An Important Gathering at Woodstock.

Half-Yearly Meeting of the Western Congregational Association.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.) WOODSTOCK, April 4.-The half-yearly meeting of the Western Congregational Association was held here to-day, the full complement of delegates to the number of 65 being present. Business was begun yesterday afternoon. Rev. C. E. Bolton, chairman of the assocition, presided, and introduced the various matters of business, which were dealt with promptly.

The association decided to amend its constitution, and a committee consisting of Rev. W. H. Claris, London, James White, Woodstock, and Alex. Hay, Hamilton, was appointed.

Applications were received from Rev. Rev. Mr. Skinner, Frome, and Rev. Mr. Fuller, Stratford. The two latter were passed without discussion. Mr. Madill's application raised some objection, but finally passed.

Reports from the various churches showed great spiritual increase since the last meeting. The association was redivided into different districts with the following secretaries: Sarnia, Rev. D. S. Hamilton; London, Dunean Hargreaves; Listowel, Rev. R. Hopkins; Guelph, Rev. A. Margetts; Brantford, Rev. C. E. Bolton. In the afternoon a motion was introduced by D. D. Hay, Stratford, that the followng resolution be accepted by the associaion. Speaking to the motion he acknowldged that he referred particularly to the P. P. A .: "That this association takes the opportunity of affirming the principles of religious and civil liberty, for which our forefathers contended and suffered; the absolute and equal rights of all religions in the eye of the law and with freedom for all, and neither proscription nor favors for any; and while careful to abstain from all interference with individual liberty, we regret the formation of any organizations which appear to us to conflict with these principles.

Much discussion followed this motion, in which Rev. Mr. Madill defended the principles of his organization. The resolution was finally adopted on a 4.-Again this afternoon the House listened to charges of alleged dereliction of duty on the part of the license commissioners. Mr. McCleary (Welland) moved for a return giving full information respecting the granting of a license to Joseph Aspinall at Tilsonburg for the year 1893-

94. Aspinall, he said, asked for a license.

A majority of the citizens petitioned against it. The certificate which had accompanied the application had been disputed on the ground that it lacked the necessary number of signatures and because several of the signers were not on the voters' list. After some investigation the license had been granted. The temperance people had applied to the department, but their protest was unheeded. Mr. McCleary said the Government affected willingness to do right additions. But there were without these sufficient names to warrant the issuance of the license. Mr. Jackson, who was a Conservative and a friend of the complainant, had indeed acted irregularly and was blameable for not exercising sufficient care in transferring the papers. The Government was not prepared to justify the laxity. He maintained, however, that no act inherently wrong had been committed

Dr. McKay (South Oxford) said that in his constituency among the advocates of temperance none had yet been found who would say anything against the manner in which the inspector and commissioners were discharging their duties.

On the other hand, he had received several letters of approval. Regarding Mr. Cook, the inspector, Rev. Mr. McGregor, Presby-
