

Spare Ribs!

To-Day, ex S.S. Sable I, at Greatly Reduced Prices
FANCY

Spare Ribs, Barrels.

Get Our Quotations.

F. McNamara,

'Phone: 393

Queen Street.

FRENCH IVORY

Toilet & Manicure Pieces

We have just received a nice assortment and are showing some new pieces in this very popular line. Those wishing to add to their collection will profit by giving us a call.

R. H. TRAPNELL, Ltd.,
Jewellers and Opticians.

ead,tf

Say! Mr. Blacksmith,

What about investing in a good Portable Forge?

We have them.

'The Celebrated Champion'.

— Also, —

A word to our friends THE MILLMEN. We carry a full line of your supplies. Outport orders promptly attended to.

Reid-Newfoundland Co., Limited

WATER STREET STORES DEPT.

aug.26.28.31-sept.1,5,7,9,11,13,15

Our Custom Made Clothes are individual in style, and at all times possess an appreciable advantage in fabric, tailoring, finish, fit and fashion.

W. P. SHORTALL,

THE AMERICAN TAILOR.

300 Water Street.

PHONE—477.

P.O. BOX—445.

GRAVENSTEIN APPLES

Now in Stock—September 7.

1's—and—2's.

Also,

70 HALF BARRELS CHOICE PEARS.

BURT & LAWRENCE.

14 NEW GOWER STREET.

Thistle-don

Frae Scotland.

HUMOUR OF SCOTTISH POETRY.

(Contributed.)

A prophet has no honour in his own country, and few of the peasant personally acquainted with Burns were willing to allow that his merit exceeded their own. Mrs. McQuinn, the housekeeper at Dunlop House, where the poet was a frequent visitor, saw nothing in his writings calling for special admiration, and doubted the propriety of her mistress entertaining a mere ploughman who made rhymes as regarded "The Cotter's Saturday Night," she declared to Mrs. Dunlop, with much shaking of the head, that "Nae doubt gentlemen and ladies think muckle o' that, but for me, it's naething but what I saw in my ain father's house every day, and I dinna see who he could have tauld it any other way." It was a splendid compliment, yet the author once received perhaps a better—in his own hearing, too—one, at least, which he appreciated more. A little boy was asked which of the poet's works he liked best. "I like 'The Cotter's Saturday Night' far the best," he exclaimed, "though it made me greet when my father made me read it to my mother."

At some future date we may publish Burns's Cotter's Saturday Night. The poet, with a sudden start looked into the boy's face intently, and patting him on the cheek, said, the tear glistening in his eye the while, "Well, my callant, it made me greet, too, more than once, when I was writing it at my father's fireside."

Scott, when about seventeen years of age, saw Burns in Edinburgh, and has afforded the most truthful and graphic account of his personal appearance extant. It was at a literary dinner at Professor Ferguson's that they met. The wondrous boy enlightened the party as to the authorship of the line:

"The child of misery baptized in tears,"

by telling them it was Langhorne's. Whereupon Burns looked towards him and exclaimed, "You will be a man yet." No prophecy received fuller fulfillment, for it Sir Walter Scott did not rise to the full stature of true manhood, no mere man ever did. Scott brought pleasure with him into every party he chose to enter. The company had been admiring a print of Banbury's representing a soldier lying dead on the snow—the dog sitting in misery on the one side—on the other, his widow with a child in her arms. These lines were written underneath:

"Cold on Canadian hills, or Minden's plains,
Perhaps that parent wept her soldier slain;
Beat o'er her babe, her eye dissolved in dew,
The big drops mingling with the milk he drew.
Gave the sad presage of his future years—
The child of misery baptized in tears."

Burns was so much affected by the picture, or rather the ideas which it suggested to his mind, that he actually shed tears. He asked whose the lines were, and the company included the celebrated Lugal Stewart, and other men of letters. Young Scott alone remembered that they occur in a half-forgotten poem of Langhorne's called by the unimpeachable title of "The Justice of the Peace." Sir Walter Scott, when a lad at school, a boy in the same class was asked by the dominant what part of speech "With" was.

"A noun, sir," answered the boy.

"You young blockhead," cried the pedagogue. "What example can you give of such a thing?"

"I can tell you, sir," interrupted Scott. "You know there's a verse in the Bible which says, 'They bound Samson with Withs!'"

Mrs. Cockburn, authoress of the popular version of "The Flowers of the Forest," the one beginning "I've seen the smiling of fortune beguiling," has left a curious account of an interview which she had with Scott, when a boy not quite six years old. He was reading a poem to his mother when the lady entered, the subject of which was the description of a shipwreck. His passion rose with the storm, and he lifted up his eyes and hands. "There's a mast gone," says he; "Crash it goes; they will all perish." After his agitation, he turned to Mrs. Cockburn and said: "That is too melancholy, I had better read you something more amusing." Mrs. Cockburn preferred a little chat, and asked his opinion of Milton and other books which he had been reading, which he gave wonderfully. One of his observations was: "How strange that Adam, just new come into the world, should know everything."

"That must be the poet's fancy," said he. But when told he was created perfectly by God Himself, he instantly yielded. No writer of any time—Burns alone excepted—has handled the native tongue to better purpose for the expression of every feeling of the human heart than has Sir Walter Scott. Picture in your thoughtful imagination of the great Sir Walter as a little boy of six years of age on his bended knees with his little head planted in his mother's lap saying his prayers aloud. The Lord's Prayer, "Our father which beest T' Hevin, hallowid weird thyne nam, cum thyne kinrick. Be done thyne will as is in Hevin, nos pras yerd. Our dailie bread gif us thilk day. And forleif us our skaths, as we forleif them quha skath us. And leed us na inflit temptation, butan fre us fra evil. Amen. When he was taken to bed the same evening, he told his aunt that he liked Mrs. Cockburn, "for I think," said he, "she is a Virtuoso like myself."

"Dear Walter, what is a Virtuoso?" inquired his aunt. "Don't you know?" said this little boy of six years of age. "Why, it's one that will know everything." He was still a boy, when a lady friend remarked in company on the almost perpetual drizzle which prevails in the West of Scotland, and declared herself at a loss to account for it. Popping his head up from below the table, "It is," said he, "only Nature weepin for the barrenness of her soil." It was Sir Walter Scott who said that "his friends, wome, great book-readers, but they were mistily a grand book-keepers"—a common accomplishment of the friends and acquaintances of all men—alas.

Beyond Expectation.

The head of a large business house bought a number of those "Do It Now" pens and hung them up around his office. They were effective beyond expectation, and yet it can hardly be said that they worked well.

When, after the first few days, the business man counted up the results, he found that the cashier had bolted with $5,000, the head bookkeeper had eloped with the typist, three clerks had asked for a rise in salary, and the office-boy had set out to become a highwayman.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

LIFE'S JOYS.
These several joys must come to all:
The beauty of the morning sun,
The glory of a task well done,
The laughter of a friendly call.

It matters not who he may be,
Though rich or poor, or dull or wise,
Earth spreads her splendours for his eyes
And charges him no tithe or fee.

And there is glory in each task
Which by the humblest is possessed,
The pride of having done his best,
And God no more than this will ask.

No place, nor power, nor pomp nor skill,
Nor silver nor the yellow gold,
The beauty of the sun can hold,
The toiler's cottage it will fill.

Night brings a tap upon the door,
A friend has come with words of cheer,
The long day's worries disappear,
The rich man's friend can do no more.

Vainly we struggle while we live,
Seeking some fancied joys afar,
While at our hand earth's treasures are,
Which life to all of us would give.

Of Interest to Tourists.

CASH'S TOBACCO STORE IS NOW READY FOR THE TOURIST TRADE.

The man from England or the United States or any other country, when visiting our city, will find his favorite brand of Cigars, Cigarettes, Tobacco and other Smokers' Requisites at our store.

We also carry a full line of Picture Postcards and Books of Views of Newfoundland.

Our Soda Water Fountain is now in full swing. Our Ice Cold Coca Cola and other Syrups are pronounced by all to be the very best in the city.

A good smoke, a cool drink and a visit to our beautiful Bowring Park will linger in your memory for many years.

CASH'S TOBACCO STORE,
July 27, eod,tf Water Street

Fads and Fashions.

Jet heading on the bodice and a giraffe of jet at the low waistline trim a frock of satin-faced Canton, showing the dull side.

Felt and other sports hats are in great demand; a most popular droop shape has a crown wound with multi-colored ribbons.

See what you can do with 15¢

You can take any of your lighter garments—gowns, waists, negligees, ties, stockings, etc., and give them new life and exquisite color no matter what material they may be. Silk, wool, cotton, linen or mixed goods—SUNSET cleans and dyes them all at the same time, the same depth of color in the same dye bath, and the job is permanent. It won't wash-out—fade—streak—crock—or-run.

Isn't it well worth 15¢ to appear in a new 'creation' of your own making?

Heavier goods require a little more SUNSET. Everything dyeable can be dyed better with SUNSET, the Real Dye.

SUNSET SOAP DYES

ONE Real Dye For ALL Fabrics

Sole Representatives for Canada, Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Ltd., Toronto

It's a REAL Dye

Ask your dealer to show the SUNSET Color Card.

If he can't supply you, mail us 15¢ and we will send you a color card.

Don't accept substitutes.

Our Home Service Department will help you solve your Dyeing Problems if you write.

Mailed by

NORTH AMERICAN DYE CORPORATION, Ltd.

Dyestuffs Toronto, Canada

The Newest Fashions

NOW SHOWING

Ladies' Fall Coats,

Very Latest Styles

in Velour, Bolivia and Melton Cloths.

Plain and Braided, with Beaver Collars.

Sport Models,

in all Wool Polo Cloth.

A Lady's Coat for

$8.00.

About 30 only, in Brown, Navy and Grey.

Assorted Styles with large pocket and belt.

Only $8.00

Child's & Misses' Coats,

In all Wool Tweeds and Cloths in Brown, Blue, Grey and Green; 24 and 39 inches. All one price $5.98 each

New Millinery,

Fresh from the Centres of the Fashion.

STEER BROS.

sept.12,14

Fads and Fashions.

Beaded effects are good for Fall. Turquoise is a new evening shade. A smart trimming note is fur in band treatments.

The contrasting skirt and bodice is a fall feature.

Several of the new coats show again the braided back.

The use of monkey fur as trimming is noted on fall models.

The combination of black with tele de negre is favored.

In many cases the buckle will "make" the shoe this fall.

The straightline coat of fur is generally girdled with cord.

The short leather jackets will be good for fall sports wear.

Side drapery on wraps is held in place by black and silver buckles.

Moleskin duvetyne is used for one of the new draped coat-effect gowns.

The short fur coat will be the smartest wrap for both sports trolleur and formal wear.

Straightline coats have side draperies, and several coat sleeves are hung to the wrists.

Cloth street costumes show slightly fitted lines and voluminous collars and cuffs of fur.

A charming new feature of the mode is the use of the lace yoke with the skirt of black velvet.

A frock of tan cloth buttons down

A NEW PIANO,

At a Moderate Price.

SEE OUR WINDOW.

AGood 2nd Hand Player Piano

Price: $500.

The "Emerson" Piano,

being imported for nearly half century.

Charles Hutton.

st,uth,tf

One side and shows the new circular drapes in one side.

Soft, broken waistlines on newest models show a tendency to keep bloused effects in fashion.

Each model hats in large shapes are trimmed with metal effects and pressed flowers.

Velvets and duvetyne in bright colors are reported to be remarkably popular among fall millinery.

A semi-fitted coat of black velvet acquires individuality by brodered striping of pale grey.

New fall sports hose are of ribbed silk, and wool in two tone effects

such as stone and white.

By BEN BATSFORD

