

A CINCII FOR THE DRUGGIST. — Mr. Samuel Jessup died May 17, 1817, at Heckington. He was defendant in a trial for the amount of an apothecary's bill at the Lincoln Assizes. The evidence at the trial gives the following details: In twenty-one years (from 1794 to 1816) he took 226,934 pills, supplied by a respectable apothecary in Bottlesford, which gives an average of 10,806 pills a year, or 29 each day. In the last five years preceeding 1816, he took the pills at the rate of 78 a day, and in the year 1814 swallowed not less than 51,590. "Notwithstanding this," says the Toecin, "and the addition of 40,000 bottles of mixture, besides the julep and electuaries, set out in fifty-five closely written pages of the apothecary's bills, he lived to the age of sixty-five years."

Colorless urine (diabetes), or milky-colored urine, sweat, debility, painless diarrhœa, clear up when Phosphoric acid S is prescribed. Also headache in rapidly growing children; and "growing pains" in children are benefited by the same remedy.
