LONDON REVIEW.

LONDON, To-day.
Turning against the Roumanians who had been advancing steadily in Eastern Transylvania, the Austro-Hungarian-German troops defeated the invaders decisively along a fifty-mile front north of Fogar in the juncture of the Hommerod and Alt Rivers near Reps. The Roumanians are in retreat pursued by the Teutonic troops. The successful repulse of the invaders on the southern end of the line was in the hands of General Von Falkenhayn, former Chief of the German General Staff, who only last week routed the Roumanians around Hermandstadt and drove them back to their own frontier. North of Reps the Austro-Hungarian re-captured the position and took more than two hundred prisoners. Bucharest admits that the Roumanian troops in Eastern Transylvania have been withdrawn before attacks by superior forces in the region of Fogar. In Dobruja the heavy fighting continues along the line south of Constanta-Bucharest railway, with Bucharest recording progress for the Russians and Roumanians in the centre and on their left wing. While General Brusseloff apparently has ceased at least for the moment his attacks on the Austro-German lines in Volhynia west of Lutsk, he continues southward his assaults with great intensity against the positions of the Teutonic Allies guarding the approaches to Lemberg, the capital of Galicia. Although the Russian attacks were held up north-east of Lemberg those to the south-east of the capital, according to Petrograd resulted in the taking of positions south of Brzezyn and the capture of 500 prisoners. Berlin, however, declares that all Russian attacks in Galicia have been repulsed and that the Austro-Germans have taken 1,200 prisoners from the Russians. In Macedonia the armies of the Entente Allies continue their advance. The British troops which crossed the Struma northeast of Salonika have taken the town of Kevolven, which was evacuated by its defenders. South of Monastir in Serbia, violent fighting in the region of the Cerna River is reported by Paris. Artillery continues active on the Somme front in France, according to reports from the war offices of all the belligerents.

ANOTHER PEACE STORY.

NEW YORK, To-day.
The New York Evening Post to-day publishes a story saying it has learned from a trustworthy source that Ambassador James W. Gerard is now on his way back from Germany and will lay before President Wilson a request to the President to use his good offices in suing for peace with the Allies. Germany has definitely decided to apply to President Wilson. This article reads, "his good offices in suing for peace with the Allies." This was learned to-day from sources in a position to have absolutely trustworthy information on these matters. It is understood that Ambassador Gerard, who is on his way over here, will lay the Kaiser's request before President Wilson within a week. It is fact, however positively it may have been denied officially, that the possibility of President Wilson's acting as mediator has been discussed by German officials with Ambassador Gerard. It is, therefore, by no means surprising that the reports now take definite shape in connection with Gerard's trip to this country. Ambassador Gerard is on board the steamer Frederick 8th, due in New York about Tuesday next.

BERLIN ADMITS BRITISH SUCCESS
BERLIN, To-day.
A War Office report to-day concedes that successes had been achieved by the British forces which crossed the Struma River. The statement says the Bulgarians evacuated remote villages on the east bank of the river.

THE STRATHAY SUNK.

PARIS, To-day.
According to the commanding officer of a French torpedo boat, the British steamer Strathay was sunk on September 2nd while on her way from Newport News to Glasgow, and was destroyed by a submarine. American citizens are said to have been aboard the Strathay. The evidence given by all the men aboard the Strathay and the evidence given by all the men of the torpedo boat, is to the effect that a submarine fired eight shells at the Strathay in ten minutes and then sank her with a torpedo, after giving the crew fifteen minutes to abandon the vessel. It is said the torpedo boat put the submarine to flight and rescued the crew.

NO CONSCRIPTION BUT REGISTRATION.

OTTAWA, To-day.
There will be no conscription in Canada, but a system of registration to distinguish slackers from workers will be adopted by the Government, according to the Hon. Robert Rodgers, Acting Prime Minister, in a reply to the Executive Council of the Dominion Trades Labor Congress, which waited upon him to-day and presented resolutions passed by the recent Congress at Toronto.

ROUMANIANS DEFEATED.

BERLIN, To-day.
Roumanian forces in Transylvania have been defeated by the troops of General Von Falkenhayn and driven back over the Alt River, the War Office announced to-day. At other points along the Transylvanian front the Roumanians have been forced to retire. The statement says that Austrian and German troops pressed back the Roumanians over the Hommerod River and drove them from positions southwest of Libanfalva, the Roumanians retreating through the Geister Forest and being pursued. The statement says General Von Falkenhayn captured 29 field guns and 137 machine guns. Of the Roumanian forces which crossed the Danube south of Bucharest to invade Bulgaria only a portion succeeded. The statement says the remaining troops fled to the eastward and were defeated.

IRELAND AND CONSCRIPTION.

WATERFORD, Ireland, To-day.
In a notable address to his constituents here this afternoon John Redmond, Irish Nationalist leader in Parliament, declared that despite the recent rebellion with all its inevitable aftermath of brutalities, stupidities and inflamed passions, Home Rule for Ireland is safe if Ireland remains sane. Redmond also declared that conscription could never be forced upon Ireland, adding, "I cannot bring myself to believe that though malign influences are at work the Government will be insane enough to challenge a conflict with Ireland on this subject. Conscription for Ireland, so far from helping the army and the war would be the most fatal thing that could happen. It would be resisted in every village in Ireland. Its attempted enforcement would be a scandal which would ring around the world. It would produce no additional men."

ROUMANIAN OFFICIAL.

BUCHAREST, To-day.
Roumanian troops have withdrawn from their positions in the region of Fogar in Transylvania before attacks by superior forces, says an official statement issued by the War Office to-day. Violent engagements continue in other sections of Transylvania. On the northern front there have been violent engagements in the Upper Lirneva and Tima Valleys. The enemy having attacked with superior forces in the region of Fogar to-day in an interview with the Associated Press, in which he replied to a re-arbitrary limiting of imports into Sweden. Lord Robert said that Brittain has always been and is now ready to enter into fresh engagements for a trade agreement with Sweden, in which case allowances will be made for all Sweden's requirements, which he admitted are greater now than before, owing to the development of her clared incidentally that the British

DENY REPORT OF PEACE OVER- TURNS.

WASHINGTON, To-day.
If Ambassador Gerard is returning to the States on any mission other than to spend a belated vacation, the officials of the State Department disclaim any knowledge of it. The statement has been authorized that no preparations for the discussion of peace through diplomatic channels have been made, and that all the information gathered here seems to indicate that such a move would be inadvisable as well as futile. There have been various reports of plans of President Wilson to deal with the matter directly instead of through the State Department. The officials of the German Embassy reject the story with the emphatic statement that they know beyond doubt that it was not true.

Mr Asquith's Son.

(From the Westminster Gazette).
The whole country will feel for the Prime Minister in the blow which has fallen on him as on so many other parents in this war. Mr. Raymond Asquith was a man of high intellectual distinction, and he stood on the threshold of what his friends were confident would be a brilliant political career. He was thirty-eight years of age, a married man, and in a position in which he might, without criticism, have obtained exemption from military service or the service of a kind which did not expose him to serious risk. Without a moment's hesitation he chose the more honorable and the more dangerous part, and after some months in the firing line determinately returned to it, in preference to the Staff appointment which was at his disposal. This is a fine example, of which his father may well be proud.
Mr. Raymond Asquith's name goes to the long roll of greatly gifted young men who have proved to us that high intellectual attainments may be combined with manly virtue and steady-ness unto death in the cause of their country. We are the poorer for their loss, the richer for their example.

His Song was Silenced

(From the Canadian Gazette).
The following little story of the front trenches is contained in a letter from a British soldier serving in France:
"The Saxons used to have a chap with them named Paul, who had a lovely voice, and used to sing all the latest songs. He was easily heard in our front trenches, and his songs were enjoyed by our fellows as well as the Germans. One day when things were quiet there was no singing, and one of our men called out to the Germans, 'Tell Paul to sing.' Back came the answer preceded by a string of guttural German curses: 'You chuted Paul yesterday.'"

Too Much of A Good Thing.

(From the Navy League Journal).
The navy's newest recruit was hailed before the commandant of the naval barracks on charges of insubordination. The petty officer explained that the man had resisted when they took him to the swimming baths for the first lesson in the art of na-tation.
"What have you got to say for yourself?" asked the commandant.
"Well, sir, it's like this 'ere. I've only bin in the navy three days. The first day the doctor drewed six o' me teeth out, the second day I was 'couladed' this mornin', the petty officer comes along to me an' he says:
'Come on, you pup, we're a-goin' ter

KEEPING UP WITH THE CROWD.
Keeping up with the crowd is an attempt to stretch a $2,000 income over a $5,000 expense account.

One of the best tests of pluck and endurance a young married couple can have is to mingle in a crowd of plutocratic companions without wanting to pawn all the wedding presents in order to keep up. The greatest treasure on earth is a wife who has social ambitions, but who does not find it necessary to dress like a style show model in order to get invited and throw dust in the eyes of neighbors who do not buy until they can see where the money for an extra tire on the rim was coming from.

but there is a brand which would rather have a few brains along with it and it costs less to carry brains than it does diamond tiaras and chil-fon velvet wraps.

Keeping up with the crowd in a small town is just as difficult as it is in a larger one, for in each case the crowd is split up into minute crowds, ranging from champagne suppers to the peanut sandwich spread. The trouble is that few people are satisfied with the crowd nature and their income designed them for, but are eternally trying to move up a step or two and get into the wire-wheeled limousine class.
Many a wife has tried to climb into this class and drag her husband with her, but before they were half way up their progress was impeded by the muffled accents of a foreclosure sale.

On the other hand, thousands of people who were born with nothing but a set of plain features and a few layers of horse sense are living in a state of unbroken peace without a solitary top hat or evening gown.

As a rule, it will be found that these people can borrow money at the bank without having their collateral pawed over by the board of directors.
When a man is unhappy because he is not leading the procession in a twin-six which will not be paid for until Mexico is pacified, it shows that the inside of his head needs upholstering with some different material.

It is all right to keep up with the crowd when you don't have to borrow short money in order to get by.
