This pamphlet contains a list of the trade publications produced by or in co-operation with the Department of External Affairs for importers throughout the world.

These publications showcase the best that Canadian companies have to offer, from cattle breeds to communications systems, from small household items to sophisticated oil-drilling equipment. Those companies interested in investing in Canada can find publications that describe Canada's economic and investment climates, and provide valuable information on doing business with Canada.

The publications listed below are divided by industry sector, with a separate section for investment publications. Unless otherwise indicated, all publications can be obtained by contacting the nearest Canadian foreign mission.

AEROSPACE

Canada's Aerospace Industry: A Capability Guide

The success of Canadian aerospace products is evident by the fact that sales have doubled to $5 billion in the last five years, with more than 80 per cent exports for both commercial and defence applications. This catalogue includes descriptions of more than 75 of Canada's leading aerospace companies who manufacture items from complete aircraft and engines to specialized components like inertial navigation systems, infrared surveillance systems, and hybrid microcircuits.
