislative Councillor he was always ready to give his time and services as one of his duties to the community.

Highly respected as a merchant and a citizen, Mr. Jones was greatly missed; and this board cannot forget that almost the last occasion on which he appeared in the hall of the board was on a committee meeting summoned to deal with a subject in which the citizens of St. John were deeply interested, the question of the St. John market, which he expressed his views—views which subsequently have been the all but unanimous approval of the members of the board.

Further resolved, That the members of the board extend Mr. Jones' funeral in a body as a mark of respect, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to Mrs. Jones, with the expression of the deep sympathy of the members of the board with her in her bereavement.

SERMON BY REV. W. W. RAINNIE.

In St. Andrew's church last evening to a large audience the Rev. W. W. Rainnie delivered an able and eloquent sermon. He took for his text, Hebrews 12, "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, today and forever."

In France, said Mr. Rainnie, the peasants have a very vague and indefinite idea of Christ. They either picture Him as a child in the Holy Mother's arms or as a dying man on the Cross, but when they hear the story of His life told in a simple manner they are drawn towards Him at once. Their greatest men have always spoken of Christ with deepest respect and veneration. In Germany the wisest and most gifted men through all generations have revered the name of Christ. The same is true in England, where, by quoting many passages from various writers, Mr. Rainnie showed that even though they were not, all true Christians, the same sentiment is felt. And what is the reason? Preconceived opinions are apt to prevent an impartial judgment of Christ's character, but if we read the story of His life without any biased opinion the great personality of Christ will force itself on everyone. The name of our Lord is becoming fuller of meaning as the world advances, and in place of the simple name of Jesus Christ we now understand it to mean faith, love, blessing and peace.

Humanity is only beginning to understand its deepest life and highest interest. It now as never before sits at the feet of Christ. But the greatest meaning in the beloved name is Saviour. The dead Jesus is becoming a Recent Deaths.

Wife of Ex-Premier Emerson Passed Away at Her Home in Dorchester Yesterday.

Mrs. Joseph E. Scott.

N. C. Scott received a telegram yesterday from his brother, Joseph E. Scott of Pittsburgh, announcing the death of the latter's wife, which occurred very suddenly at 7.30 o'clock Sunday morning. Mrs. Scott was formerly a Miss Clark, and leaves two brothers, R. Clark, proprietor of Clark's hotel, there, and Joseph S. Clark, foreman of the Globe composing room staff. The remains will be brought to this city for interment, leaving Pittsburgh this evening.

Mrs. Geo. R. Davis.

The death occurred Saturday of Mrs. George R. Davis, after a short illness at her residence, No. 269 Gormain street. The deceased, who was a most estimable lady, was formerly a Miss Boyce of Lorneville, Cumberland Co., N. S. In addition to a sorrowful husband, she leaves a son and daughter, and a large circle of relatives and friends. The funeral will take place from her late residence on Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. George Fowler.

Mrs. George Fowler of Harding street, Fairville, passed away very suddenly and unexpectedly on Saturday at 4.30 o'clock, aged 50 years. Deceased leaves a sorrowful husband and four children and a very large circle of relatives and friends to mourn her sad departure. Her funeral will take place from her late residence on Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. H. R. Emerson.

DORCHESTER, N. B., April 14.—Mrs. Emily C. Emerson is dead, and gloom, the outcome of true sympathy and regret, has settled over this community. From Friday afternoon, when the symptoms indicating a fatal issue began to show, she steadily declined until last evening, when it was thought doubtful if life could last through the night. The end came at eight o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Emerson was 47 years of age and was a daughter of the late C. B. Record of Miramichi. Her mother, who of late years has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Emerson, and her three children and other immediate relatives, words will not estimate the loss occasioned by Mrs. Emerson's death. The funeral will be held on Tuesday at 2 o'clock, and will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Thomas, pastor of the Baptist church, of which congregation the deceased was a member, and prominent member. In the Sunday school also Mrs. Emerson was a devoted worker, and to her influence much of the present status of that branch is due.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson were married June 15th, 1878. One son is now attending the cavalry school at Toronto.

The body will be taken to Moncton and interred in the family lot there.

William Gault.

ST. ANDREWS, N. B., April 13.—William Gault, of the granite firm of Miles & Gault, died at St. George's this morning after a short illness. Interment under Masonic auspices will take place on Monday afternoon.

REV. PRINCIPAL GRANT.

Unveils Portraits of Sir John Macdonald and Sir Oliver Mowat.

(Toronto World.)

Rev. Principal Grant, of Kingston, unveiled the late Sir John Macdonald and Sir Oliver Mowat before the National Club last Thursday night, the occasion being the unveiling of magnificent portraits of these great Canadians. The ceremony took place at a club dinner at which about 50 sat down.

Dr. Grant said Sir John Macdonald and Sir Oliver Mowat were both Scotch, but they were Canadian to the core, and never weakened their Canadianism with a hyphen; they were not Scotch-Canadians, but Canadians.

"Kingston gave them to Canada and you remembered that by inviting a Kingstonian to come up and unveil their portraits."

St. Andrew's church last evening to a large audience the Rev. W. W. Rainnie delivered an able and eloquent sermon. He took for his text, Hebrews 12, "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, today and forever."
