and the promoters of the project are good time to begin. much to be congratulated upon the aus-

The census could be taken early next year, for there is no law requiring it to be postponed until summer, and a redistribution bill could have been passed in time to permit a dissolution, an election and the meeting of a new house before the close of the fiscal rear. This course has not been taken.

We do not suggest that the changes artists who have ventured to give contributed for the strength of the proper deposits west of the to be able to report, indeed, shows that John Bull has a fancy for letting well enough alone. Undoubtedly to nearly every line of business.

We do not pretend to know why the government have dissolved the house at this time, except it is that they believe delay would be dangerous to their own of the angerous to the be no dealy would be dangerous to the the trust that in the interests of he enjoying a large measure of properity, and it is unreasonable to think the flood tide will continue indefinitely. Already in other parts of the world signs of the ebb are visible. It is not too much to say that Liberalism in Great Bittain of late party had no defined existence. Gladestone Apart from him the party had no defined existence. CLEAN POLITICS.

"The majority of men on both sides couragement. would prefer clean methods" says the Good progress has been made in improvements throughout the city during the present year, and it is to be hoped without mercy. So say we all of us. A popular verdict gained through fraud and corruption is a regretable thing. But the fault does not lie wholly with the polificians by any means. It is true that, even on the low ground of personal convenience, they would almost to a man prefer that elections should be run on principles, and that only legitimate methods of convincing voters should be adopted on either side. The fault is with the people themselves. If voters were not willing to be bought, no one would thinks of buying them. No one would resort to fraudulent methods if he felt resort to fraudulent methods if he felt resort to fraudulent methods if he felt resort is not without mercy. So say we all of us. A popular verdict gained throughout the city during the present year, and it is to be hoped the present year, and it is to be hoped the present year, and it is to be hoped the present year, and it is to be hoped the present year, and it is to be hoped the present year, and it is to be hoped the present year, and it is to be hoped the present year, and it is to be hoped the present year, and it is to be hoped the present year, and it is to be hoped the return trade of the Golden North.
