

TOOK A SEVERE COLD.

It Settled In The Kidneys.

Pain In The Back The Result.

Catching cold and having it settle in the back is often the cause of Backache—the primary cause of kidney trouble. When the back aches it is a warning that the kidneys are liable to become affected. Heed the warning: check the Backache, and dispose of any chance of further trouble.

If you don't, serious complications are very apt to arise. Mrs. E. Williams, Hamilton, Ont., caught cold, and it settled in her kidneys. She used

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, and is thankful for the immediate relief they gave her. She writes us as follows:

"It is with pleasure that I add my testimony in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills. Some time ago I took a severe cold, which settled in my kidneys. The soreness and pain in the small of my back bothered me greatly. After suffering for some months, and finding numerous remedies fail, I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and received immediate relief from my sufferings."

Doan's Kidney Pills may be procured at all dealers, or will be sent direct by mail on receipt of price—

50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25.

EARL GREY SPEAKS.

Glad to Know Our Lady of the Snows Idea Is Disappearing.

London, Nov. 8.—(C.A.P.)—Speaking at a banquet at Newcastle in honor of his appointment as Governor-General of Canada, Earl Grey paid a tribute to the national resources giving every advantage to those desiring a freer life. He was glad to know Our Lady of the Snows idea was fast disappearing. It was not wonderful that Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the nineteenth century belongs to the United States and twentieth belongs to Canada.

Asquith's View.

London, Nov. 8.—(C.A.P.)—Right Hon. Henry Asquith, speaking at Southampton, said Mr. Balfour at Edinburgh, had shown retaliation was no longer a possible program for the protectionist party when he accepted the irreducible minimum of Mr. Chamberlain's demands and assented to a fiscal conference within the Empire, thus leading the colonies to believe we were prepared to impose a preferential and, therefore, protective duty on food supplied by countries competing with the colonies. It was a betrayal of the confidence of the colonies if we did not warn them that under no terms were the people of this country prepared to assist such a policy as that to which authoritative statesmen in Australia and Canada seemed most predisposed.

Mr. Chamberlain's plan entered into no arrangements allowing British goods into their markets on level terms with our own. The conference idea was a sham and imposture.

The Question Is.

London, Nov. 8.—(C.A.P.)—The Times, commenting on Mr. Asquith's speech, says the question is not whether the colonies will admit our goods free, but upon what terms that shall neutralize the artificial disabilities imposed by foreign tariffs. It says there is good reason to be content with what the Liberals in Canada have done and are willing to do in the tariff matter.

Sympathy Significant.

London, Nov. 8.—(C.A.P.)—Speaking with reference to the messages of sympathy received from the colonies in connection with the Dogger Bank incident, Colonial Secretary Lyttelton said it showed how vitally the pulse of our great Empire beat together. This close sympathy and union was the guarantee and warranty for the righteousness of any cause we took up and the colonies cordially espoused.

Distant Reflections.

London, Nov. 8.—(C.A.P.)—The Morning Post, says that Liberals who have consistently fought shy of the Imperial issues raised by Mr. Chamberlain have given great offence in the colonies by disparagement of the colonial "offer" and cannot even discuss the Canadian election without reflections exceedingly distasteful to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his friends.

Canada to Own Wireless.

London, Nov. 8.—(C.A.P.)—The Canadian Government has agreed if Great Britain takes over the national control of the wireless telegraph they will do the same in the Dominion.

Two New C.P.R. Steamers.

London, Nov. 8.—(C.A.P.)—The Glasgow Herald reports that the C. P. R. is arranging the building of two new steamers for the Liverpool and St. Lawrence service.

Sir Edward Protests.

London, Nov. 8.—(C.A.P.)—Sir Howard Vincent has written to The Times protesting against Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman making political capital by interpreting the Laurier victory as a Chamberlain set-back.

Fire At Niagara-on-the-Lake.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Nov. 8.—About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the residence of Miss Anna Dregar on the corner of Regent and Centre streets was discovered on fire. The alarm was given, and the fire brigade was soon on the scene. In a short time they had the flames under control. The fire is said to have been caused by a defective grate. The damages will reach nearly $1,000, fully covered by insurance in the Royal.

Ottawa Man Missing.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—Edward B. Cope, a well known citizen of Ottawa, has been missing since Wednesday afternoon of last week and the police are endeavoring to locate him. He is about 58 years of age and had been district agent for the Canadian Railway Accident Insurance Company. He had no apparent reason for leaving home and a baffling mystery surrounds his strange disappearance.

Australia and Canada.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—According to a report received by the Trade and Commerce Department from J. S. Larke, Canadian commercial agent at Sydney, New South Wales, the Commonwealth's import from Canada for 1903 were $352,939, as against $246,580 for 1902. Australian exports to Canada amounted to $24,837, as compared with $33,372 for the year previous.

Exploration Party Returns.

Copenhagen, Nov. 8.—Mylius Erickson's expedition, after two years and a half of exploration of Greenland, has returned with valuable ethnographical and scientific records. The explorers lived with natives studying their language and customs.

Fire in Cardston.

Winnipeg, Nov. 8.—A despatch from Cardston says that a serious fire has broken out there, and that the Alberta Hotel and livery stable, also Horner's harness shop, have been destroyed.

Scandals Promised.

Montreal, Nov. 8.—The City Council has accepted the resignation of Chief of Police Legault and the investigation ordered promises most scandalous revelations.

AN OBJECT LESSON

IN A RESTAURANT.

A physician puts the query—Have you never noticed in any large restaurant at lunch or dinner time the large number of hearty, vigorous old men at the tables, men whose ages run from sixty to eighty years; many of them bald and all perhaps grey, but none of them feeble or senile?

Perhaps the spectacle is so common as to have escaped your observation or comment, but nevertheless it is an object lesson which means something.

If you will notice what these hearty fellows are eating, you will observe that they are not munching bran crackers nor gingerly picking their way through a menu card of new fangled health foods; on the contrary they seem to prefer a juicy roast of beef, a properly turned loin of mutton, and even the deadly broiled lobster is not altogether ignored.

The point of all this is that a vigorous old age depends upon good digestion and plenty of wholesome food, and not upon dieting and an endeavor to live upon bran crackers. There is a certain class of food cranks who seem to believe that meat and coffee and many other good things are rank poisons, but these cadaverous sickly looking individuals are a walking condemnation of their own theories.

The matter in a nutshell is that if the stomach secretes the natural digestive juices in sufficient quantity, any wholesome food will be promptly digested; if the stomach does not do so, and certain foods cause distress, one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal will remove difficulty, because they supply just what every weak stomach lacks, pepsin, hydro-chloric acid, diastase and nux.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do not act upon the bowels and in fact are not strictly a medicine, as they act almost entirely upon the food eaten, digesting it thoroughly and thus giving the stomach a much needed rest and an appetite for the next meal.

Of people who travel, nine of ten use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, knowing them to be safe to take at any time and also having found out by experience that they are a safeguard against indigestion in any form, and eating as they have to, at all hours and all kinds of food, the travelling public for years have pinned their faith to Stuart's Tablets.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents for full-sized packages and any druggist from Maine to California, if his opinion were asked, will say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the most popular and successful remedy for any stomach trouble.

Wife Murderer Pleads Guilty.

Winnipeg, Nov. 8.—Taylor, who murdered his wife in Winnipeg recently, pleaded guilty at the Winnipeg fall assizes on Saturday afternoon. He is in an advanced stage of consumption, and although he will be sentenced, it is hardly likely he will live till the day he is to be executed.

Grant Hall Handed Over.

Kingston, Nov. 8.—Last evening Grant Hall, which cost $40,000, was handed over to Queen's University authorities. The ceremony took place before a brilliant gathering in the hall.

SOME GOOD SUGGESTIONS FOR YOUNG GIRLS.

Some one has suggested 12 things that every girl can learn before she is 15. Not every girl can learn to play a string or point well enough to give pleasure to her friends, but the following "accomplishments" are within everybody's reach: Shut the door, and shut it softly. Keep your room in tasteful order. Have an hour for rising, and rise. Learn to make bread as well as cake. Never let a button stay off 24 hours. Always know where your things are. Never let a day pass without doing something to make some one comfortable. Never come to breakfast untidily dressed.

Bedfast for Three Years

With Inflammatory Rheumatism

Helpless as an Infant—Now Walks Without Crutches

Wonderful Recovery of Mr. John McCullough, of Uxbridge, Ont.

The Clafin Chemical Co., Windsor: Gentlemen,—It is with much pleasure that I send you this testimonial regarding the wonderful benefit I have derived from the use of "Bu-Ju" Kidney Pills. Have been an invalid for nearly three years with inflammatory rheumatism, and was bedfast until about six months ago, when an old friend of the family called to see me, and left me some of your pills. I began to feel the benefit of them after taking one box. I have continued using them, and am now able to get out of bed and dress myself, and can go out without crutches. Before taking the pills I was as helpless as an infant, and had to be taken care of like one.

I honestly believe that your pills have been the cause of my getting better. I have tried about everything that could be thought of as a cure for my trouble, but feel this remedy of yours has done me more good than any of them, and I feel if I were a younger man, that by taking them for another few months I would be well and strong again; but of course I am an old man now, and have no the constitution to work on, but I hope this simple story of the way your pills have helped me will be of value to others. I remain, yours truly,

JOHN MCCULLOUGH,

SNAILS A POPULAR

FOOD IN LONDON

In many London restaurants, particularly in Soho, says the London Globe, snails now figure in the daily menu. This is an imported taste from France, but in the West Country snails are highly esteemed by the lower classes. As a matter of fact, the snail is extensively eaten in Somerset and Gloucestershire, both as a dainty and a medicine. There are men who make a living by collecting snails and selling them under the name of "wall fish." Boiled in their shells they are picked out and eaten with bread and butter, being counted a great luxury and very nourishing. In pulmonary diseases they are popularly ranked as a specific.

Frogs are a dainty which prejudice denies to the Englishman, though in the United States and Canada they are esteemed as highly as in France. Spasmodically a sturgeon is offered for sale in London, and the accident of its capture affords a novel dish which should not be passed by, for it is generally sold at 8d. a pound. Cut and cooked as a cutlet it tastes rather like veal, without a suspicion of fish about it.

In Germany bear's flesh is greatly favored, and smoked bear tongues, hams and sausages are both appetizing and expensive. Ever since Paris, in the siege of 1870-71 was driven to eating up the animals at the Zoo, camel's flesh has been demanded by French gourmets. Remarkably like beef in appearance, it is as tender as veal, and there are Parisians who import it regularly from Algeria. On the same testimony, lion steaks are reported to be only moderate eating, while tiger is both tough and sinewy. Jaguar flesh, however, is delightfully white and toothsome, and alligators and crocodiles provide a meal of the most delicate flavor midway between that of veal and pork.

Beef and mutton, with pork, so entirely make up the menu that lamb and veal are actually regarded as distinct dishes. Why should not goat flesh be introduced into the bill of fare? It is more eating than Robinson Crusoe and Don Juan testify. In France it is largely eaten, Paris alone requiring 100,000 goats annually for the table. The donkey, whose flesh when killed young, resembles that of the turkey, is of much finer flavor. Though a hippopotamus banquet arranged by the late Sir Henry Thompson, was held in London some years ago, it is still almost dangerous to suggest horse flesh to an Englishman as food. In reality it is very excellent eating, and only prejudice gainsay the fact. Old and worn-out horses cannot afford either nourishing or palatable meat, or for the table, but that of a horse reared like an ox, for the table, has a finer flavor and flavor than beef though darker in color. It is served in the best French restaurants as well as being largely eaten by the people.

"It was in Paris," wrote Mr. Vandam, the author of "An Englishman in Paris," "that I learned how the cat had been misjudged. Call the dog the friend of man if you like, but don't eat him. Fry him, stew, or bake him, do what you will, his flesh is and remains oily and flabby, with a strong flavor of castor oil. But I declare that stewed puss is far finer than stewed rabbit."

Another neglected article of food, is the guinea pig. Were the edible virtues of the hedgehog known it would be of origin in epicurean favor. The correct way is to encase the hedgehog in bristles and all, with a thick coat of soft clay, and place it in the glowing embers of a fire to bake. The bristles and skin come off with the hardened clay, leaving the tenderest and most delicate meat imaginable.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

He was in doubt. On this particular evening he made up his mind that he would reach the point where doubt ends or know the reason why.

Thus it happened that he got a little closer to her than usual when he found that they were sitting side by side on the sofa.

"Do you ever think about marriage?" he asked.

"No," she replied. Of course that was a fib, and she knew that he knew it. Consequently she wished that she hadn't answered so lightly, but that is so customary in a woman that it should attract no attention.

"If I were a woman like you," he said, reproachfully, "I would think of it."

"Would you?" she inquired carelessly.

"Yes, I would," he asserted aggressively. "Perhaps," she suggested tantalizingly, "you wouldn't mind telling me just what course your thoughts would take, if you were a woman like me."

"I don't know that I can give you the exact course of reasoning," he answered, fearful that he might be getting beyond his depth, "but if I were a woman like you I feel pretty reasonably sure that I would marry a man like—er—like me."

"You do?" she said, coloring a little, but still speaking in the same tantalizing tone.

"Yes, I do," he returned doggedly. "Well, if I were a man like you," she asserted, "I wouldn't expect a woman like me to do anything of the sort until a man like you had asked her to."

It is no trick at all to hold to the course of true love after the marriage once gets his bearings so long as the signal lights continue to burn, and thus it happened that their bark sped merrily on its way.
