

appointment is in many respects an arduous one. A favorable consideration is that in the case of Miss Nicholson the Superior has the advantage of novelty & would probably be more receptive than in some cases, the sum of pleasure and Enterprise helping to carry her through.

I understand from the Registrar that after full consideration he would regard the arrangement quite favorable.

If after consultation you are satisfied I am sure that from the point of view of the Hotel it is the best arrangement in view.

My own view is that an appointment in connection with the Department for Nurses is preferable, the qualification of a nurse being
