Fashions
and Fads.

Magpie vicis are new.

Contrasts in coats are very popular.

The military bathing suit is in vogue.

Tailored dimity dresses for morning are in favor.

Hand embroidery is seen on many black taffet bathing suits.

The large picture hat of white satin has returned to favor.

Very smart are tailored suits of black or burgundy-red serge.

Afternoon frocks of soft silks in a pale color have girlish of a darker hue.

Popular coats for children are made of raiie, sponge, agarie or plique.

A stunning white parasol has a band of cerise marabou, which forms a border.

A touch of brilliant color is necessary to the success of many costumes at present.

Many blouses of bright-colored crepe de chine have vest effects of white tulle.

White crepe is a modish material, and is extensively used for millinery and dresses.

The new models evolved by the leading couturiers savor very much of the far east.

Many gowns Louis XV in line are developed in plain or flowered silk and wide lace.

The new coat suits show the two-tiered skirts, cutaway coat and single-button fastening.

The bayadere sash still holds its popularity. Most of the fall gowns show this feature.

The medium-sized hat has come into popularity, taking the place of the smaller shapes.

A gown of black taffeta is draped with a sash of striped taffet in tones of blue and yellow.

The prevailing style for fall will be the niche hat, with its brim upturned at the back.

On dresses of voile, silk or batiste butterfly bows in satin are used, suggesting a broad sash.

GENEVA, To-Day.

Before Britain and Germany decided not to send exhibits to the Panama Exposition, Switzerland had come to the same determination. The bigger Swiss watchmaking and embroidering firms, who have a large trade with the States, notified the Government that their patents were not sufficiently protected by the States. We can have any of our designs copied and openly sold in the States, said one of them, and have no redress. I have lost two such cases already and do not want any more.

LONDON, August 6.

The International Medical Congress opened by Prince Arthur of Connaught, as representative of King George in the great Albert Hall, this morning in the presence of an audience of ten thousand, composed of doctors and their families from every part of the world. Prince Arthur of Connaught, together with Sir Edward Grey, was seated on the platform with the congress. Sir Thomas Barlow, President of the Royal College of Physicians, physician extraordinary to King George and Honorary L.D. of Harvard, Montreal and Toronto, welcomed the delegates. He spoke of the marvellous advancement made by medical science. The credentials of every member of the audience was rigorously scrutinized before an entry could be obtained to Albert-Hall. This measure of precaution was taken in order to keep out suffragettes, several of whom attempted to enter. A large force of police guarded the building, while women carrying bill boards bearing words, "What do doctors think of women orature?" paraded outside the hall.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 6.

Several new knotty problems have come up in the hearing of the sealers commission before Justice Audet, Exchequer Court. The judge pointed out only $200,000 had been turned over by the States Government in compensation for loss of industry and that the first commission was to distribute that money. Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, K.C., counsel for the Victoria Sealing Company addressed the court on a claim of $1,614,000 the total claims of all concerned. Counsel wants to know where the extra money will come from, supposing the Commission recommended settlements aggregating more than $200,000. No one is able to reply.

HONG KONG, Aug. 6.

A battle is on at Canton between the Chinese Government troops and the southern rebels. Two divisions of the Government army attacked the East gate of the city.

Successful Coxswain Entertains.

Mr. Andrew Murphy, who proved such a successful coxswain in the Regatta at Bell Island on Saturday, entertained a number of friends in the various boats clubs at his home after the races had terminated. A capital speech was made by Mr. C. Main, Vice-President of the Regatta Committee, which the toast of the coxswain was proposed by Mr. L. C. Murphy, on behalf of the Dominion Boat Club, to which a suitable response was made. Messrs. S. Ferguson and R. Burnham rendered songs, etc., and a very enjoyable time was spent. Mr. Murphy, whose crew did so well in our Regatta, returns with them to the Island this afternoon. It is to be hoped that Bell Island will continue to send crews to compete in the St. John's Regatta.

Regatta Day at the Nickel.

Hundreds, we might say thousands, brought a most enjoyable day to a close by attending the Nickel Theatre last evening. The attendance was the largest for months and every body was more than charmed. The pictures were than immense but greater than all was the illustrated song "Whistling Jim." This is one of the most popular songs ever given in St. John's and citizens were delighted with it. Mr. Myers certainly scored a distinct hit. The pictures will be repeated this evening.

Cunard Directors Draw $25,000 Salaries.

In the annual report of the Cunard steamship lines, it is shown that directors' fees for the year, totalled about $25,000. This expenditure is never shown in the reports of any of the American corporations, but it would be interesting to observe the amounts received by directors for their services. The average fee for a director in any of the larger companies is about $30 a meeting, enough for cigar money anyhow, and when the man is serving on several boards the annual sum received for his services is not to be pertunctorily regarded.

Turned His Own Brother Away.

Sarnia, Aug. 2.—Seldon has an immigration officer of the Dominion been forced to turn his own brother back when he tried to enter this country, but that is what happened to Inspector Cameron here yesterday morning, when his brother, a veteran of the civil war and a resident of Detroit, came to Sarnia to pay a visit with his only relative. The old soldier is in a badly crippled condition from rheumatism contracted during the war. When he landed on the Canadian side he was accosted by his brother, who was forced to accompany him back to the American side as he could not allow him to enter under his oath of office.

Sprinting Round the Globe

A New York evening paper has started a reporter round the world in an attempt to break the present record of 53 days, 19 hours, and 43 minutes, made two years ago. He expects to knock nearly four days off that record.

The time it takes to ring the earth keeps getting rapidly smaller. The first of the present day records was made by the famous writer, George Griffiths, in 1901, in 64 1/2 days. In the same year a Paris newspaper boy cut two days off the record.

In 1907 Colonel Burney-Campbell brought the time down to 40 odd days, the Trans-Siberian Railway (from St. Petersburg to the Pacific) being open by them. He was nearly seventy when he made this record sprint round the globe.

The most tragic event in the history of globe-sprinting was when a retired English naval officer set off in 1906 on an attempt to put up new figures. He was known to have reached Yokohama, in Japan, but was never seen or heard of again. His reserved berth on the liner across the Pacific remained unclaimed.

Simply a Grindstone.

The boarding house was one frequented by locomotive drivers and firemen, but there was one boarder not connected with the railway company. He happened to be an engineer, and the boastful bragging of the engine-drivers as to their speed and so on got on his nerves. After a time the engineer became tired of hearing of the feats of train-driving, and one night he broke into the usual conversation.

"I went over and saw a new machine we've got at our place," he remarked, "and it's astonishing how it works."

"And how does it work?" asked a pompous express-driver.

"Well, by means of a pedal attachment, a futuristic lever converts a vertical reciprocating motion into a circular movement. The principal part of the machine is a huge disc that revolves in a vertical plane.

"Power is applied through the axis of the disc, and work is done on the periphery; and the hardest steel, by mere impact, may be reduced to any shape."

"And what is this wonderful machine?" asked the driver.

"A grindstone!" came the reply.

Personal.

Messrs. C. F. Taylor, J. M. Greene, John Fraser, S. Pearce, Murphy, Main and Hutchings, are amongst the numerous residents of Bell Island who came over to witness the St. John's Regatta.

The keynotes of the successful summer styles are graceful lines, soft fabrics and youthful silhouettes. Fashion's eye seems to be centered on the waist line. It should receive much attention in your planning.
