

EXAMINATION OF PUPILS AT THE OTTAWA CONVENT.

On Tuesday, the 11th instant, we had the pleasure of being present at the Annual Examination of the pupils at the Convent of the above city, under the charge of the Sisters of Charity. We cannot refrain from remarking that we were very forcibly struck by the great perfection which seems to exist in the system of training of the young ladies in this institution; and it was really gratifying to notice the great proficiency of the scholars in the various branches of their education. In the morning the pupils underwent a most rigid examination in English and French Grammar, and literature, Book-Keeping, Arithmetic, Geometry, and Natural Philosophy; in fact, in all the branches that constitute a complete course of studies; the whole being enlivened at intervals by the most delightful performances by the pupils on the Piano, the Harp, and the Guitar, as well as the various selections of choice vocal music.

But what most attracted our attention was the great proficiency evinced by the pupils in that most requisite of all acquisitions—Domestic Economy. Samples of jellies, puddings, soap, candles, &c., made by the fair hands of the pupils, were exhibited and elicited the admiration of all present.

During the afternoon, a dramatic entertainment was given by the young ladies. Two pieces were performed, which had been specially prepared for the occasion;—the one in English—"The Martyrs"—in which the French young ladies took part; the other in French—"Madame de Pourceaugnac"—in which the characters were sustained by the English-speaking young ladies of the school. In both plays the performers acquitted themselves very creditably indeed, their elocution being all that could be desired.

At the conclusion of the dramatic entertainment, the distributions took place; after which His Lordship Bishop Gigué, and the Hon. Judge Armstrong, addressed the audience in appropriate words. Amongst the numerous company present, we noticed a large number of the Reverend Clergy, Colonel Coffin, J. Freil, Esq., of the Ottawa Union; Messrs. J. J. Curran, B.C.L., and P. J. Buckley, L.L., J. J. Murphy, and a number of others.

In conclusion, we will say that the Sisters of Charity at Ottawa are nobly fulfilling their mission of charity and benevolence; and we wish them every success, not only in their educational establishment, but also in completing the new hospital that they are now erecting, and which is so much required in that locality.—Com.

CONVENT OF ST. MARGARET, AT ALEXANDRIA, GLENGARRY.

To the Editor of the True Witness.

Sir,—Your paper of the 14th instant contains accounts of the distribution of prizes of the several Convent Schools and Colleges of Montreal, and other places. I trust that you will not disdain to admit into your columns a brief account of the distribution of prizes of our Convent School, which, if it cannot pretend to compare with your large and well endowed institutions, is nevertheless deserving of notice, inasmuch as it is an institution similar in its object, viz., the diffusion of sound knowledge based on religious instruction. You, Mr. Editor, and many of your readers, cannot but rejoice that there is such an institution amongst us, and that it is well conducted. The efforts which the inhabitants of this place have made to establish it, and the support which they continue to give it, are the best evidences of their appreciation of the merits of their Convent School.

The distribution of prizes took place in the afternoon on Monday, the 10th inst., at 2 P.M., the hour appointed for the commencement of the entertainment; there was a large crowd of anxious spectators present. Amongst the audience there were His Lordship E. J. Horan, Bishop of the diocese; the Rev. James J. Chisholm, Pastor; the Rev. J. McCarthy, of Williamstown; the Rev. Mr. MacDonnell, of Lochiel; the Rev. Mr. Masterson, of St. Raphael; and the Rev. J. Chisholm, Antigonish, Nova Scotia.

The exercises commenced with a beautiful piece of music being played on the piano, by Miss Elizabeth Harrison; after which, Miss Jane C. McDonnell read an address to His Lordship, of which the following is a copy:—

ADDRESS.
To the Right Rev. Edward John Horan, Bishop of Kingston.

MY LORD,—We hail with pleasure your presence here to-day. Although we have had on several occasions the honor of a visit from you, we have not had the pleasure of your presence at the distribution of prizes.

The interest which, we are told, you take in the promotion of education, makes us feel that you desire to witness the success of our scholastic labors, by assisting at the distribution of prizes. Being but young in years, we are not capable of entertaining you on this occasion as you have been on similar occasions entertained by the pupils of large establishments; we cannot present to you pleasing and well written compositions; nor can we pretend to gratify your musical taste by the execution of choice pieces of music, such as you have been wont to listen to.

Although we cannot compare with pupils of larger schools, we are striving to learn, and to improve our minds and hearts, and we are anxious to acquire, according to our limited means, all those accomplishments that may be necessary and useful for us in the different positions in which it may please the Almighty to place us.

Your presence here to-day convinces us, as well as it convinces our parents and friends, that you take a deep interest in the welfare of our humble school. Your presence will encourage our esteemed teachers in the irksome work of teaching; it will encourage us to learn more willingly, and it will encourage our parents to bear more cheerfully the sacrifices they make in our behalf.

We fondly cherish the hope that on future like occasions you will be present, and afford us the pleasure we experience to-day. The prizes which you give for religious instruction, and for general proficiency and application, will be highly appreciated, and carefully preserved by the fortunate winners.

That the Almighty, the bestower of all good, may prolong your life, and that He may pour down on you his choicest blessings, is the sincere prayer of the pupils of the Convent of St. Margaret.

The valedictory address was delivered by Miss Annie Emilia McNeil, whose manner of delivery was much applauded.

On the conclusion of the address, His Lordship said that he was happy at being present.—He complimented the young ladies on the manner they had acted their parts in the several plays. Those who received prizes had, as he was told, well earned them. He congratulated the inhabitants of Alexandria on having an institution in which their daughters could receive an excellent education. He would feel happy if other parishes in the diocese had similar advantages; he said a few words in praise of the zealous and worthy teachers of the school; he exhorted the children to make good use of their time, and to persevere in their studies; and concluded by saying that, if pressure of business should not prevent him, he would endeavor to be present on a similar occasion.

After the address and reply, there were several very entertaining and instructive plays executed, and several dialogues recited. Between the plays and dialogues, various pieces of choice vocal and instrumental music were performed by several pupils in a very creditable manner.

The ease and self-possession displayed by the young ladies, in the execution of their plays and dialogues, elicited the frequent applause of the large audience. The entertainment to all, even to those who witnessed similar exhibitions before, was a real treat.

Were it not that I should trespass on your columns, I would give the entire list of those who gained prizes. I shall merely mention that His Lordship very kindly gave two beautiful silver medals for religious instruction, which were awarded to Miss Agnes Mc'Donald, and Miss Jane C. McDonnell. He also gave two valuable books as prizes for general proficiency and application, which were awarded to Miss Agnes Mc'Donald, and Miss Abigail Bathurst.

It is gratifying to say that the parents are well pleased with the progress made by their children. This fact shows that the good Sisters of the Holy Cross have discharged their duty faithfully.

SPECTATOR.

BELLEVILLE, C.W., July 8, 1865.

To the Editor of the True Witness.

Dear Sir,—Knowing the interest you always take in Separate School education, I beg leave to lay before your readers a few lines respecting the examination of our Separate Schools, which took place here on Friday, the 30th ult., and on Wednesday, 5th inst.

The examination of the male school, which has a daily average attendance of over one hundred and twenty scholars, took place as above mentioned, on the 30th ult., and was attended by a large number of the parents of the pupils, the Trustees, and others interested in the education of the rising generation. The classes were examined in all the branches usually taught in Common Schools, and from the promptitude with which the pupils answered the questions put to them in the different branches, they showed that their efficient teacher, Mr. O'Sullivan, spared neither time nor pains in the training of his class. The knowledge exhibited in Arithmetic, English Grammar, History and Geography, was very creditable, when the age of the pupils is taken into consideration—the oldest boy not being over thirteen years. The intervals between the examinations of the different classes were filled up with recitations as follows:—

- 'The March of Mind,' by E. Mc'Mahon.
'Patrick Henry in the Convention of Delegates, Virginia,' by W. V. Lynch.
'Salathiel to Titus,' by M. Farrell.
'The Petition of the Wife of Almas Ali Caua Warren Hastings,' by P. Shevelin.
'Hannibal to the Carthaginian Army,' by J. Mc'Donnell; and a dialogue between 'Alexander the Great and Argantium, the Thracian Robber,' by J. Johnson and W. A. Grainger.

These recitations were well received by the audience, and were very well delivered by the youths; and Master Johnson, who represented Alexander the Great, performed his part admirably.

At the close of the examination, the Chairman of the Board, M. Adamson, Esq., distributed a large number of prizes to the different pupils who were considered worthy of them by the teacher.

They were then addressed by some of the Trustees, congratulated on their improvement, and exhorted to persevere in their studies, and lay up for themselves a stock of information whereby they may be enabled to push themselves through life with honor to themselves and credit to their country. After which all separated, highly pleased with the day's proceedings.

The examination of the female school took place on the 5th instant. The school is under the charge of the Ladies of Loretto, and has an average attendance of about one hundred pupils. To say that the school is in an efficient state would convey but a poor idea of what the good Sisters have done, and are doing, for the education and training of the female portion of our children. To be at all able to appreciate their services, the school should be visited; then the order and regularity that obtain there become manifest. There is none of that noise and bustle so disagreeable to visitors, and so frequently witnessed in several of our Common Schools. Every child there knows what she has to do, and goes about it in that quiet, graceful way which is sure to please. The youngest child in the school, at a nod from one of the Sisters, is as silent and as docile as the oldest, and at a given signal will fall into her class with as much precision as a well-drilled veteran.

There was a large attendance of the parents of the pupils present; as were also the Rev. M.

Brennan, our worthy pastor, his curate, and superintendent of the schools, the Rev. John Brennan, and Trustees. The examination, which was a very searching one, was continued from nine A.M., until half-past six o'clock, P.M., with the exception of one hour and a half for dinner and relaxation. Suffice it to say that it was in every particular a success; and that the Catholics of Belleville and its vicinity can congratulate themselves in having schools second to none in this part of the Province for efficiency. The Rev. M. Brennan distributed the prizes to the successful competitors, and dismissed them with a fatherly advice, and his benediction. And thus, Mr. Editor, ended two of the happiest days spent in a long time by

Your very obedient serv't, A VISITOR.

EXAMINATION OF PERTH CATHOLIC SEPARATE SCHOOL.

On Thursday, 13th instant, the children of the Perth Separate School were examined, in presence of a large and respectable attendance of their parents, and other visitors. Among the examiners, we observed the Rev. D. O'Connell, present Catholic Pastor of this town, in the absence of the Very Rev. J. H. McDonagh, V.G., and Mr. M. McNamara, Local Superintendent of the School.

Shortly after the winter examination, the Male and Female Departments were united, and placed under the control of Mr. McCormack. Considering the disadvantages under which he labored in consequence of this change, we must express our surprise at what he has accomplished. Mr. McCormack has certainly discharged his duties well and faithfully, and, judging from the proficiency and discipline shown by his pupils, his exertions have been productive of the most encouraging results to parents and teacher.

As the examination only lasted for a short time, several matters were omitted or cursorily passed over, which, on thorough investigation, might have placed the soundness of the training received in a more advantageous light. In all the principal branches which comprise the ordinary course of instruction pursued in similar schools, the examiners, although extremely severe, were forced to express their pleasure at the promptness and readiness of the answers which their queries elicited.

The classes in Euclid, English Grammar and Geography, were highly creditable, and showed a familiarity with these very important branches rarely observed on similar occasions. The same might with equal justice be remarked of the reading classes; and in drawing attention to them, it is nothing but fair to observe that Mr. McCormack's scholars are in this particular an exception to the general rule, for the distinct accent and agreeably modulated tone with which they read, are a rare treat at Common School examinations.

In Arithmetic and everything else reviewed the progress was well marked, and afforded entire satisfaction.

This time there were no Latin classes, which used to form the principal feature of previous examinations in this School. We have little hesitation in saying that a manifest improvement has been made in this respect, for the study of classics in a majority of cases is profitless, and only serves to frustrate the ends of practical instruction. Now-a-days, when so many of our promising young men are turning their steps from the learned professions to seek for employment in the workshop of the mechanic or behind the counter of the merchant, the teacher's aim should be to impart useful and serviceable knowledge that will afterwards fit his scholars for the humbler and more active pursuits of life.

The Government, having withdrawn the Volunteer Militia from the frontier, are also about to reduce the Police Force, created for special duty in the Eastern Townships, and which has been doing service on the lines for several months under the command of Col. Ermatinger. It is feared this weakening of the civil force in that district may be productive of evil, in ensuring greater immunity to criminals operating from both sides of the Frontier.—Gazette.

THE "GLOBE" AND THE IRISH.—A writer in the Kingston Whig denies an ignorant statement recently made by our city contemporary, that Dr. Russell is an Englishman. The Whig writer says:—"Dr. Russell is no Englishman. He was born and bred in Ireland, and is proud of his country. It was only a few years ago that the Irish of New York entertained him at dinner and welcomed him to America as their distinguished countryman. Dr. Russell has written the best book ever published on Canada, and the Globe at once claims him as an Englishman! But it is always so with the Globe, ever the enemy of Irishmen and everything Irish. When Irishmen distinguish themselves in the Field, in the Senate, or at the Bar, Ireland is sure to be robbed of the honor of being the country of their birth. Let, however, an Irishman be dragged before the Police Court for some crime, committed perhaps while intoxicated, and at once he is gazetted 'Irish.' No mistake is ever made in such a case. If a criminal, the Irish name is stained with the offence; but if honor and glory are his, alas! no ray of them illumines the brow of poor widowed Erin.

LOOK OUT FOR THE CRIMPS.—We read the following article in the Gazette de St. Jov. of last Saturday:—"During the American war some heartless Canadians went through the country enticing and engaging young men under various pretences, whose destination was finally for the U.S. Army. To-day it appears there exists for these miserable creatures another kind of speculation. They are going through the country and engaging families to work at the manufactories in the States. These poor persons seduced by large wages, sell all they have and abandon themselves with confidence to those who engage them. It is by this means that in 10 days nearly fifty families from the Counties of Richelieu and Yamaska had been engaged by a party of the name of the name of Proulx, who has given them a rendezvous at Montreal. Arrived there, they find Proulx has disappeared. Some of these foolish people, nevertheless, continued their journey; but others returned after having waited many days the arrival of Proulx, having spent the little money they had. Some of those who left their country this spring have returned, and report wages a great deal smaller than they had been led to expect, and that, in addition, the prices of necessaries are exorbitant. Many of the returning emigrants consider that it is better to endure hardship in their own than in a foreign land. This result, however, had not the effect of preventing 20 other families from the same place from leaving for the United States. Take care, then, of United States Emigration Agents.

It has been resolved by the Governor General, in Council, to call the Canadian Parliament, for despatch of business, on Tuesday, August the 8th next.

There was a full meeting of the Council at which this decision was arrived at. An Extra of the Canada Gazette has been issued containing the Proclamation.

The arrival of the new Adjutant General, Col. P. L. Macdonnell, (H.P. Royal Canadian Rifles) has been notified in the Canada Gazette.

DEATH OF JUDGE SMART.—We regret to announce to-day the death of His Honour Wm. Smart, Judge of the County Court of the County of Hastings, which event took place at his residence in Belleville on Sunday last. The deceased had only been confined to his bed for two weeks, when death hurried him away.

Remittances in our next.

DISASTROUS ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday evening, about six o'clock, a distressing fatal accident occurred in St. Basile street, Montreal Ward, resulting in the death of a fine little boy, nine years old, eldest child of Mr. T. J. C. Murphy, mail conductor, and severely injuring two younger children of his.—They were playing together in the yard in rear of their dwelling, near a fence behind which a quantity of scum was piled. The supports of the fence were unable to sustain the weight behind it, when it gave way with a sudden crash, the timber striking the poor little fellow beneath it, and killing him almost instantly. The other two are severely though not dangerously injured. The grief of the parents at the loss of so promising a child can be better imagined than described.—Quebec Daily News.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Yesterday afternoon, a young man, named Jacques Beaudry, who resided in La-Charrois street, Montreal Ward, who had been unwell for several days past, expressed some anxiety to see his aunt living in Scott street, and with his mother left for the purpose. After spending some time there he returned, his mother and aunt accompanying him, but when he reached as far as Amable street, on his way home, he suddenly fell down and expired. A coroner's inquest was held and a verdict of "Died from natural causes" returned.—Quebec Daily News, 11th inst.

A ship carpenter, named Sansobgrin, belonging to St. Rochs, suddenly fell down and expired in St. Francois street, on Sunday, while on his way to the Congregation church. Death is supposed to have resulted from disease of the heart. He leaves a wife and several small children to lament his loss.—Id.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Monday afternoon, a laborer named Michael Carroll, working on board a vessel lying at Blais' booms was crushed to death between the ship's side and a piece of timber which was being hauled through the bow port into the hold. Death was almost instantaneous. He belonged to the parish of Laval, where he leaves a wife and family.—Id.

DISCOVERY OF HUMAN REMAINS.—In digging a foundation for erecting a new house on the site of an old dilapidated building at the foot of Begin's hill, Point Levi, just below the lower steamboat landing, on Monday, the workmen exhumed the skeletons of the remains of six human beings buried a few feet below the surface, and yesterday morning four others were discovered. They are supposed to be the remains of Indians buried there in the olden time, perhaps before the white face first set his foot on American soil. That venerable personage, "the oldest inhabitant," has no recollection of the time when this structure was built up. It was lately occupied by Mr. J. B. Pelletier, formerly by Mr. Davis, and the oldest tenant known to have occupied it was one Poire. The Coroner was notified of the finding of the remains.

WARNING TO OWNERS OF DOGS.—The police have received orders to begin poisoning dogs found running about the streets unmuzzled, and after the 20th instant, due warning having been given the owners of these animals to take the usual steps to protect the public against their violence.

Lackworthy's hotel and stables, in Mitchell, were burned to the ground on the morning of the 10th. The inmates narrowly escaped with their lives. Insurance $1,600. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

The sum of $160 in silver was lately stolen from the house of Alfred Patrick, Esq. Daly street, Ottawa, by his servant man. The robber managed to escape with his booty.

In the town of Sarcis, C.W., last week, a large boy whipped the schoolmaster in a regular pugilistic encounter, after which the feminine scholars stole the poor fellow's watch and stripped him of his clothes. Pleasant place for schoolmasters!

Mr. Robert Bailey, an old and respected citizen of Whitby, died on Monday morning last from the effects of injuries received on the previous Saturday, by being thrown out of his buggy.—Whitby Chronicle.

HAY MAKING.—Farmers in this neighborhood have already commenced cutting clover and the timothy will soon be fit for the scythe. The hay crop here is good, and, judging from the favorable accounts from other parts of Canada, there will be an abundance of fodder.—Millen Economist.

THE RAILWAY STATION.—The Station Buildings in this village are rapidly approaching completion, and the Company are pushing the road on to Sandpoint as quickly as possible, and in six weeks from now the string which has been waited so long and so anxiously for will have been accomplished.—The Brockville and Ottawa Railroad will have tapped the Ottawa.—Arnprior Times.

HORSE THIEVES ABROAD.—This description of villains seem to be plying their vocation with unusual energy at present, and are remarkably successful in escaping with their booty. Reports of their visits are received from all directions, and it is quite evident that an extensive and organized gang of expert thieves are operating through the Province. If that numerous corps of detectives employed by government would turn their attention to ferreting out these villains, the enterprise might be interrupted, and a few of the guilty ones brought to justice.—Hamilton Times.

Births.

On the 14 instant, at 56 St. Constant street, the wife of J. A. Raftor, of a son.

At Valleyfield, on the 5th inst., the wife of Mr. Owen O'Reilly, of a daughter.

Married.

At Cornwall, C.W., on Monday, the 17th instant, by the Rev. J. S. O'Connor, P.P., Alexander McGillivray, of Allumette Island, C.E., to Miss Lizzie, daughter of Alexander E. McDonald, Esq., of Cornwall, O.W.

Died.

At Lancaster, on the 8th June, John Dunn, a native of Marlborough, Queen's County, Ireland, aged 75 years. May his soul rest in peace.
