

Director of the New Construction Management Marine Branch at Bureau Veritas' head office in Paris.

Author: Pierre Besse graduated from Ecole Central de Paris with a degree in civil engineering and soil mechanics prior to joining Groupe Menard, a company dealing with site engineering in foundation and engineering. He joined Bureau Veritas in 1978 in the offshore technology division, and is responsible for certification of offshore projects, both mobile units and fixed platforms. He is currently Deputy Manager of the Engineering Division of the Offshore Technology Division.