THE TRUE WITNESS AND CATHOLIC CHRONICLE.—DEC. 1, 1876.

SCRAP BOOK.

Alphonso the Wise, King of Arragon, said that the conditions of a fortunate marriage were that the ausband should be deaf and the wife blind.

The Duke of Orleans said of the marriage of two extremely poor persons that in their case "hunger | SUPPLY EVERY DESCRIPTION of ATTIRE, had esponsed thirst,"

At a catechetical examination in Scotlanda little At a careculation examination in Scottand a little girl was asked, "Why did the Israelites make a golden calf?" She answered—"They hadna as muckle siller as wad make a coo."

A miss of ten or eleven, on her way to school, was heard saying to herself : A noun is the name of any person, place or thing, and if any of the girls have booked that apple from my desk l'il raise a fuse with the whole school.

" I'd like you to help me a little," said a tramp. poking his head into a country store. "Why don't you help yourself?" said the proprietor, angrily. "Thank you, I will," said the tramp, as he picked up a bottle of whiskey and two loves of bread, and disappeared.

She wouldn't stand to have a tooth pulled for one million two hundred thousand dollars, she said, and yet she walked Canal street in tiny gaiters two sizes too small for her, and thought nothing of it; but then nobody saw that tooth, and several saw the gaiters .- New York Bulletin.

"I beg your pardon, gentlemen," observed Bismarch to a couple of loyal Britons who were pre-dicting the share of glory that would fall to the wooden walls of England" in case of a European war, "I beg your pardon but what was that you said about the wooden heads of England?"—Brooklyn Argus.

A Kansas orator talks in this strain: Where is Europe with America? Nowher! They call Britain the mistress of the sea, but what makes the sea? The Mississippi river makes it, and all we've got to do is to turn the Mississippi river intofthe Mammoth cave, and the British navy will be floundering in the

A dinner is discussed. Douglas Jerrold listens quietly, possibly tired of dianers, declining pressing invitations to be present. In a few minutes he thimed in, "If an earthquake were to engulf England to morrow, the English would manage to meet and dine somewhere among the rubbish, just to celebrato the event."

A Down-in-the heel politician stood on the sidewalk last evening and thus addressed the lamp-post: "Are patriotism fled from this here land, and are we drifting to'rds a monarky? It must be so, for this are the most unpatriotic campaign I've seed yet; I haven't been asked to drink by a single deg-goned candidate since the campaign opened. Whither are we driftin' anyhow?"

"My friends," said a returned missionary, at an anniversary meeting, "let us avoid sectarian bitter-ness. The inhabitants of Hindostan, where I have been laboring for many years, have a proverb that, though you bathe a dog's tall in oil and bind it in splints, yet you cannot get the crook out of it. Now sman's sectarian bias is simply the crook in the og's tail, which can not be eradicated; and I held hat every one should be allowed to wag his own seculiarity in peace."

Colerridge has remarked that stammering is ometimes the cause of a pun. Some one was menioning in Lamb's presence the cold heartedness of he Duke of Cumberland in restraining the Duchss from rushing up to the embrace of her son whom he had not seen for a considerable time, and inisting on her receiving him in state. "How hor-bly cold it was," said the narrator. "Yes," replied amb, in his stuttering way; "but you know he the Duke of Cu-cum-ber-land."

As a gentleman stepped into a New York drug nop and called for a glass of soda water, the boy the fountain jokingly asked, "Will you have a via it?" "Yes sir," said the man promptly. The by scooped one off the wall, and, drooping it in he syrup, drew on the water, and set it down for he purpose of continuing the joke; but before he uld withdraw it the stranger seized the glass and rallowed the beverage, fly and all, remarking, as twiped his mouth, "I'd a swallowed that if it id been an elephant, rathern have a bey with no air on his lip get the best of me."

A MUSICAL GLUTTON.

He waited for his oyster stew, And drummed upon his plate A solo with his plated fork, And thus did meditate: "I think one plate will not suffice; I think I would not rue it If I should take another dish; I'll do it, yes I'll duet." He took his stew, he took his two, And then he heaves a sigh, O, And murmured in the waiter's car, "Another dish I'll trio."

Another, and another still, In fact, when he had ceased This human oyster depot had A quartet at the least.
