

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are especially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its base is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. POLITICS IN BRITAIN

Cable despatches indicate that the state of politics in England is very uncertain and that Hon. Lloyd George the hero of the nation during the war and toward its close, is walking today on a tight rope. There are many who expect to see him tumble off. Other observers have confidence that his political genius and resource will permit him to remain master of a difficult situation.

Of one thing there seems to be no room for doubt, namely that public opinion in Great Britain is going through many and rapid changes. There is a constant and visible warfare being waged between the ultra radical and progressive on the one hand and the moderate and conservative on the other. The man who is premier in such a time must be largely like a cork bobbing upon restless waves.

ADVERTISE IN THE JOURNAL

If you were asked to name the most pronounced feature of our Dental Office, we would, without hesitation say, "Its sterling reputation for reliability."

To explain this more fully, we would point to the skilled specialists who are employed by us, the painless, gentle and courteous manner in which they treat patients and the extremely reasonable schedule of charges for Dental treatment of the highest standard of character. And, as the most convincing proof of this reliability, we would point with great pride to the twenty-five years of public service and the endorsements of thousands who have received Dental attention at our hands.

To those who seek a reliable Dentist, this has a deep meaning.

ABOUT THE SEED DRILL

What is Considered to be the Most Efficient Type.

The Feeding Device is the Heart of the Drill—Seed Should Be Dropped Directly Under the Axle of the Disc—Give the Bearings Careful Inspection.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture)

As the drill sows, so shall the farmer reap, is so fallacy. It is as true in its content as the maxim "As a man sows, so shall he reap." Given the right kind of a grain drill, the seed is all planted at a uniform depth, evenly covered; the earth compacted enough to retain the moisture around it. These conditions mean that the young plants will all come up at the same time, that the roots will be well protected, and that the grain will ripen uniformly. As the grain is planted, so will it grow and ripen. If some of the seed is planted too shallow, and some too deep, the seed that comes up first, ripens first. Thus it is that some of the grain is ready to harvest while other patches are still in the milk stage.

The feeding device is the heart of the grain drill. Upon its reliability depends the accuracy of sowing the seed. The drill sealer is computed for the average sized seeds, and therefore cannot always be depended upon when the size of the seeds varies from the normal. If the grain is oversized or undersized the required amount per acre may be sown by setting the feed lever at a point slightly greater or slightly less than shown on the indicator. There are, in common use, two different forms of feeding devices. The fluted-cylinder-force feed, and the double-run-force feed. The amount of seed sown by the fluted-cylinder-force feed may be regulated by a lever which changes the size of the outlet, but it does not always handle all classes of seeds without breaking them, as can be done with the double-run-force feed, which necessarily requires for driving it a disc wheel, or a cog wheel with from nine to fifteen sets of teeth that make as many speeds or feeds.

In the most efficient type of grain drills the seed should be deposited as nearly directly under the axle of the disc as possible, and the only place where the seed can be dropped directly on to the bottom of the trench without hindrance. By this method the disc is not run deeper than the seed is deposited, and the draft is reduced to a minimum. If the seed is deposited in the rear of the centre of the axle, the rotation of the disc tends to carry earth and seed up with it, causing the seed to be unevenly deposited. In operation, a properly angled disc opens a trench about two inches wide. The falling seed strikes the convex side of the disc, and the convex side of the disc, and is thus scattered evenly over the entire width of the trench.

Grain seed drills are divided into four kinds, according to the type of furrow-opener—the open delivery single disc and the closed delivery single disc, the double disc, the shoe, and the hoe drills. The open delivery single disc furrow opener deposits the seed between the shield and the convex side of the disc. The space is open from the end of the boot between the disc and shield to the bottom or lower end of the shield. The shield prevents the falling seed from becoming mixed with the loose earth and surface trash and insures its free passage to the bottom of the trench made by the disc. It will also do excellent work in highly cultivated soil that is free from trash.

The closed delivery single disc furrow opener has a closed boot, similar to a hoe furrow opener, which comes down at the rear edge of the disc and deposits the seed about two inches back of the disc. It does not plant the seed at as even a depth as either the open delivery single disc or the double disc, but deposits it at least eight inches in rear of the disc hub, and wherever it meets with an obstruction, rock or hard frozen soil the disc rises up and carries the boot with it, broadcasting the seed on the surface.

There are many styles of double discs, but the one that plants the seed under or slightly back of the disc axle, or hub, is the one to use, for that point is the deepest part of the furrow. The hoe furrow opener that shoots the grain forward of this centre is to be avoided, for the reason that the seed reaches the ground before the furrow is made, and it is, therefore, mixed with the soil as the seed trench is being made, causing what is termed "wavy" sowing. The double disc type of opener tends to spread out the seed more than other kinds, so that each seed has a somewhat greater area from which to draw moisture.

The hoe furrow opener or shovel opener does not penetrate the ground readily and clogs easier than any of the other types. The shoe opener does no better work, and rather than clog will run over trash and thus plant the seed at varying depths. In selecting a drill the bearings should be given careful inspection. They should be dust proof. The hard roller must be considered superior to all others for this kind of work, as the oil can be forced into the bearing from the centre, and as it works out it carries all the dirt with it. It should have a well-braced seed box with steel hopper bottom to allow the seed to pass freely into the cups; strong frame and substantial wheels are important features. The distance between the furrow opener varies to some extent but six inches is the usual spacing. The seed tubes may be of rubber or of steel ribbon. The rubber tubes give good satisfaction, but are not durable if exposed to the weather. The steel ribbon tubes serve the purpose well, and if painted will last as long as the drill.—Jno. Evans, O. A. The cold and blustering weather kept the farmers away from the market today and there was a small attendance.

PERSONS SHOT DEAD AS RESULT OF RIOTS

DUBLIN, March 23—Three hundred soldiers, on the way to their barracks after a visit to a Dublin theatre clashed with a crowd of civilians about midnight. Many shots were fired. One man and one woman were killed and many wounded. The entire city was thrown into consternation bordering on panic.

The riot is said to have been precipitated by the disorderly conduct of the soldiers, who paraded the streets about nine o'clock, singing, jostling, jassering, by hammering doors and smashing windows.

After parading through Harcourt Street, the soldiers returned toward their barracks, followed by a large crowd of civilians.

At the Portobello Bridge, near the barracks, a clash seemed inevitable and a volley was fired over the heads of the crowd, but by whose orders is unknown.

The shooting which resulted in the killing of two and the wounding of other persons, took place in Richmond Street. The circumstances surrounding it are not yet known.

The soldiers who started the disorders eventually returned to their barracks.

Other soldiers not concerned in the rioting were roughly handled by the populace while returning to the barracks.

It is announced that the Provincial Government would make no further direct grants to municipalities for housing purposes, although it will guarantee the bonds of the municipalities themselves.

GERMANS PREPARING WORLD PROPAGANDA

PARIS, March 24—Germans are preparing a formidable world propaganda in favor of a revision of the Versailles treaty and the holding of a new international conference, at which vanquished nations might be represented, for the object of changing or eliminating many clauses of the present treaty between the allied nations and Germany, according to a Geneva despatch. A book entitled, "The Greatest Crime of Humanity," has been prepared, and 10,000,000 copies printed for free distribution, especially in England, France and the U. WE ARE Ford Dealers in this district and have formed an estimate of the number of cars we will require to meet the needs of this territory. We cannot get enough cars to fill that estimate because there are not enough cars being made to fill all dealers' estimates throughout Canada.

The number of cars we can get depends upon the number of orders we send in and the early date at which we send them in, as the Ford Shipping Department follows the principle, "First Come, First Served."

Cars ordered now will not be delivered until March, and deliveries will be uncertain throughout the year. If you do not want to wait for summer or autumn delivery, come in and reserve your car by signing an order today.
