Hustling Bill Kolb Will Fight in Chatham This Week

Philadelphia Who Met Dan McDonald in Wrestling Match at Marysville Will Have Postponed Go With Joe Mapone Soon — News of the Fighting Men

The Chatham Gazette says: The twice postponed bout between Bill Kolb and Joe Mapone, advertised to go on in the opera house Saturday night, was so slimly attended that the promoter, Donny Smith, called it off, and announced that the bout would take place next Thursday, the night of the wrestling match between Dan McDonald and Harry Lewis. Undoubtedly the repeated postponements made the crowd doubtful as to whether the bout would go on and some even would not go into the hall until the fight was commenced. Those that paid had their money refunded.

ABOUT THE BOXERS.

Johnny Kilbane and Benny Kaufman will meet in Akron tomorrow night. Young Donahue of Roxbury and Harry Trendall of St. Louis will meet in Pittsburg next week. Billy Melody and Maurice Lemoine probably will meet again at Webster, Dec. 7. If Matty Baldwin's arm is strong enough he will meet "K. O." Brown at the Armory A. A., Boston, Dec. 13. Young Jack Johnson, the colored welterweight, is going to England where he says he can find easier game than he can in this country. The bout between Freddie Welsh and his fellow townsman, Jim Driscoll, for the lightweight championship of England and the Lord Lonsdale belt will be fought at the National Sporting Club in London, Eng., Dec. 12.

Ray Branson, the Indianapolis lightweight who was one of the bunch of American boxers that went to Australia, won his first battle in that country the other night, defeating Sid Sullivan in a 20 round bout at Sydney.

Sydney Syndicate Have Returned From Purchasing Trip to Indiana

OLD GLORY SALE ATTRACTS THEM, TOO

J. D. Keith, of Stellarton, One of the Buyers on the Opening Day of the Sale

Messrs. Pat Doherty and Dan McKay of Sydney are at the head of a syndicate which has been importing some speed from Indiana and they will have Fred Fraser, who did the teaming for Fred Dunsen for a while a few years ago, to do their training and driving. It is said that their purchases include a free-hall candidate, a pacer with a mark of 2:09 1/2. They left Lafayette, Indiana, for home some years ago.

THE OLD GLORY SALE.

J. D. Keith, of Stellarton, N. S., one of the Buyers on the Opening Day.

At the opening day of the Old Glory horse sale in New York, a consignment from William Bradley's Auctioneer farm brought $18,000. Sixty-eight head were sold at an average of $256.50. Fifteen horses were withdrawn.

It was the first sale of the farm's product. The horses were the get of Bingen 2:06 1/2 and Guy Axworthy 2:08 1/2. Belle Bingen, a yearling hay filly, brought the top price of the consignment. She was purchased by J. S. Murray of Goshen, N. Y., for $1,400. Belle Bingen is a trotter by Bingen-Otway Belle. Foaled May 10 last, she trotted around the ring with the composure of a veteran. Despite the whacking of whips and shouts, she never broke her perfect trot. Emma Oflut, 2:11 1/2, winner of the $10,000 Merchants and Manufacturers' Stakes at Detroit in 1896, was among the mares sold. She is nineteen years old, and was struck off for $120 to Gustave Corneille, of Waterbury, Conn. Rival, 2:17 1/2, and Honor Bright, 2:23 1/2, a pair of trotting mares that he had no equals as a team on the New York Speedway ten years ago, brought $250.

THOS. J. LYNCH TO REMAIN PRESIDENT OF THE NATIONAL

Re-Election of National League's Chief Executive Seems to be Assured Now

MAJORITY VOTE IS NOT REQUIRED NOW

Two More Players of New York Giants Have Signed up For 1911

Cincinnati, Nov. 22.—That Pres. Thomas J. Lynch of the National League is to be re-elected is the word that goes out of Cincinnati. Pres. Hermann said: "I want it understood that I am for Lynch and that I shall be for him until the last ditch is abandoned." It is learned in Cincinnati that President Dreyfuss will be for Lynch also, as he has always stood with Hermann in the fighting in the league organization. Dreyfuss' fellow townsman, John P. Harris, owner of the Boston club, will vote the same way. Pres. John T. Bush of the New York Giants, the man who named Lynch almost a year ago, will also vote for him. With these four men for him Lynch cannot be ousted. At the last general meeting of the directors of the league a motion was placed upon the books as a future law that if at any time four directors wish to keep a president at the head of the league they could do so.

NO INTERESTS IN DOVES. Gov. Elect Tener of Pennsylvania Denies Report as to Having Holdings in the Boston Club.

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—Rumor which made Gov. elect John T. Tener, the former baseball player, a baseball magnate has died aborning. Stories from Boston on Saturday had it that the successor to Gov. Stuart was interested in the Boston Doves and that he really owned the controlling interest, but today the governor-elect denied the report.

GIANTS SIGN UP. New York, Nov. 22.—The New York National League club today received the signed contracts of shortstop Al Bridwell, who has been with the club three years, and Harry Gowdy, a first baseman who joined the team last fall.

BASEBALL NOTES. The annual meeting of the American league will be held at Chicago this year about the time that the National League is having its annual session in New York.

Frank Connaughton's name has been ordered taken off the reserve list of the Waterbury club, and now Frank is a free agent.

"Tip" O'Neill, president of the Western League, will leave Chicago in a few days for the Pacific Coast, where he will look after all details for the coming of the Boston Red Sox next spring. O'Neill's home is in Oakland, Calif.

Dickie C., 2:08 1/2, winner of six races this year and second to Independence Boy, 2:04 1/2, came to his present owner in a trade.

Al Russell, with $15,732, was the leading money winner among the western states drivers that raced outside the "big ring" this year.

Roy Miller will ship Justice Brooke, 2:09 1/2, and the rest of the Drumora farm colts to Macon early in the new year.

INTERCOLLEGIATE FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

Acadia and Mount A. football teams meet this afternoon at Truro in the play-off game on neutral grounds to decide the intercollegiate championship and the right to possession of the famous King-Richardson trophy. The game was advertised to commence at 2:30 o'clock and The Gleaner has arranged for a bulletin service this afternoon as well as for a complete account of the game, along with the views of experts for Thursday's issue.

At Bangor on Saturday, Jack Johnson declared that Al Kaufman was the best "hope" the white race has.

The champion Philadelphia athletic success is explained to a great degree by the official batting averages of the American league. Five of thirteen in the 300 list were members of Connie Mack's great team.

Fred Mitchell, who as Yapp was the receiver of the "Nid and Nod" battery of the old St. John Alerts, batted for 230 with the New York team in American League the past season. He played in 68 games, was at bat 196 times, scored 16 runs, was credited with 45 hits, 7 being doubles and 2 triplets, while he stole 9 bases.

John C. Power, of St. John, Dr. Gadbois of Montreal, and Schofield of Sydney, are all spoken of for the job of referee of the wrestling match at Moncton when Sam Anderson, the middleweight champion, and Dan McDonald, of Cape Breton, meet on Friday evening for Prohooter Sayer's purse of $400 to the winner and $100 to the loser.

That must have been a hot set-to at Woodville, Me., last week, according to the following story from Calais: "The boxing bout at Woodland on Friday evening, Jack-Leon, known as the Russian Lion, and Jack Mc-Cormack, who held the heavyweight championship of Maine, proved to be an interesting one. Leon is said to have had the best of the bout which, however, went the limit of the six
