A Panic at Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, April 4.—The board of trade was the scene of great excitement all day, owing to the continued panic. The oldest speculators were so lost in their reckoning that the fear seized them that they could find safety only in avoiding the market altogether. Business men admit the situation is very grave. The large loan companies are not disposed to advance money to farmer swhen they know it costs the farmer more to raise the wheat than the price now selling at. A Letter From Mr. Lettore. EDITOR WORLD: I fancy I must be the Victoria street barber alluded to in yesterday's World as I have been very ill, and two "gentlemen" did raise some money for me—what amount I don't know. I was told that I should receive a sum weekly, to which as a matter of course I acceded. I received $10 from the gentlemen, that is all. The $41.75 I know nothing about. I am not at all wearsteful but I did not cell. am not at all ungrateful, but I did not cal-culate that when people volunteered to help me that the act should be published to the world. The statement that I swor and cursed, and also that I received $41.73 is altogether false, and the whole paragraph will go to hurt my name and my business. I therefore beg that you will publish this letter in denial of the same.

He May Run the Mail.

From the Woodstock Times (Con.)
The Toronto World comes down heavily upon Mr. Bunting of the Mail for his connection with the bribery brigade. There is no doubt Bunting's conversation with the conspirators has had the effect of mak-ing people believe that he was mixed up with the plot and knows more about it with the plot, and knows more about it than has yet been divulged. Mr. Bunting may run the Mail but that does not make him the conservative party.

Irving's Election to the Reform Club.

Mr. Irving's admission to the Reform club has occasioned much discussion Actors are deemed as mere mimetic animals, bereft of all opinion, and the Reform club is an institution of strong opinion. The whippers of the liberal party have their headquarters in its basement, where the candidates are selected and the sinews supplied. But the truth seems to be, in Mr. Irving's case, that his admission is a personal compliment to a distinguished man from friends who hope through it to sometimes enjoy his society. There is no club in London which would not welcome Mr. Irving into membership, and the wonder is that the more refined atmosphere of the Reform's near neighbor, the Athenæum, should not be more congenial to him. Charles Kemble and Charles Kean were both members there: The former through Terrible Accident to No. 3 Express on the G. T. E.—The Engineer and Fireman Killed—Ten Passengers Injured.

Montreal, April 4.—The engine and seven cars of the 8 o'clock express from Toronto to Montreal ran off the track about two miles west of Wales at 5.20 this morning. It is supposed the cause of the accident was a break in some of the machinery of the locomotive. The engineer, Thos. Donahue, of Montreal, was instantly killed. Charles King, the fireman, was so terribly scalded that he died this afternoon in great agony. Those hurt are L. D. Smelt, Springfield, Mass., collar bone fractured; J Gilbert, Chicago, face and leg bruised; Mr. Gouffret, Montreal, arm bruised; R. Cole, Montreal, arm slightly bruised and back sprained; F. Nicoll, Quebec, arm bruised; Louis Levilled. The engineer and fireman the cuty that the latter would erect the court house, and charge the county so much per year for rental, the amount to be left to arbitration.

A general discussion on a suitable site at the followed. A mong the sites named was the corporation block bounded by Front, Colborne, King, Ghurch and Market streets and the one at the head of Bay street, while the city solicitor said he thought the neighborhood of Simooe street would suit the legal fraternity. A subscience of the mayor and Ald. Allen, Defoe, Carlyle, Irwin and Turner was appointed to enquire about the price, etc., of a suitable site, and it was also decided to consult with the board of trade, the Property owners association, judges, Law society, etc., as to its location.

During the discussion Ald. Turner again.

During the discussion Ald. Turner again drew attention to the fact that the citizens at large took such a small interest in municipal matters. He regretted that so few of them were qualified to discuss civic affairs intelligently.

FATHER AND SON.

The Late Col. Cumberland and Barlow Cumberland Honored by St. George's

Society. last night, President R. W. Elliott rose and said he had the pleasant duty to perform of presenting the society's medal to form of presenting the society's medal to Barlow Cumberland, the immediate past president. The medal bore two clasps in honor of the late Col. Cumberland, who was also a past president of the society. It is the habit of the society to present past presidents with a medal, but the late lamented Col. Cumberland had died before the presentation could be made to him. This had been remedied by attaching two clasps to the medal, one for the father whose loss they all mourned, and one for the son whose membership they so much prized. Mr. Elliot feelingly alluded to the late Col. Cumberland, spoke of his abilities as a public man and his merits as a private gentleman, paid a graceful compliment to his memory as a member of the society and was glad that the son was following in his footsteps.

Mr. Cumberland made a suitable reply, thanking the society for the kindly re-convenience to the general public, pedestrian and otherwise. The approaches to the bridge on either side are so steep that it is positively dangerous to cross the structure without some light to guide the wayfarer. For some reason or other the lamp in question has not been lighted for a considerable time. It may be that the gas company are not aware of this fact, if they are the residents in the vicinity would feel obliged to them to rectify the matter as soon as convenient.

Notwithstanding it was a government measure Sir Alexander Campbell and Hon. Frank Smith voted for Mr. Dickey's amendment respecting the three-fifths vote, though Hon. D. L. Macpherson, who introduced the bill, said he could not accept it.

It is probable that these amendments will be offered when the bill comes before the house of commons.

Farley & Co. are getting in ship-shape at their magnificent new premises, No. 7 and 9 King street east. Yesterday the store was crowded on all the flats. In a couple of days more everything will be in good order. The Bon Marche will be open till 10 o'clock to-night.

A BROKER'S PUN.

There is very little doing at the stock exyesterday, deliverable in a week. The question arose whether it was seller on a week or was buyer on a week. The Kerry Gow however remarked: "You have been over near Ashbridge's bay, and have got byre on the
