C. H. Cahan of Montreal Tells Empire Club of Danger Confronting Country.

An address of extraordinary power and interest was given by C. H. Cahan, K.C., of Montreal, to the Empire Club yesterday on the spread of Bolshevism and Bolshevistic ideas in Canada. A motion was carried to have the address printed immediately for general circulation, as well as being included in the club's transac-

After a long period of waiting, and a still longer period of litigation, Justice Middleton, yesterday issued his done by this province and this city. Whether English or French, whether Catholic or Protestant, they had all one view in Montreal about that, and he added that there was not one leading family, English or French, which had not siven its sons in the war. He himself had felt it to be his duty to support the Unionist government and had contested a seat sgainst Hon. Mr. Lemieux. He had himself given four boys of his family, all broken and crippled now.

"And yet he gave his only son and no greater sacrifice could have been made." This was not his speech, he remarked, but it had been called out by the remarks of his friends.

"But for God's sake," he exclaimed made for the sake of Canada, let us put aside our petty blokerings. Let us realize that both sides his given of their best."

Mr. Cahan traced the development of revolutionary propaganda in Canada from the time that the Germans began to take Canada's contribution to the war seriously. They had not counted upon that, and he attributed to commission and he states hat the time that the command of the propagation of the states hat the time that the command of figuring the other company during the hearing that their liabilities to the contentions of the Hydrogological propagation of the war seriously. They had not content on our to prove the power supplied, but is lordening the meeting that was untable to attend.

In opening the meeting, Ald MacGregor stated that he wanted to make one plut to the watting, and a still longer period of litigation, Justice Middleton, yesterday issued his budgment in the actions brought by the content one brought to make one point of the watting, and at the city could and the watting had the to atte In acknowledging the introductory Bolsheviki Leadership.

Mr. Cahan does not underestimate the ability of the Bolshevik leaders. "During the past year large sums of money have been sent from Russia and even from England, for carrying on this propaganda in the United States and in Canada," said he. "I have personally conversed at length with one of the most active foreign with one of the most active foreign leaders of the Bolsheviki propaganda in Canada: and I found him one of the most adroit and subtle minds that

YOUTHS BEAT BOY ON HEAD WITH IRON BAR

Attempt to Rob Young Driver of Employer's Money Ends in Prison Sentences for Old Offenders.

Charged with assaulting Arthur Bullin, a young boy, driver for J. A. Macdonald, Spencer avenue, Charles Dewsbury and Martin Henry, two youths, were sentenced, the former to 15 months and the latter to 18 months at the jail farm by Magistrate Denison in yesterday's police court.

The two had lain in wait in a shed for four hours until Bullin came when he was pounced upon and beaten over the head with iron bars. It apparently had been their intention to rob him of $31 of his employer's money. Both prisoners have been at Mimico.
