I am sure that "Fruit-a-lives" have helped me greatly. By following the diet rules and taking "Fruit-a-lives" according to directions, any person with dyspepsia will get benefit."

Why Children Run Away.
There are few healthy, active children who do not at some time or other display a tendency to "run away."

Many of us no doubt remember ourselves how we used to make efforts at getting right away, miles from home, "into the view" anywhere—but away from everyone, with no one to tell us to stop.

Perhaps we could give no explanation, but when found or brought home could not quite realize that the punishment which followed was altogether just, for something seemed to have called us, and we were not conscious that we were doing actual wrong. There did not seem to be any strong reason why we should not obey the call.

Instead of punishing without thinking, why not go into the cause of things?
One mother who had been considerably worried by this repeated occurrence with her little son, consulted a doctor thinking that it must be some fault of health.

The man was wise not only in his profession, but in the lives and every day affairs of people, and he instantly put his finger on the trouble.

"There is nothing wrong with the boy," he assured the mother. "I am certain that he was no mental 'hick,' but he lacks stimulation of the right kind. He doesn't get enough outdoor exercise and he subconsciously tries to supply the lack in the only way that he knows, that of running away."

"Days of an active disposition," continued the doctor, "must have some exercise outdoors, which not only exercises their muscles, but which keeps them interested and thus exercises or stimulates the centres of thought. For that reason I am heartily in favor of games where the element of competition enters in, such as baseball, rather than mere exercise such as dumbbells. For the younger children, however, a swing is the best thing you can get."

The mother, tried the doctor's advice and found it absolutely right. When the younger children began to disappear, she put up three stout rope-swings and had so more trouble with the little runaways. When the weather became cooler she gave up a room in them where they could make absolutely as much noise as they chose, for she began to understand that many of the so-called "sins" of childhood are only occasioned by a sometimes too much limited field for their energies.

MARY MOWE.
"My pa caught a wonderful fish, said little Willie. 'After it was dead it kept on growing.'
"It didn't do such a thing."
"Oh, yes, it did, for every time pa told about it, it was bigger than it was before."

Some Compensations for the Blind.

Did you ever see an ill tempered blind man?
We didn't.

There's a reason for the blind being good natured in spite of their having sustained perhaps the most terrible affliction to which mortals are liable.

They see human nature at its best. Everybody shows up to the rightness with just a little more tenderness than he exhibits ordinarily to persons with all their senses working.

And that, reacting in turn, makes the blind good natured. Think of that old blind man down in Kentucky who hasn't missed a ball game in years.

If you saw him on the street you'd be inclined to pity him. Instead, he could very appropriately pity you. For he misses seeing some rankly rotten plays; he isn't excited to jump up and rubber every time there is a fight in the benches; and in the rush to the cars when the agony is over, folks don't butt into him as if he were a practice dummy.

A marvelous thing is nature. And great on its compensations.

Instead of Handbag.

The smartest and newest handbag is not a handbag at all. It might better be called a handbox or an hand trunk. For it is a tiny square box of leather. Indeed, it is like a miniature jewel box.

On the top of the box, which opens with two flap like covers that meet under the handle, is the owner's monogram in gold or silver.

The box is very tiny, but its square shape makes it possible to stow in its depths a surprising number of articles. To begin with, the box is fitted up with a coin case for 25 cent pieces and a pocket for bills, a receptacle for a file and manicure scissors and several other daily fittings that make its exploration interesting. Besides these stationary fittings there is room for various other belongings.

'Movies' Curing Drunkenness.

In Manchester, Eng., a city magistrate, is reported as saying that the 'movies' are nightly keeping thousands of men out of drinking places, with the result that the drinking habits of the city are showing a marked improvement. The 'movies' are shown open until the time set for the closing of bars, so that there is little if any opportunity for men to get drunk after leaving the former, and small as the admission fee to the show is, few seem willing to forfeit even a fraction of it by leaving before the last film is reeled off. Therefore the great majority of those who go to the 'movies' are thus practically kept from going to drinking places.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

The increasing use of intoxicants in the American army has led the Minister of War to order a comprehensive searching investigation of the effects of alcohol on the fighting strength of the dual monarchy. The commanding officers are ordered to report what influence the regular and abundant drinking of stimulants by the people generally exerts on the physical condition and military capacity of young recruits, and also the number of cases of alcohol poisoning and of prosecutions for drunkenness in the last year.

"I'm afraid, George," said the fiancee, "that you are going from bad to worse."
"Quite a coincidence," muttered George, "that what Clara said when I threw her over for you."

WOMEN FROM 45 to 55 TESTIFY

To the Merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during Change of Life.

Westbrook, Me.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and had pains in my back and side and was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. I will recommend your medicine to my friends and give you permission to publish my testimonial."
—Mrs. LAWRENCE MANTON, 12 King St., Westbrook, Maine.

Manston, Wis.—"At the Change of Life I suffered with pains in my back and legs until I could not stand. I also had night-sweats so that the sheets would be wet. I tried other medicine but got no relief. After taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use for six months. The pains left me, the night-sweats and hot flashes grew less, and in one year I was a different woman. I know I have to thank you for my continued good health ever since."
—Mrs. M. J. BROWNELL, Manston, Wis.

The excess of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled in such cases.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (consultants) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Oriental Favors.

A few of the really useful favors which may be provided for a small party are well worth considering.

For the table there are the daintiest possible coffee cases of past-board covered with pale tanned Japan or crepe and decorated with a hand-painted flower design that costs very little, whether made at home or made to order.

Then there are the work bags in Bulgarian colors that can be made of the blue and red wide ribbons which have recently gone out of fashion for sashes and girdles, but which are the prettiest materials imaginable for 'fancy' things.

Any girl will gladly welcome a favor in the shape of a narrow stemmed, tall Chinese vase in blue and white or blue, red, green and black, for it makes an ideal receptacle for hatpins when not needed for the single fresh flower which should be on every daintily equipped dressing table.

It is also a good idea to give single teacups and saucers in oriental ware, because nearly every girl is now collecting a harem set.

At the Yarmouth Y. M. C. A. Boys' Camp held at Tucker Falls in August, I found MINNIE ALBERT'S LINIMENT most beneficial. It gave an immediate relief for colic and toothache.

ALFRED STOKES, General Secretary.

A Useful Dunce.

During the war between the States, General Sedgwick had on his staff a very dull lieutenant who seemed never to be able to do anything without making mistakes. One day a friend asked the General:

"Why do you keep Jones on your staff? He seems a perfect dunce."
"Do you know," replied General Sedgwick, "Jones is one of the most useful members of my staff. Before I issue an order I always have Jones read it. If he can tell what it means I am sure there can be no chance that anyone will misunderstand it."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

"Sandy," said Mrs. Simpson to her old olive-brained other day when he returned from school, "I forbid you to play or run about with Bobby Wilson any more. Mind that, and if I ever hear of you playing with him again I'll give you a good talking."
"Why have I no to play with Bobby," queried the youngster with some surprise.

"Because he's a bad little," replied his mother.
"Well, ma," returned Sandy, after a moment's thought, "I don't think I'm that a-w-u'gud myself that ye need to be so ear't."

Foreman—Look here, Do you understand how you made fifteen hours on Thursday?
Donovan—Sure, OI started two hours before I began, an' OI worked all dinner-time when OI was resting, an' after OI left work I for two hours more, an' that makes me toime out."
