

Letter of instructions, you will find that you are asked to report upon the suggestions contained therein in regard to the measures to be taken with a view to rendering these Indians of the lower St. Lawrence self-supporting, in anticipation of the probability of their being unable in the very near future to supply their own needs by the chase, as they have heretofore done.

This question should engage your most serious and earnest attention at once; and after carefully considering the whole matter and visiting the several localities that these Indians
