A Cheap Ice Chest.

Many families who can readily enough procure ice, in the warm season, cannot or do not care to afford the expense of the usual apparatus for keeping it. To all such we commend the following recipe for a cheap ice chest, which we take from the Boston Journal of Chemistry:

Take two dry goods boxes, one of which is enough smaller than the other to leave a space of about three inches all around when it is placed inside. Fill the space within the two with sawdust, packed closely, and cover with a heavy lid made to fit neatly inside the larger box. Insert a small pipe in the bottom of the chest to carry off the water from the melting ice. For family use, this has proved quite as serviceable and as economical as more costly "refrigerators."

HAGYARD'S
ROYAL PAIN REMEDY!

As a Family Medicine for

INTERNAL & EXTERNAL USE.

Incredible as it may appear that one compound should be adapted to the treatment of such a variety of diseases, it is nevertheless true that it has proved of incalculable benefit in affording prompt relief in thousands of cases of painful and distressing attacks of Diarrhoea, Asiatic Cholera, Cramps, Colic, Bruises, Scalds, Sore Throat, Headache, Sunstroke, Rheumatism, &c.

Its grand mission is to REBUE PAIN, and bring glad tidings of great joy to the suffering.

No medicine has ever gained such rapid popularity with so little effort to introduce it to the public; its great virtues never having been heralded to the world in flaming hand-bills and all the appliances of the advertising art—on the contrary, it has silently worked its way into the confidence of the public through its own intrinsic merits, passing from neighbor to neighbor and neighborhood to neighborhood, till it has won for itself a reputation unsurpassed in the annals of medicine as a quick curing remedy, particularly adapted for use in sudden emergencies, and the many painful ills which flesh is heir to.

F A S T I N G.

Accustom early in your youth

To lay embargo on your mouth,

And let no rarities invite

To pall and glut your appetite;

But check it always, and give o'er,

With a desire of eating more;

For where one dies by inaction,

A thousand perish by repletion.

To miss a meal is sometimes good,

It ventilates and cools the blood;

Give Nature time to clean her streets

From filth and cradles of pests.

For too much meat the bowels fur,

And fasting's Nature's scavenger.
