

UNIVERSITY OF KING'S COLLEGE

NEW CHANCELLOR INSTALLED

Lionel A. Forsyth, Q.C., D.C.L., president of Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation was installed Chancellor of King's last Wednesday afternoon at All Saints Cathedral. Dr. Forsyth, a graduate of King's himself, said in his inaugural address that he had always advocated the college to resist the current tendency to increase the size of institutions of learning.

"It must, of course expand to meet essential needs but the maintenance of high standards in the service of a few will, in the long run, be more useful to both state and church, than lowered standards make available to many."

"A degree from King's must continue to be the hallmark of education, and a certificate of manhood, learning and gentleness. This is a world that calls for positive people. Positive attitudes are not taken by people who live in ivory towers or take shelter behind an intellectual curtain which shuts out the world of reality," he said.

One of the first duties as Chancellor was to confer a Doctorate of Civil Laws on His Excellency Charles Stewart Almon Ritchie, a native of Halifax and Canadian Ambassador to Germany.

DRAMATIC REHEARSALS START

Two one-act plays are now in rehearsal for King's annual workshop evening. This increasingly popular event of "Theatre in the Three-Quarter" will be played in the Haliburton Room on Monday evening, Nov. 19th.

This year the well known melodrama Dark Brown by Philip Johnson will be presented in contrast to the light comedy Country Slicker. Both plays are directed by co-eds. Molly Puxley and Linda Cruikshank are co-directing Dark Brown. Gail Nobuary and Sandra Blakeney are collaborating on the Country Slicker.

Dark Brown is a suspense drama with a well worked out plot built on circumstantial evidence and is gripping to the very end. Country Slicker is a comedy in which Pa Witherby outwits the state commissioners.

The policy of the King's Choral and Dramatic Society in this annual event is to introduce new dramatic talent in preparation for the more ambitious performances, the three-act play and the Connolly Shield competition, both of which follow in the Lenten term.

OFF THE CUFF

A highlight of last week's activities was the official opening of the Haliburton Room for daily social activities. The opening sparked by an address by the Commander-in-Chief, saw a large number of students scrutinize the new facilities. Prof. Maxwell received the first cup of coffee from the new coffee dispenser. This, and another cup for the Dean of Women was skillfully poured by Charlie Piercy. Faculty and students alike, sat down and enjoyed cards, checkers and records. One of the divinity students, playing with the Commander-in-Chief, claims he won two hundred and fifty dollars at poker. What an imagination! Frankie Marsh upheld his honour in the checker field by losing only one game during the entire evening. However, when things got hot, he decided it was time to go to a show. The cheerful atmosphere that prevails in the Haliburton Room should make this a place where students can gather for enjoyment and relaxation.

After a one year trial period, NFCUS has come into its own on the campus. Under the chairmanship of Jeff Steele, it has recently erected a new bulletin board to publicize its activities. Upon hearing of the Springhill Mining disaster, Jeff acted quickly and with the help of Hugh Byrne, set up a NFCUS Disaster Fund. It is expected that a contribution, based on one dollar per student, of one hundred dollars will be realized for this most worthy cause. This is indeed a worthy project for NFCUS.

After much heated discussion, the student body have decided on a new college jacket. It is made of washable nylon and is a solid blue colour. There will be two main crests, one a chenille crest with the letters UKC, to be worn on the front of the jacket. The other is of felt, a blue background with the words, "University of King's College" in white superimposed upon it. This jacket may be more expensive than the ordinary jacket but it will certainly stand up to heavier wear, especially during the winter and it should last longer. Nearly half the student body have already ordered these jackets.

Last week's informal dance in the Haliburton Room proved to be very successful. Saturday nights' fun was sparked by the re-organized King's orchestra. George Phils proved to be a very popular soloist. It is understood that these informal dances will be a bi-weekly feature of our college life this year.

The Student Council has approved a more active plan for the Haliburton Room. This matter came up at last week's council meeting and it was decided to obtain games and card tables so as to make this room the center for social activities.

A new point-system for college letter awards has been suggested by a council committee and will be presented to the Student Body for approval at their next meeting.

CHAPEL TAKES DEBATE WIN

Resolved that going steady is a social hindrance was the topic of discussion for Sunday night's debate. Jim How and Frankie Marsh, upholding the solution defeated two new comers, Barbara Weary and Mary Archibald, from Alexandra Hall. The judges for the evening were Mrs. Desborough, Prof. Granter, and Dave Walker. Following the debate a "Open House" was held at the Hall.

NORTH POLE, CHAPEL TAKE SOFTBALL WINS

The two interbay softball games played last Sunday saw North Pole, "Home of Champions", pitted against Middle Bay in the first game, and Radical Bay playing Chapel in the second. The first game developed into a slugfest in which North Pole out-hit Middle 21 to 11, and out-scored them 22-16. Unfortunately the play was a bit rugged at times, and many of the runs scored as the result of errors. Fred Nicholson, with two long triples, and two singles, and Mel Deacon, who came up with a home run, a triple and a double led the way for North Pole. Everyone in the Middle Bay lineup hit safely, with Peter Grayston and John Hodgson each pounding a triple, while Ed Veino contributed a double and a single.

In the second game Chapel Bay quickly piled up thirteen runs, and then hung on for a 13-8 win. George Phils had the "Fighting Parsons" handcuffed for five innings, until they finally broke through for six runs in the sixth. Bob Murray with three hits in four trips, including a double, led the way for the "Hoods". Cal McMillan showed up well for the losers with two hits in three trips, one of which was an all important double.

As a result of Sunday's games Chapel Bay and North Pole are tied for first place, with three wins and a loss; tied for last place, with one win and three losses are Middle and Radical.

KING'S WIN SOCCER TITLE

Last week saw King's drown St. F.X. 8-1 and smash Acadia 6-2 in Nova Scotia soccer championship play. By virtue of these two wins, King's regained the Nova Scotia title which they lost to St. F.X. last year.

The 6-2 win over Acadia, played at Wolfville, once more demonstrated the effectiveness of the King's short passing attack. After a scoreless first quarter, Charles Kemp opened the scoring and minutes later Captain Art Tucker scored the first of his four goals. Noel Andrews closed out the scoring for the half when he made good a penalty kick.

The second half opened with Acadia making a determined bid. However on the first King's attack Tucker tallied his second goal. Acadia countered with a pair of quick goals by Keith Gogan. However, the game and title were assured when Tucker tallied his third and fourth goals.

Congratulations are being extended to freshman coach, FO Dennis Kempson, on his first Nova Scotia intercollegiate championship. King's now play the winner of the New Brunswick Intercollegiate Soccer league for the Maritime championship on Nov. 3.
