

I.—HISTORY EARLY

Few interests of the United States they have had found to be the men, such as seafarers of the sea civilization. Explorers had reaped. In plowed to the *More than fifty years ago the Tucket Inquirer, and needed for material for material came to him able to satisfactorily

In the preface to his book Enzo Sabine says: "In writing a work of the purpose. My intention. But increasing cares

The difficulties in the lapse of years. New valuable aids in the process who, when living, them at so many centers is desired to describe ultimately, in the form of the whale-fishery destruction of customs, glish control, and venal house papers. In other been destroyed by fire decay have obliterated

About eighteen months ago the Fish and Fisheries,