

THE OTTAWA RIFLE CLUB.

The scores of the Ottawa Rifle Club's weekly practices for 1891, given below, comprise an interesting record of one of the most successful seasons in its history. Spoon competitions were as usual held each Saturday, with the exception of an intermission covering the dates of the Provincial and Dominion rifle meetings, and a number of prizes were offered for the season's aggregates. The list here given shows the aggregate winners in each class, the classification being made in the spring in accordance with the previous record of the competitors. The prizes consisted of the medals of the associations with which the club affiliates, and special prizes offered by the officers.

Spoons, entry for which is optional with those participating in the practices, are offered in each class, the number offered each day depending upon the entries, there generally being two or three in the first class, and one in each of the others. When there are two or more spoons, the first is a dessert and the second a tea spoon. The following table gives a list of the number won by each competitor: -
