Says Illusions About the Boers Are Dispelled.

London Paper Severely Handles the Men Who Bre (From Wednesday's Duily.) a recent
The following taken from a issue of London Truth represents a side armel the war ever since the outbreal opposent the wa

The last few weeks have dispelled two illusions. First. The Uitlanders who were wage earnerg are now known aot have wished for our interference to rid them of their political griev ances. Many have come home, and have portested against the notion that they portested farrly satisfied with their lot. As for the capitalists and the stock ex change speculators, they at once betook themiselves to havens of safety as soon as war was seriously contemplated. Some are enjoying their ill gotten wealth her and seeking to increase it hy buling or bearing" the shares of their con paries on the stock exchange, iond or ing wory the hole whels the pives, arrad in costly vestments and pirts feast Tor dancing and making merry. The Uitlander residium is in the Cape Colony, in Natal, and in Portuguese South Africa, cursing the day when they were trapped into being made the jackals o Mr. Rhodes, Mr. Chamberlain and the capitalists, and more or less dependent on charity for their subsistence. A considerable number of tlem are at Dur ban, where, accordiug to the press telegrams, soldiers and police have always to be on the watch to prevent these interesting exiles from marauding. for fighting for their grievances, the dea seems to have occurred to a very lew indeed of hose who insisted tha The fighting they bave left to tommy thins The iliusion of the gallant thins. The ilusion has vanished into tyín air. Whatever any one may think of the war, all agree that a more conte specuiators and loafers on behalf ists, speculators and whe are sliedding the blood of our brave soldiérs, doas not exist on the face of the globe.
Second. We had been told that the Boers were beings almost too vile for civilization to tolerate. Their religion was the most norrible hypocrisy. They was the most norrible hypocrisy. They were corrupt in the annals of corruption They were more ignorant than the low est of savages. Thei, conduct toward Englishmen was unmitygated ruffianism They hated us, they despised us, and they rejoiced at every opportunity to give evidence of these sentiments, To conguer them would be an easy task, conquer them would be an easy the they had so degenerated in the last few year that even their old skill in shooting was a thing of the past. And, now Their plan of campaign is extolle? by our own experts. They fight so desperately that our soldiers pitted agains them are the first to defend them against the calumnies of their civilian traducers Our war correspondents, gone forth to curse, witness to their Chivalrous conduct towards evers Eng. lishman who falls into their hauds.
Their official miletins of the engage ments fin which they have taken part are temperate, remarkable for their ac curacy, and for their ahsence ot all hoasting. When our eaptured officers were brought into Pretoria, not a vuice of exultation was raised, but they were of exultation was raised, but they were received iv respectful silence The members of the volksraad, who it was said were niere politicians, greedy of gold, an l ready to let others incur the risks of war, are fighting in the forefront. Even those who reviled them and sought to give currency to the tale told about them by the cosmopolitan crew ot capitalists that had waxed rich by company, minongering, are obliged to by company, mongering, are obliged to admit that they were deceived, whitis every Englishman recognizes that thos ruffianly, corrupt, cowardiy, swaggering Boets, are courceous and brave men. Boers, are courcous diselled as illusion No. 1.
And so will jllusion No. 6 disappear. Englishmen are fair minded. They may be fooled, but it is seldom for long. What we are higuting for has been rendered more difficult than ever o understand since Mr. Chamberlain's peeches in the house of commons. All that can be distinguished is that -President Kruger agreed to our demands, and that his agreement had come too late. All that is now urged as . a ground for war is that there was some sort of secret conspiracy un the part of the miajority, of the inhabitants of Dutch: origin in South Afriea against he supremacy of the Anglo-Sxon race here. Not one iota of proof is adducen. but we are assure. liht, as, piracy must have obliged ous at so hetter to meet it in this fashion at onee. Heough, it is admitted hy Mr. Chamherlain himself that ourdoing so wili reate racial strife for years, which can and English troops heing permanentiy tationed there," The slaughter bae Iready been enorminus, in view of the comparatively small number of the cumhatants. It is terrible to think what it will be, if this contest is to be fought out to the bitter end, In a just cause, while we should regret the dzath of so many gallant Englishmen, we should all find consolation in the thought that they had fallen in the defense of their country. In an unjust, unnecessary and country. In an unjust, unnecessary and impolitic war we have not this consola tion"
