THE INDIAN RESERVES

An effort is being made to throw open a portion of the Blood Reserve for settlement. An effort is being made to throw open a portion of the Sarcee Reserve for settlement.

The movement is a proper one. The Indians have many times as much land as they can utilize. They are cultivating but a small portion of the reserve, and could not cultivate it all, even if they were as aggressive as the whites. They are no longer hunters or rangers.

The large areas of land are doing the Indians But that is not the question, unfortunately. no good and are just retarding the development of the country.
