brunswickon

university of new brunswick

MEMO TO: Gerard, Susan and Andy RE: Taking office

It has come to our attention that the new SRC executive was seated this week. According on we at Da Rruns, would like to offer some nithy and yet incredibly astute observations of It has come to our attention that the new SRC executive was seated this week. Accordingly, we at Da Bruns, would like to offer some pithy and yet incredibly astute observations on what the role of the executive should be. FROM: The Brunswickan

1. Leadership: Hmmm, tricky. We don't want someone we have to salute to but we do need people who can make decisions and take stands on important issues. Yes, we're talking about 1. Leadership: Hmmm, tricky. We don't want someone we have to salute to but we do need people who can make decisions and take stands on important issues. Yes, we recall the past performance of the executive concerning the SUB referendum and yes. people who can make decisions and take stands on important issues. Yes, we're talking about the past performance of the executive concerning the SUB referendum and yes, we the firm stand of Finnan and friends on that issue. Okay? Take off eh. what the role of the executive should be. he firm stand of Finnan and friends on that issue. Okay? Take off eh.

Seriously, we want that level of committment. As your constituents we means a whole Remember there is no student union administrator any more. Seriously, we want that level of committment. As your constituents we deserve it.

Remember there is no student union administrator any more. And that means a whole lot nore responsibility for each of you. the past performance of the executive concerning the SUB referendum the firm stand of Finnan and friends on that issue. Okay? Take off entransport the firm stand of Finnan and friends on that issue. As your constituents.

Your respective roles in the Student Union are important but, please, day. After all, you guys are students just like us. Which leads us to . . .

more responsibility for each of you.

2. Communication: Not the "heavy head-space" stuff, but the day-to-day let's work together routine. outine.

Talk to the members of your council. Don't leave everything to the endless confrontations

Talk to the members of your council. Don't leave everything to the endless confrontations

and constitutional dribblings that eat up so much of the regular meetings. Talk to the members of your council. Don't leave everything to the endless confrontations of the regular meetings.

So many of the and constitutional dribblings that eat up so much of the regular meetings. So many Others are (that tired word) anathetic because they don't know what is going on. Others students are (that tired word) anathetic because they don't know what is going on.

Keep the student body informed. This point cannot be over emphasized. So many of the students are (that tired word) apathetic because they don't know what is going on.

Students are (that tired word) apathetic because anyway, so what does it matter? students are (that tired word) apathetic because they don't know what is going on. (simply shrug shoulders assume you are all crooks anyway, so what does who want to simply shrug shoulders assume you are all crooks anyway. So what does who want to simply shrug shoulders assume you are all crooks anyway. So what does it matter?

Be accessible as much as possible. Make your government open to any who want. imply shrug shoulders assume you are all crooks anyway, so what does it matter?

Be accessible as much as possible. Make your government open to any who want to participate. Try and avoid a clique ish assembly of friends in the right place. cipate. Try and avoid a clique-ish assembly of friends in the right place.

This leads us to the position of SRC chairman. This vital role seems consistently meetings, make rulhose least qualified to hold it. Council needs a chairman who can control meetings. be accessible as much as possible. Make your government open to any we ticipate. Try and avoid a clique-ish assembly of friends in the right place. This leads us to the position of SRC chairman. This vital role seems constituted the position of the posit

This leads us to the position of SRC chairman. This vital role seems consistently to go to those least qualified to hold it. Council needs a chairman who can control me "Roberts Rules" ings that stick and shut obnoxious councillors up. Find someone who knows "Roberts Rules" those least qualified to hold it. Council needs a chairman who can control meetings, make rulings that stick and shut obnoxious councillors up. Find someone who knows "Roberts Rules" rather than who knows you. 3. Get the job done: This is it in a nutshell, kids. It doesn't matter how many inspired ideas you have if you can't carry them out or get someone else to do it. Do your best. Delegate if 3. Get the job done: This is it in a nutshell, kids. It doesn't matter how many inspired ideas if you have if you can't carry them out or get someone else to do it. Do your best. Delegate if necessary. And if you can't get the job done, shout out loud and get help. For more helpful necessary. And if you can't get the job done, shout out loud and get help. rather than who knows you.

you have if you can't carry them out or get someone else to do it. Do your best. Delegate if necessary. And if you can't get the job done, shout out loud and get, help. For more helpful hints see "The How and Why of Student Government" by Akumu Owuor.

4. Appreciate the goals of others: Other groups on campus, including the media (natch) have their own jobs and duties which they are attempting to pursue. Try to understand what Appreciate the goals of others: Other groups on campus, including the media (natch) have their own jobs and duties which they are attempting to pursue. Try to these groups run others are doing. Tolerate differences of opinion. He are around to help out if necessary themselves, as they have been doing for years. Be around to help out if necessary. others are doing. Tolerate differences of opinion. Within reason, let these group themselves, as they have been doing for years. Be around to help out if necessary.

Be prepared to accept criticism. It is the job of the campus media to provide coverage. hemselves, as they have been doing for years. Be around to help out if necessary.

Be prepared to accept criticism. It is the job of the campus media to provide covernum. We are not always wrong the prepared to accept criticism. It is the job of the campus we are not always wrong. Be prepared to accept criticism. It is the job of the campus media to provide coverage and criticism of student politics and politicians. Learn to expect it. We are not always wrong, you know.

You are a child of the universe, no less that the trees and the stars...oops. Wrong sermon.

How brave of you all to step to the front of the line. Chin up and remember, salary is not ommensurate with experience. know. commensurate with experience.