NOTICES.

In writing to advertisers, please mention the Farmer's Advocate.

The Ingersoll Locked-Wire Fence Co. have received an order to erect several miles of their celebrated fence this spring on the Pioneer Farm, inaugurated last season in Northwestern Ontario by Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture for the Province.

The monthly publication, "The Coiled Spring," published by the Page Wire Fence Co., Walkerville, Ont., contains in its Feb. (1906) issue an illustration of a huge buffalo caged in a yard 25 feet square, fenced by the "Page" Fence. The picture is a reproduction from a photograph taken at the Peterborough Exhibition last autumn.

See Mr. Beck's advertisement in this issue. He is offering lands for sale in most of the best districts in the Province of Manitoba. He has been a long time in the real estate business, and any one desiring to purchase lands will find in him a trustworthy person who can place them in good locations and who will also sell them land right.

Messrs. Isaac Usher & Son, manufacturers of Queenston Cement, advise us that they have increased the capacity of their works from 250 barrels to 350 per day output. Note their change of advertisement in this issue, in which attention is called to the new illustrated pamphlet [printed by the London Printing and Lithographing Co.] describing fully how to use their cement in building walls, floors, etc. It may be obtained free by applying to Isaac Usher & Son, Thorold, Ont.

The amount of time saved and advantages acquired by using modern farm machinery and implements over those that are slow and imperfect in their working is indeed difficult to estimate. This age of invention and rapid advancement has added as much or more improvement to the various lines of agricultural machinery as to any other sort of mechanism. While it is not wise to invest in every new-fangled tool that comes out, it is a mistake to make the old things do long after they should have been discarded. In this issue appears an illustrated advertisement of David Maxwell & Sons, where a few of these important lines of machinery are pictured. This well and favorably known firm enjoy a high reputation for their substantial workman-hip and up-to-date improvements in various lines. It will pay farmers to patronize them.

We call attention to the advertisement in this issue of E. Leonard & Sons, London, Ont. To more fully comprehend the capacity and stability of this firm's business, those who are at all interested in stationary steam engines of whatever sort should at once write the firm for their illustrated catalogue, as it explains fully and demonstrates the value of the recent improvements added to their machinery. A boiler or an engine runs into considerable money; it therefore pays well to consult such large and reliable firms as E. Leonard & Sons, whose long experience and great facilities give them a place of pre-eminence. The constantly growing demand for engines and boilers for cheese factories and butter factories has led this firm to spare no pains to keep fully abreast of the age in these lines.

Profits come in these days by doing things well. The truth of this statement is so evident that demonstration is unnecessary. Two men often have to go to the bush nearly all day cutting wood with the ordinary cross-cut saw, thus leaving the farm stock without any attention for hours at a time. No stable of cattle can give a profit when thus neglected. Where the old saw has to be used, the wise farmer will not neglect his stock, but will hire a man for hard cash to draw one end of the saw. Did it ever occur to many who are so doing that a one-man saw can be had for little money that will saw down trees and cut off blocks at a rapid rate, with light labor and no backache. The Folding Sawing Machine advertised in this paper is of that sort, and can be carried with ease, weighing, folded up, less than 45 pounds. The headquarters of the machine makers are at 62 to 66 South Clinton St., Chicago, but the machine is manufactured in Canada and therefore saves duty.

LOOKING TO MANITOBA.

There is no doubt but that many Eastern farmers are looking to Manitoba as a place for settlement in the near future. The favorable crop reports from year to year reached a climax in the great crop of 1895, and many are anxious to share in the good things so lavishly poured into the lap of Manitoba. At no time in the history of the Province have conditions been so favorable as the present for the arrival of new settlers. Land is cheap. Present settlers have been cropping more land than they can properly cultivate, so that this coming season cultivated lands can be rented in all parts of the Province at a low rental. Seed grain is cheap, so in feed grain and all necessary supplies. Willing hands to work is the great need of the Prairie Province to-day. For information, see advertisement in this issue.
