

people, 286; no trace of the race of the bush-rangers, foliage, etc., 287; gale, 287; wealth in of pleasure, 294;
to rush to towns 293, 294 (see Rival of the operative tion and transportacity of, 376, 377.

T.
—Mohammedan Cities

mate of, 342; English omes, etc. 342; Maria 342; the Tamar River, ; southward to Hobarand disheartening state of bountifulness of na-number of naturalized land of the South, ndoned harbor of Rio-of the convict settle-xtirpation of the abo-increase of population iron and coal abundant, 345; consumption of s-eating, 345; the land races of convict blood, eter of convict punishony of a Catholic bishop eds of the Pierce-Green-r. Frost at Port Arthur, ystem as viewed in the smanian boilers," 347; cts entering the free col-ages reaped by colonists r, 347; the Australian as convict settlements, e Victorians (and in old ans) to retaliate for the of convicts, 348; Tas-348; and government, he ballot, 349; a ride to ed salmon, 349; the sal-; causing the destruction birds, 350; and has in-ish wasp in the ova, 350; ulight in Tasmania, 351. cairn Island).
the American desert, 106. eir capabilities, 113.
t, the Maori king-maker, and high character, 277; 77; insulted whenever he ish town, 278; his death, d, 239, 240, 242. a).
Convicts).

U.
la). ney," opinions of how it h, men at the New Zealand 11.

Utah, 127; first occupation of, 129; annexed to the Union, 129; theories of annexation, 129; approach of the Pacific Railway, 130; intended to put down Mormonism, 130; the Mormons will not defend their country, but retreat and pioneer the way for further English settlements, 130; the justice or injustice of interference, 132, 133.

V.

VAN DIEMEN'S LAND (see Tasmania).

Vancouver Island (see Pacific).

Victoria (see Rival Colonies), the smallest of our Southern colonies except Tasmania, 295; and the wealthiest, 296; settlement (in 1835) on the site where Melbourne now stands, 296; population of Melbourne, 296; buildings, railroad, income, and debt of Victoria, 296; talent and energy brought in by the rush for gold, 296; public spirit of the people, 296; more English, not more American, than the people of New South Wales, 297; effect of the gold discoveries, 298; discouragement, by the Democrats, of the monopolization of land, 298; population of, now stationary, 298; admirable system of statistics, 298; statistical history of, 299; three staples of, 299; from Melbourne to Kyneton, 299; harvest work in Victoria, 299; the "Thistle Prevention Act," 299; agricultural villages, 299; the towns of Castlemaine and Sandhurst (see Sandhurst), 300; a prairie-fire, 303; the Murray River, 304; its insignificance as a river, 304; but importance to commerce, 304; the "Riverina," 304; territory included in it, 304; nature of productions as shown by the newspapers, 304-306; seasons and climate, 306, 307; plutocracy in, 307 (see Squatter); Upper House of, going into committee on its own constitution, 313; probability of its disappearance, 313; class animosity in, 315; education in, 316, 317; protection to industry in, 321-327.
Victorian Ports — Williamstown, Sandridge, and Geelong, 339; early prospects and present ruinous state of Geelong, 331; riddle of, at Melbourne, 339; fine country round Geelong, 340; wheat and vines of, 340; Ballarat, 340; mining district around, 340; names of places at the mines, a chronological guide to date of settlement, 341; climatic changes, 341.

Vigilance Committees in Western America (see Lynch Law); San Francisco and the Sandwich Islands, 179.

Virginia, approach to, 17; opinions in, respecting the war, 19; rivers and mineral wealth of, 23; in production inferior to poorer states, 23; competition of white and black labor in, 33.

Virginia City, arrival at, 145; an unsatisfactory governor, 146; dancing-rooms, 147; substitution for ladies, 147; peculiarities of climate, 147; whisky-shops, 148; Artemus Ward's opinion of, 148.

Virginian twilight and scenery, 21.

W.

WASHINGTON, first view of, 40.

Washoe, in Nevada, its reputation, 146.

Wellington, 232, 233; fruit and flowers of, 233; cattle-branding with an old college friend, 233.

West (America), future capital of 80; empire, setting toward the, 83-85; plains of the, 85; men and women of, their dignity, etc. 141; power of sheriff in, 176; qualifications for a sheriff, 176.

West Honduras, 220.

Western States (of America) growing more English, while the Atlantic States are falling into the hands of the Irish, 42, 43; Western perception of the dangers from Irish preponderance on the Atlantic seaboard, 43; wideness of Western thought, 83; advantages of the Western over the Eastern States, 84; Western objection to greenbacks, 149; agreement to accept forged notes if well done, 149; fancy for classical names, 161; honesty, 185.

Western editors, 117; Connor, a Fenian editor of the Union Vedette, 117; his denunciation of Mormonism, 117; an editor's room in Denver, 125; influence of Connor, 125; "wasp-like" pertinacity of the Vedette, 127; injury done by it to liberty of thought throughout the world, 127; editors in America as a rule foreigners, and mostly Irishmen, 148; editorial inquiry for "Tennyson and Thomas T. Carlyle," 148; murder of James King, 173; an editor's story, 176.

Williamstown (see Victorian Ports).

Winthrop, Governor, founder of Plymouth, Mass., 17.

Wisconsin (see Norwegian).

Wolf, a white, 91.

Woman, in Victoria, 336; female suffrage, 336; social position of, bad both in England and Australia, 336; superiority of, in Western States of America, 337; a Kansas argument for woman's rights, 337; disproportion of the sexes in the Australian colonies, 337; the American Sewing Clubs during the war, 337; woman's place among the British section of the Teutonic race, 338, 339; want of, in young countries, 358, 359; Irish work-house girls sent to the colonies, 359, 360; their bad character and influence, 360.

Y.

YORATOWN, ancient memories of, 17.

THE END.

AA 2