PARIS, April 22.—The Nancy procurators of the trench police rushed from their ambush. A desparate struggle ensued. Schnaebels aucceeded in escaping from his captives and crossed to the French territory, but his assailants pursued him and dragged him back despite his protests. They bound him forcibly and led him to prison. It is reported that Bismarck in the course of a speech to-day said it was impossible to say whether the bellicose French people who used to make an onalsught on Germany three or-four times every century would keep on breaking the Frankofrt treaty.
