Room for Hope.

We would be the last to encourage hopes which we did not think likely to be fulfilled, but they are not such which we can hold out in this case. The price of the Regiment's heroism at Monchy ery, the police learn, two brothers, a is told in the long list of missing that grocer and a cooper, created a lively reaches us to-day. The biter ex-scene up town last night. As their reaches us to-day. The biter ex-perience of Beaumont Hamel will team zig-zagged along the street, they prepare many anxious hearts against the worst, but it should not lead them and Green, who took them in charge. the News observes, the two engage- manner and had to be hand-cuffed, but ments were quite dissimilar, and one of them resisted strenuously while its was known that at Beau-against having his wrists decorated mont Hamel scarce a man reached with bracelets and kicked, though the trenches opposite, it is clear that slightly, officer Green. The prisoners at Monchy a considerable number did were tried by Mr. J. McCarthy, J.P. so and were surrounded by superior forces. Further, all the ground covered was won soon after. It is therefore almost inconceivable that all the 14 days. The other was charged with Oil Compound forms one of the best men on the list were killed, though many of them must have been. The saulting the police and was fined Germans made loud boasts of the or 30 days. Both fines were paid. number of prisoners they took in these operations, and everything points to the likelihood of some of our men being among them. There is at any rate nothing in the situation to justify the brutal and callous headlines un der which a contemporary has seen fit to report the details of the engage-ment, assuming something worse than the worst possible. We advise all concerned to pay no attention to up for shelter and safe-keeping. She them but to await news from official belonged to Twillingate, but had no the necessary action to be taken here. If what it has said does not succeed in warning our people, nothing will. There seems to be a general belief that because an inquiry into prices is being made by a commission, and because another committee are making efferts to have more land cultivated all will be well. Both bodies are doing good work, but it is plain that the former can do little except in the fining their energies to St. John's. It is not St. John's but the whole country that will need to bestir itself. Fortunately, two or three facts are plain to everyone. There is every in-dication that Newfoundland will be able to import next autumn but a fraction of its ordinary requirements of flour. Fortunately again, those re necessary and should be cut down to that standard. There will still be a large deficiency and we must make it up ourselves. We cannot grow wheat tables. Contemptible Husbands

SENTENCED FOR NON-SUPPORT. As the rapidly increasing high cost of living goes steadily on, it appears that some of the unfaithful and unworthy bread-winners of the city whether despondent or no, are, according to the Court records, assuming the right, illegally of course, and contrary to all manly principles. contrary to all manly principles, not to give any of the results of their toil towards the sustenance of their wives and children. In act there are cases heard of in which outlawed husbands have so far shirked their responsibil-ities as to abandon their families altogether and absolutely refuse them support. Two of such cases attracted the attention of the authorities yester-day when two married women, with 3 A daring burglary was committed in the suburbs of the city a few nights ago when a country residence, owned and occupied by a family named Milfer, was broken into during the tem-

She had five children to keep. When asked what he had to say, the defendant answered that he didn't intend to support her and he went on to explain. His entire explanation was jealousy, arising out of a groundless report. He was ordered to find two sureties in $100 each for the support of his family (and ot give less than $5 a week) or go to jail for 30 days and, if he choses the latter course the dose to be repeated.
