DUPED BY TORONTO AGENTS.

Bulgarians Brought Here Under False Pretences, and Object to Conditions of Work

Deceived and oppressed by a Toronto employment agency who hired them to go to Montreal, passage free, but instead brought them to Renous Bridge and charged R. G. Hood $25.50 for each of them to be repaid by the laborers out of their wages, fifteen Bulgarians appeared in Newcastle police court on Thursday to support one of their number in a suit against Mr. Hood.
Mr. J. H. Stanford of Ottawa sent by the Canadian government to look after the case, in answer to Mr. Constantine Vassiloff's appeal to the Russian consul for aid for the foreigners, was present in court, and succeeded in arranging a settlement without going to law. He saw that the men were paid in full what their contracts called for, advancing their November wages out of his own pocket. Not calculating on what was coming, he had to draw from the bank, and Col. Maltby very generously endorsed his cheque. The men were all paid off Thursday night.
The men, not knowing that they owed for their transportation, thought Hood was cheating them, when they found little or nothing due them after six week's work. The food alone displeased them, and they boarded themselves, their debt to Hood for supplies piling up much faster than they realized. Then they struck because two of their number were separated from the others at a particular job of work. After four days their supplies ran out, and hunger forced them back to work.
Mr. Vassiloff, a Russian, took up their cause and it was his appeal to Russia's consul at Montreal that led to Mr. Stanford being sent down.
The men refused to go back to Renous, and against Mr. Stanford warning to have nothing to do with private employment bureaus, engaged last Saturday, though the Moncton agency, to work on the eastern end of the G. T. P. Mr. Vassiloff accompanied them to Moncton.
From the 30th ult., the party boarded with Mr. W. J. Black here.

BLACKVILLE HAPPENINGS.

Americans Shoot Calf Moose—Smallpox Isolated And Under Control

BLOCKVILLE, Wednesday—Deputy Sheriff Irvine, of Newcastle, was in town yesterday on official business.
James Bean is spending to-day in Newcastle.
Rev. Robert Watson, collector for the Book and Tract Society, is in town to-day on his annual collecting trip.
Chief Game Warden John Robinson, Jr., arrived here this week to investigate a complaint that had been made to his of three United States sportsmen hunting big game in the Cain's River district without being accompanied by a registered guide. On arriving at the camp of the sportsmen, the warden found the report to be true, and was just in time to catch the party bringing in a calf moose which had been shot by one of their number. One of the sportsmen left for home the next morning, but the other two were taken to Chatham yesterday to answer to charges of hunting without a registered guide, and the killing of a calf moose.
Messrs. Robert and Walter Grady, who have been located in Maine State for some time past, returned home last night to spend the winter. Mr. Robert Grady is accompanied by his wife, a "Yankee" lady.
There are no fresh developments in the smallpox scare. The outbreak consists of only one case so far, and the man has been isolated. The camp, and several houses in the village, which had been visited by men from the camp before the disease broke out there, have been quarantined, and no anxiety is felt of any further spread of the disease.

GOVERNMENT STILL AFTER MINERS.

Jury in Steve Adams' Case Fail to Agree—Eight for Acquittal.

Rathdrum, Idaho, Nov. 26.—The long trial of Steve Adams, charged with the murder of Fred Tyler and incidentally involved as a witness in the Moyer-Haywood-Pettibone affair, has come to naught, the jury having disagreed and being discharged after twenty-one hours of deliberation. The fact that the body stood eight for acquittal and for conviction was considered a victory for the defense. Clarence Darrow was Adams' leading attorney. The trial which ended on the 26th lasted nearly a month.
Adams, who was alleged to be a tool of the officers of the Western Federation of Miners, was charged with the assassination of Fred Tyler in August, 1904.
Soon after arrest Detective McPartland, the man who induced Harry Orchard to make his alleged exposure of the alleged crimes of the Western Federation's "inner ring," obtained a confession from Adams in which he told of the slaying of Tyler and of other crimes which he said he had committed at the instigation of Jack Simpkins.
He said he had done away with Fred Tyler, who was a settler in the Marble Creek district of Shoshone county, because Tyler had possession of a claim which was wanted by Jack Simpkins and because he had interfered in other ways with the desires of Simpkins.
The admission of this confession as evidence in the trial was fought by Attorney Darrow on the ground that it was forced from him under duress. The testimony was admitted, but failed to impress the jury.
Attorney Darrow after the verdict tried to obtain concessions of bail for Adams and immunity from arrest by Colorado authorities until the Tyler case is disposed of.
No promise was given him. Sheriff Baily of Shoshone county is here with a warrant for the arrest of Adams on the charge of murdering Ed Boule near the same place and about the time the Tyler murder occurred.
Mr. Hawley, chief counsel for the state, declared the disagreement of the jury will have no effect on the prosecution of the Tyler case again, nor will it lessen the efforts of the state to prosecute in other cases wherein Western Federations of Miners officials and prominent are defendants.
Boise, Idaho, Nov. 26.—The trial of George A. Pettibone, prominent in the affairs of the Western Federation of Miners, arrested with Moyer and Haywood, charged with complicity in the assassination of Governor Steunenberg, began here yesterday.
Harry Orchard in his "confession" said Pettibone made the bomb which he (Orchard) placed at Steunenberg's gate.
The prosecution claims Pettibone was one of the inner council of the miners, which is said to have planned a campaign of murder and riot in the mine troubles. According to Orchard's confession, Pettibone furnished the snipers of war and directed the work.
The mistrial of Steve Adams, following the acquittal of Wm. D. Haywood, is a severe blow to the prosecution, which has not yet been able to fasten the responsibility for Steunenberg's death upon anyone but Harry Orchard. Steunenberg was killed by Orchard in December, 1905.

5 KILLED AND 6 INJURED

Freight Train Smashes Into a Trolley Car.

WATERBURY, Friday—A shocking accident, in which five factory employees were killed occurred about 6.30 o'clock this morning at the west main street crossing over the Highland division tracks of the N.Y.N.H. and H. railway when an extra Hartford bound freight crashed into a trolley car containing twenty-five persons bound for the pin factories, Oakville. The car was struck with great force at right angles directly in the middle and the dead persons were all badly mangled. Six others were badly injured and had to be carried to their homes. It is not yet known whether any of the persons injured will die.
In connection with the bill to increase the members of the Railway Commission, the name of William Whyte, general manager of the western division of the C. P. R. has been mentioned as one of the new commissioners. There is no doubt Mr. Whyte will get an offer of the position, but the salary may not be a sufficient inducement for him to accept. Mr. Pottinger, general manager of the I. C. R., has been spoken of as another possible commissioner.
Henri Bourassa, ex-M.P. for Labelle, is in town. He received many condolences from M.P.s upon his disappearance from the House of Commons, but took them all in good part. He will probably occupy a seat in the press gallery for at least a part of the session.
A. A. Wright, M.P. for South Renfrew, will try to have a fixed hour set for the adjournment of the House of Commons each night. He thinks that 10.30 is late enough.
NEW YORK, Thursday—Murder, accident or suicide? That is what the police are working to determine in connection with the death in this city of William G. Chandler, a young artist, and son of a wealthy oilcloth manufacturer of Winthrop, Me. The body of young Chandler was found late this afternoon lying in the apartment of Mrs. William Dissinger at 210 West Forty-second street. In the right temple was a bullet hole. On the floor near the young man's left hand lay a revolver. One of its chambers was empty.
What puzzles the police is this: How did the revolver happen to be on the left side of the body, when the bullet wound that apparently killed him is in the opposite side of his head?

NEWCASTLE MEN WANT THEIR RIGHTS

Railway Men Refuse to Leave Home Saturday Claiming Trip is Unnecessary.

The shunter train, on which are four Newcastle men, all married, and one of Campbellton, who happens to be conductor, has been leaving Campbellton for Newcastle every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, and Newcastle for Campbellton on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The train has always until now stopped here over Sunday. Last Saturday, however, orders were given to take the train back to Campbellton for Sunday. Three of the Newcastle men refused to go, and remained here over Sunday. The conductor has generally been able to spend Sunday at his home in Campbellton, without taking the train with him, as the shunter has arrived at Newcastle in time for him to go north on the accommodation, and he has been able to return on the express on Monday morning in time to take out his train. It would seem that the fairest way would be for the shunter to stay here over Sunday, as otherwise four men are unnecessarily kept from their families that day.
Mr. Hugh Lamont will build a steamer this winter for Mr. T. W. Crocker, the latter's present vessel, the "Bossie" being too small to handle all the owner's fish business. The new boat will be built where the Togo was built last winter. It will be 50 feet long, 11 feet beam and when loaded draw four feet of water.
WILL BE MARRIED TO-NIGHT.
Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Harriett Fillebrown Stevens, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McCobb Stevens, Roxbury, Mass., to Alexander Eugene Corbett, third son of Wm. Corbett, of the I. C. R. The wedding takes place this evening at eight o'clock at 7 Crestwood Park, Roxbury, Mass.
NEW SHOE STORE.
Mr. M. H. McMillan has opened a Boot and Shoe Store in the Power Store opposite the square, where a full line of the best footwear may be found. Call and see his goods. They will satisfy you.
OTTAWA, Thursday—To-day's functions of the opening of Parliament were marked as far as outdoor display was concerned by a continuous snowstorm. Within the chamber the scene was brilliant. There was a large attendance of members of both houses, and with the ladies' brilliant costumes and the pomp and circumstance they made a fine picture. The guns on Nepean Point started to fire a salute of 19 guns on the near approach of the governor-general's equipage escorted by Dragoon's in their winter costumes, and at the parliament house the governor-general's foot guards formed an escort. There was not a vacant place in the Senate, and the rule of full dress was vigorously enforced. Thus the entry of His Excellency to take his seat upon the throne, resplendent in gold uniform, formed a unique picture, to which the military uniforms of his staff added a fine touch of color. Sir Wilfrid Laurier wore his uniform of an imperial privy councillor. The procession from the Commons finished off the scene as the members filed in at the summons of Black Rod, headed by the Speaker, who was preceded by the Sergeant-at-arms carrying the mace. Their attendance was the signal for His Excellency the Governor General to read the address from the throne in both languages.
In connection with the bill to increase the members of the Railway Commission, the name of William Whyte, general manager of the western division of the C. P. R. has been mentioned as one of the new commissioners. There is no doubt Mr. Whyte will get an offer of the position, but the salary may not be a sufficient inducement for him to accept. Mr. Pottinger, general manager of the I. C. R., has been spoken of as another possible commissioner.
Henri Bourassa, ex-M.P. for Labelle, is in town. He received many condolences from M.P.s upon his disappearance from the House of Commons, but took them all in good part. He will probably occupy a seat in the press gallery for at least a part of the session.
A. A. Wright, M.P. for South Renfrew, will try to have a fixed hour set for the adjournment of the House of Commons each night. He thinks that 10.30 is late enough.

DETERMINED BY TOSSING COPPERS

South Dakota Appointments Decided by Lot at Instance of Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Thursday — President Roosevelt summoned the Goddess of Chance to the White House to-day, when there was no other means to decide a grave administration question.
So satisfied was the President with the speedy and evidently satisfactory manner in which the fickle goddess settled the first problem put to her that he invited her to spend a portion of the day at the executive mansion. As she did, with remarkable results, although it was her first visit, in an official capacity, at least.
Federal patronage of the state of South Dakota was in the balance.
Senators Kittredge and Gamble, of South Dakota, were the players.
It was a good game, as only one or the other of the players could win.
There was a large number of vacant offices in the state, due to the fact that the two senators never have been able to agree upon applicants thus permitting the old office holders to retain their positions long beyond the time of their appointments.
The two senators met to-day in the President's office at the White House, to agree, if possible, upon a distribution.
When they confronted the President they found themselves as far as ever from an understanding.
President Proposes Lots.
Seeing the difficulty, the President proposed that lots be drawn for the position of bank examiner, the one in immediate dispute. The senators were willing.
Drawing a coin from his pocket, the President poised it between his thumb and forefinger, while the senators cleared a space for the piece to drop in. It was heads for Kittredge and tails for Gamble, the winner to name the bank examiner.
Into the air the coin sped, then hit the floor, bounced and settled down. Like schoolboys with their last marbles at stake, the senators and the referee stooped over the coin.
It was heads, with Kittredge the winner.
Both appearing satisfied with this method of disposing of the problem, the President suggested that all vacancies be filled after the same manner. Accordingly the names of the various offices were written upon a slip of paper.
The two senators then proceeded to the drawings, as a result of which offices were distributed as follows:
SENATOR GAMBLE — Deadwood mint assayer, Mitchell land register, Rapid City register, Pierre register, Huron register, Mitchell receiver, Chamberlain receiver, Crow Indian agents, Treasury department auditor.
SENATOR KITTREDGE — Bank examiner, U. S. district attorney for S. D., Internal revenue collector, Huron land receiver, Rapid City receiver, Pierre receiver, Aberdeen register, Chamberlain register, Brule Indian agents.
The President will be guided by it in designating officials to fill the vacancies. Senator Kittredge recommending for the offices which he drew and Senator Gamble for the others.
The agreement was hastily made and is binding only in the matter of nominations, each senator reserving the right to oppose the confirmation of a person nominated at the instance of the other.
