over the Humber at Bloor street and a new roadway to meet the Dundas road at Cooksville has been well received as one of the projects for the future development of Greater Toronto which must be undertaken immediately after the war. The pro-posed bridge and highway, besides linking up the two great, phoneer highways constructed by Governor Simcoe across the province from east to west, opens up a valuable tract of land well suited for sub-division purposes, and would give a much needed new entrance to Toronto from the west.

CLAIM HE REGISTERED UNDER A FALSE NAME

Facing the charge of having registered under a false name, Chas. H. Garner appeared yesterday before Magistrate Kingsford in the police court. Staff-Sergeant McKinney stated that the accused had a properly filled out registration card at home, but carried the false one with him. Claim was also made that the accused had failed to notify the M.S.A. registrar when he changed his address. He was handed over to the military authorities and the case remanded.

-BUY ANOTHER FOR GRADING SITES

Unevenness of Land to Compel Big School Expenditure.

Thousands of dollars have to be Home Smith yesterday told a World reporter that if Toronto is to grow it must have a new western entrance. The east was already well supplied in this connection. As it was, the Lake Shore road was the only decent road entering Toronto from the west. The World's proposed extension of Bloor street to Cooksville would give a road, unlike Dundas street, free from heavy grades. It might be some time before the work was commenced, but the present was an opportune time to advocate it.

Expended for grading school sites owing to the unevenness of some of the land, was explained by Superintendent Bishop at the inquiry into the building department of the board of education yesterday. For example, Williamson road site, purchased from A. E. Ames, required an enormous amount of grading, the leveling of mounds 14 feet high and filling in of hollows 20 feet deep, and the construction of safe level playgrounds under such circumstances was extremely costly. Home Smith yesterday told a World expended for grading school sites

Mr. Smith said, the cost was comparatively small. The land company he was interested in had already dedicated sufficient land to provide for the widening of Bloor street to 100 feet and extending it across the Humber into Etobicoke, so that in the event of the work being undertaken there would be thousands of dollars saved in land damages.

LIQUOR QUESTION AGAIN IN POLITICS

Appointment of New Government Vendor Not Commissioners' Choice.

PREMIER MAKES DENIAL

Sir William Hearst Says Government Did Not Interfere.

The transfer of one of the two valuable liquor vendors' licenses, as announced in yesterday's World, came as a hig surprise, particularly as it was generally understood that the board of license commissioners had agreed that should any change be agreed that should any change be made or any new licenses created, in answer to public demand, a former well-known storekeeper, with years of experience in the business and an unblemished record, would receive the valuable concession. That he did not receive it, is because, so common talk has it, he was persona non grata with the government. He was one of those who supported Hartley Dewart and was told by one of the Toronto members of the legislature, because of that he would never receive the appointment. In the light of what has occurred the Toronto member seems to have made good his boast and to have had a man appointed who was not the choice of the license commissioners.

Sir William Hearst, premier of On-Sir William Hearst, premier of Ontario, yesterday afternoon made the following statement: "The granting of vendors' licenses is under the absolute control of the license board, independent entirely of the government. And the government has never, directly or indirectly, interfered with or attempted to influence the board in the matter. Any statement to the contrary is without the slightest foundation."
