CANADA-UNITED STATES RELATIONS

NEED FOR A REASSESSMENT OF CANADA'S POSITION—DEBATE ADJOURNED

Hon. Ernest C. Manning: Honourable senators, I rise to direct your attention to the need for a reassessment of Canada's position in the matter of Canada-United States relations.

Few other developments in the field of international co-operation will more profoundly influence Canada's future as a sovereign nation than the relationships we establish with the great world power with whom we share most of the land mass of this continent. There is today a growing public awareness that this is so, and that awareness has given rise to no small measure of concern. This concern finds expression in many divergent viewpoints and is not without its controversial aspects. Some honourable senators may not agree with certain conclusions I will seek to express. I present these conclusions and the reasons for them not in the spirit of controversy but in the hope they will contribute something to your own objective assessment. Above all I sincerely hope that our discussion of this vital question will result in a re-examination by the Government of Canada of the course it presently is pursuing in this important area of Canadian foreign policy.

I am particularly pleased that the Government Leader in this chamber is the former Secretary of State for External Affairs, and is therefore eminently qualified to
