FREDERICTON.

Fredericton, Aug. 14.—The body found Fredericton, Aug. 14.—The body found in the river yesterday was identified at the inquest last evening as that of William Urquhart, an old tramp who was employed by Samuel Minue, contractor, at C. H. Thomas' store at St. Mary's. Thomas Morris identified the body by a large scar back of his left ear which deceased said he had received by the bursting of a shell on board an American manof-war. The deceased came to St. Mary's ceased said the had received by the bursting of a shell on board an American manof-war. The deceased came to St. Mary's on Monday, August 3, having walked there from Houlton. There are rumors of foul play, but no definite information. Urquhart was fifty-nine years old and a mative of Ireland. He worked from Tuesday until Saturday night and during that time told his fellow workmen considerable of his past history which was a very eventful one according to his story. His home was at Minneapolis, where he had two sons studying for the medical profession. He owned some property there. Many years ago he had served in the United States army and navy and drew a pension from the United States government amounting to about $10 per month.
