

FOR SALE

M.R. COB. SHUTER & VICTORIA STS. Well constructed garage with elevator and gasline tank. Two floors, 46' x 116' to Victoria St.

H. H. WILLIAMS & CO., Main 5480. 38 King Street East.

PROBS: Moderate to fresh westerly to northerly winds; a few light snowfalls.

The Toronto Star

TUESDAY MORNING DECEMBER 2, 1919.

39TH YEAR—ISSUE NO. 14,265 TWO CENTS

UNDERWATERWAY TO GREAT LAKES, NEXT GREAT WORK

Is Canada's Big National Enterprise Awaiting Federal Action. Special to The Toronto World. Ottawa, Dec. 1.—Canada's next great national enterprise is the development work on the St. Lawrence from Montreal to Morrisburg to make a 30-foot waterway from tide water to the head of the lakes and to provide an additional three million electrical horsepower.

The scheme provides for four canals to be located near Morrisburg, near Cornwall, at the foot of Lake St. Francis, and below the Lachine rapids. The first two canals are to be between Ontario and New York state and the latter two in the Province of Quebec. From these dams, it is estimated there are to be developed at least a minimum of 3,000,000 horse power based on a twenty-four-hour service. In the appropriation of this power there are four interested groups: New York state, Ontario, Quebec and the companies at present developing and supplying power from present sources in this stretch of the St. Lawrence. Intimately associated with the power scheme is the canalization of this portion of the St. Lawrence route.

The dams will make the necessary deep water channel between them, but will require locks of a size equal to those being constructed at the Welland Canal and also near Montreal—a new and very expensive system. The cost of the canalization must be apportioned between Canada and the States, and one question to be decided is the financial responsibility of the United States, whether it will be confined to the international waters or extended to comprise the whole system. Much preliminary work on levels, surveys and soundings has been done, but no definite estimate has yet been made. In addition to international, inter-provincial and inter-territorial negotiations and surveys can be undertaken. The theme is both international and inter-provincial and in addition to these complications conflicts with enormous corporate power interests. To satisfy the conflicting interests of Ontario and Quebec will be even more difficult and to eliminate private interests will require careful and tactful negotiation.

Develop 3,000,000 Horse-Power. The scheme provides for four canals to be located near Morrisburg, near Cornwall, at the foot of Lake St. Francis, and below the Lachine rapids. The first two canals are to be between Ontario and New York state and the latter two in the Province of Quebec. From these dams, it is estimated there are to be developed at least a minimum of 3,000,000 horse power based on a twenty-four-hour service. In the appropriation of this power there are four interested groups: New York state, Ontario, Quebec and the companies at present developing and supplying power from present sources in this stretch of the St. Lawrence. Intimately associated with the power scheme is the canalization of this portion of the St. Lawrence route.

The dams will make the necessary deep water channel between them, but will require locks of a size equal to those being constructed at the Welland Canal and also near Montreal—a new and very expensive system. The cost of the canalization must be apportioned between Canada and the States, and one question to be decided is the financial responsibility of the United States, whether it will be confined to the international waters or extended to comprise the whole system. Much preliminary work on levels, surveys and soundings has been done, but no definite estimate has yet been made. In addition to international, inter-provincial and inter-territorial negotiations and surveys can be undertaken. The theme is both international and inter-provincial and in addition to these complications conflicts with enormous corporate power interests. To satisfy the conflicting interests of Ontario and Quebec will be even more difficult and to eliminate private interests will require careful and tactful negotiation.

5000 Pounds Reward Offered For Irish Policemen's Slayers

Dublin, Dec. 1.—The vicerey has offered a reward of 5000 pounds sterling for evidence which would lead to the conviction of the persons guilty of the recent killing of policemen.

NOT VACCINATION, BUT BLOOD POISON

Streptococci in Throat Responsible for Death, is Inquest Verdict. That Alfred George died at St. Michael's Hospital on Nov. 22 as a result of hemorrhage of the brain, caused by blood poisoning, due to a streptococcal germ found in the throat, was the verdict rendered at the inquest held at the morgue last night.

The inquest was held primarily at the instigation of the parents, who were of the opinion that vaccination had been the cause of the death, as he had been vaccinated about two weeks previously. The summary of evidence, however, indicated that while vaccination may have been a contributory factor to the appearance of the disease, it was not responsible for the death of the boy and could not have developed similar conditions in an ordinary person. The evidence of medical practitioners showed that the condition of the boy was constitutional and there was nothing to indicate that defective vaccine or negligence in administering it was responsible.

While four doctors were unable to diagnose the origin of the toxemia, Dr. Julian Leeson, who conducted the autopsy, stated that the condition he found indicated that it had been caused by a toxic infection. Dr. Leeson assisted in the autopsy, stated that in examining a portion of the vaccination scar he had found a streptococcal germ. He contributed to the cause of death, Dr. Robinson, who was called to the death of the boy and could not have developed similar conditions in an ordinary person. The evidence of medical practitioners showed that the condition of the boy was constitutional and there was nothing to indicate that defective vaccine or negligence in administering it was responsible.

U.S. GOVERNMENT IMPOSES WAR TIME RESTRICTIONS ON USERS OF SOFT COAL

Seeks No Compromise With Striking Miners, But Asks National Co-operation in Enduring Discomfort Till Mining Resumed—Means Widespread Cessation of Industrial Operations. Washington, Dec. 1.—War-time restrictions on the nation's use of coal, more stringent even than those applied during the war were ordered to effect today to stave off a fuel famine. Moved by reports of damming coal stocks and growing danger of distress in numerous sections, the government sought to compromise with striking mine workers, whose walk-out forced the emergency, but asking for national determination to endure privation and discomfort until coal mining was resumed on its terms.

The order, which made these restrictions already put into local effect by regional coal committees where the pinch of fuel shortage had been felt, cuts off supplies from all but transportation agencies, which include inland and coastwise shipping, as well as railroads, federal and local government institutions and establishments, including concerns working on government contracts; public utilities, including newspapers, and retail dealers. Railroad administration officials contended that it meant widespread cessation of industrial operations, only justified by the gravity of the situation. Officials were hopeful that the advantages would result in getting some of the men back to work, especially in view of the fact that coal operators generally are willing to accept the offer. But at the same time it was said that a period of several days would be required before the effect of this could be determined.

Both Sides Making Time. Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 1.—The strike of bituminous coal miners entered its second week today. The controversy apparently awaiting some move on the part of others. Mine workers' headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America, and no action looking toward a compromise. (Continued on Page 4, Column 4).

WELSH MINERS WILL NOT STRIKE

Cardiff, Wales, Dec. 1.—At a coal miners' conference here today it was decided not to take any action on a ballot by the miners favoring a strike in order to resist the payment of an income tax on incomes below two hundred and fifty pounds sterling annually pending a national conference, which will be asked to ballot for the whole country on the question.

KING OF ITALY OPENS PARLIAMENT

Says Aspirations in the Adriatic Do Not Cloak Any Military Design. Rome, Dec. 1.—King Victor Emmanuel addressed the representatives of the people for the first time since the war ended, when the twenty-fifth parliamentary legislature opened this morning. All the streets thronged with troops from the garrison, including artillery, behind which the people were crowded. At the Palazzo Montecitorio the king was awaited by 500 senators and deputies, the diplomatic body, high state officials and a distinguished assembly of guests. The door by which they entered was decorated with a rich canopy surmounted by the royal crown, while the grand stairway was transformed into a bower of flowers. Queen Helena received a most enthusiastic welcome from the royal princesses and their suites she proceeded immediately to the royal box. A few minutes later King Victor Emmanuel entered the chamber of deputies, and the king's military and civil householders, the whole house, with the exception of the socialist deputies, stood applauding the king. The socialists, however, remained seated. Finally, when the applause ceased, all the socialists rose, crying "Long live socialism!" and slowly left the hall. The other deputies then drew away from the demonstration, while the women waved their handkerchiefs. The king bowed first to Queen Helena, and then to the members of parliament, and finally sat on the throne. Francesco Nitti, the premier, invited the assembly to sit after which he administered the oath to the new deputies. Then the king, in a firm, sonorous voice, read the speech from the throne. The king's address was received enthusiastically. He left the parliament. (Continued on Page 4, Column 6).

CALL PARLIAMENT DURING FEBRUARY

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—It is now believed to be practically certain that parliament will not meet in regular session before the month of February. While the various government departments are engaged in the preparation of the estimates for the next fiscal year no consideration has as yet been given to the legislative program. The necessity of allowing the contractors and architects some extra time in which to make ready the new parliamentary buildings will be a contributing factor to the delay in calling parliament, but it is thought that the month which will be allowed for this purpose has already been saved by the putting thru of the Grand Trunk, prohibition and other important legislation before the prorogation of the recent session. The duration of the session will depend in a large measure on whether or not a Dominion elections bill is introduced. Should these two important items be left over, as is quite probable, it is thought that the next session should not last more than three months.

BOARD OF TRADE TO SHOW HAND IN C.N.R. HEADQUARTERS ACTION

Lieutenant-Governor Clarke, Vice-President Marriott and Ex-President Bogert, of the Board of Trade, Besides Other Business Leaders, Make Known Their Cordial Sympathy With Campaign That Must Be Launched to Ensure Toronto's Transportation Primacy. The profound reserve that has brooded over the board of trade with regard to retaining the headquarters of the Canadian National Railways in Toronto, when the Grand Trunk system is absorbed, is likely to be broken today according to Vice-President Marriott, who was acting-president yesterday in the absence from the city of Mr. K. J. Dunstan. Marriott told The World that the board had been busy and intimated that it would become busier in drawing into a united effort all the Toronto and Ontario interests concerned—and Mr. Marriott spread out his arms and symbolically drew them all in. Of course, said Mr. Marriott, there can be no question as to the desirability from a national point of view, and from the point of view of the local point of view, of clinching Toronto's position as the transportation capital of Canada, and the quiet policy hitherto followed must speedily be replaced by the most open procedure. Montreal was busy and ambitious to draw away from Toronto her present financial and commercial eminence. Montrealers would like to have our banks and other institutions, but with all the goodwill that human nature could carry, Toronto must see that it is not being pointed, and the board of trade naturally would show its hand. The president of the board of trade, Mr. Bogert, general manager of the Dominion Bank, spoke to The World with equal enthusiasm about the campaign for Toronto and Ontario. Of course, he would no more say anything in his capacity as president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, than Sir Edmund Osler, the president of the Dominion Bank, could speak for the C. P. R., or which he is a director. But, as a Toronto citizen, Mr. Bogert is all the way for the headquarters campaign. Ex-President Bogert's Enthusiasm. To the present situation his answer is the same as it was when there was talk of moving to Montreal the head offices of the National Railways when the Toronto and Northern was taken over—always on the understanding that the economic advantages are with C. N. R. (Continued on Page 6, Column 5).

COACHES MASSES FOR STREET LINE; WOMEN'S READY

Work to Be Executed With Funds Voted for Mount Pleasant Line. The board of control's recommendation that the city council at their meeting yesterday pass a resolution that the commissioner of works be instructed to proceed with the permanent floor street railway tracks between Quebec avenue and Runnymede road, and that the cost be taken from the unexpended balance of moneys voted for the Mount Pleasant line, was passed unanimously. The mayor, in speaking to the motion declared both the Bloor street and Mount Pleasant lines were immediate public necessities. They had been hung up too long already, and he had a great hope that both of them would be well on their way. There was no reason to wait six weeks for tenders, and he believed Mr. Harris could start construction almost at once. Controller McBride was against mixing up Bloor street and Mount Pleasant lines. The resolution before the council, he stated, had nothing to do with Mount Pleasant. Ald. Beamish protested against the Mount Pleasant money for the Bloor street extension, and asked Controller McBride to see that the money was not used for the Bloor street line. Controller Maguire said the solicitor had reported that the money could be used for the Bloor street line, but he had a doubt in his own mind. He considered the resolution was passed by the council, the money for the Bloor street line could be found tomorrow morning. The officials of the council must not be allowed to dictate the policy of the council. They had been against the Bloor street line, but now they were in a rich canopy, and they were built at once, and to see that the officials of the council obeyed their instructions. The council had instructed the commissioner of works to proceed immediately to the royal box. A few minutes later King Victor Emmanuel entered the chamber of deputies, and the king's military and civil householders, the whole house, with the exception of the socialist deputies, stood applauding the king. The socialists, however, remained seated. Finally, when the applause ceased, all the socialists rose, crying "Long live socialism!" and slowly left the hall. The other deputies then drew away from the demonstration, while the women waved their handkerchiefs. The king bowed first to Queen Helena, and then to the members of parliament, and finally sat on the throne. Francesco Nitti, the premier, invited the assembly to sit after which he administered the oath to the new deputies. Then the king, in a firm, sonorous voice, read the speech from the throne. The king's address was received enthusiastically. He left the parliament. (Continued on Page 4, Column 5).

VILLA WIPES OUT ENTIRE REGIMENT TO AVENGE ANGEES

With Thousand Men He Falls Upon Federal Force and Leaves Only Two Alive. El Paso, Texas, Dec. 1.—Fighting like madmen to avenge the death of Felipe Angeles, 1,000 soldiers under command of Francisco Villa, fell upon the 18th regiment of the federal army, 676 men, at Rancho Espejo, 21 miles north of Santa Rosalia, Chihuahua, Thursday, November 28, at 6 o'clock, exactly 24 hours after the Chapultepec officer had been shot down by a firing squad in Chihuahua City and massacred all but two members of the regiment. Such was the word brought to El Paso tonight by Dr. L. M. Gomez of this city and Los Angeles, an American citizen who fought for 18 months as an aviator with the American army in France. Following the arrest of Angeles, Gomez, in behalf of friends on this side of the line went to Chihuahua to intercede for him. He was with him all night and up to 6:55 o'clock when Angeles was executed, and also attended his funeral. On going to Santa Rosalia, 360 kilometers south of Chihuahua, he learned the story of the massacre, which, he declared, had been conspired by the Carranza authorities. He left there on his return trip Sunday morning. The account of the fight he heard from Col. Rivas and Lieut. Col. Marroquin, as they related it to a mutual friend in Santa Rosalia. These two officers are the only men who escaped. Gen. Santos Gomez, the chief, was missing when Santos left Santa Rosalia, and there was little doubt that he had been killed.

LIBERAL GATHERING IN CITY OF OTTAWA

Delegates From All Provinces—Discuss Opening Office in Capital. Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 1.—The decision to provide for the opening of an office in the capital, with a general secretary here to keep in touch daily with all parts of the Dominion and act as a co-ordinating influence between the various provincial organizations, was the chief outcome of today's meeting of the national organization committee of the Liberal party, which met in the offices of Hon. J. G. Maclean. The committee is composed of delegates from every province, and some twenty-five prominent Liberals took part in the discussions. A unanimous journalment of the afternoon meeting several delegates on leaving the room stated that there had been full unanimity also that the meeting had been plenty of enthusiasm for the carrying out of the plans of organization. The memorandum submitted at the National Liberal convention in August last, and which resulted in the present office in Ottawa, under the supervision of a national organizer with his general secretary and the necessary staff. This office was to be a sort of clearing house; not interfering in any way with the control of provincial affairs, but bringing all provincial organizations into harmony with one another and at the same time working out a policy of education of the people to the ideas of liberalism thru the medium of the platform and the press. Delegates in Full Accord. Discussion at both sessions today was on the material contained in the memorandum, and it was stated at the conclusion of the meetings that the delegates from all parts of the Dominion were in full accord on the subject. (Continued on Page 2, Column 6).

REV. SALEM BLAND RETAINS CHURCH TO BE CONTINUED IN PASORATE FOR ONE CONFERENCE YEAR.

Rev. Salem Bland has been continued in his pastorate as pastor for one more conference year by a vote of the Quarterly Methodist Conference, held at Broadway Tabernacle, corner of Spadina and College streets, last night. It was also decided to pay all salaries up to date as far as funds will permit, and to make a special appeal to the congregation to make offering for this purpose. The dispute concerning Mr. Bland's continuance in his pastorate, after his appearance on Labor platforms, has been hard-fought, and a decision was only arrived at after six and one-half hours of argument. The conference year ends on June 30.

U.S. GOVERNMENT IS NOT BLUFFING

Note to Carranza, in Jenkins Case, Couched in Unusually Sharp Language. Washington, Dec. 1.—The government note to Mexico, made public here, which has drawn away from the immediate release of William O. Jenkins, American consular agent imprisoned in the largest city in Mexico, charges Carranza with attempting to belaud the issue. In the sharpest language yet addressed to the Carranza government, and probably more pointed than one government usually addresses to another in a formal diplomatic communication, the note says that Carranza's plea of judicial reasons for not releasing Jenkins as "mere excuses," and gives notice that it will not be drawn away from the main facts and into a discussion of "irrelevant and unimportant matters." The attitude of the Carranza government, in the matter, the note says has been to "assume a wilful indifference to the feelings of the American people," and the conclusion drawn by the government is that Carranza is sought to divert the attention of the American people and the Mexican people, as well as from the fact that Carranza is the largest city in Mexico, is overrun by bandits while the civil authorities are negligent. No ultimatum was served, and no time was given in which the Carranza government expects Jenkins to be released, and neither was there any statement in the note as to what the course of the American government would be if the renewed request for his release is denied. Mexican Papers Intervene. New York, Dec. 1.—The Associated Press has received the following message from representative newspapers of Mexico: "The undersigned representatives of the most important newspapers of the Republic of Mexico are well aware of the possibility of a rupture in the relations between the United States and Mexico. We believe that such a rupture would be a disaster to both countries, and we believe that the only way to avoid it is by the immediate release of Mr. Jenkins. We believe that the only way to avoid it is by the immediate release of Mr. Jenkins. We believe that the only way to avoid it is by the immediate release of Mr. Jenkins." (Continued on Page 4, Column 5).

ARMENIAN REGIMENTS DISARMED AND SHOT

London, Dec. 1.—A despatch to the Russian liberation committee from Ruston-on-Don reports that two Armenian regiments, fighting on the side of the whites, have been disarmed and shot. The despatch says the list of killed lists three pages in the newspaper Ivestia. The communication is signed by the commissary of the Turkistan soviet. HONOR GEN. A. E. ROSS Kingston, Ont., Dec. 1.—(Special)—Queen's Alma Mater Society elected Brigadier-General A. E. Ross as rector of the university by acclamation.

FARMER TO LEUT. GOV. CLARKE HOME TRUTHS ON HIGH POST

Old Farmer Offers to King's Representative Some Ideas Held in U.F.O. Circles About Usefulness of His Office Which Society Regards as Its Perquisite, as Cooks in Baronial Kitchens Did Fur, Fat and Feathers. An old farmer, who has been closely in touch with U.F.O. sentiment, came to the World yesterday with his ideas about changes in the Lieutenant-Governor's office, which, put into shape, are something like this: "I see what new lieutenant-governor of Ontario is being sworn in today. It's pretty hard to make out this government business. Mr. Clarke is a first-rate man, and popular, and everybody wishes him well. But there is more than the popularity of a good Toronto man in the situation, from the farmer's point of view. We mostly hear about the cost of a governor's house, and how many thousand dollars' worth of coal it takes to keep a family warm one winter at the public expense. I was surprised to see the other day that Premier Durney said Mr. Clarke's appointment was complete surprise to the government, that had had no time to consider what to do about the governorship. Contrasted With King's Way. "That strikes me as a very funny thing. It is supposed to be a democratic country, and Ontario a self-governing province. Self-government means that you don't have anything loaded on you that you don't want, without your knowledge or consent. It has been told that the present governor-general of Canada is appointed by

FOR SALE BUSINESS SITE, QUEEN ST. EAST, NEAR YONGE ST.

46' 0" x 115' to lane, together with 5-room all-constructed building adjoining, 29' x 115'. H. H. WILLIAMS & CO., 38 King Street East, Main 5480.

LAKE SHIPPING WEATHERED SATURDAY NIGHT STORM

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., Dec. 1.—All shipping in the upper lake region weathered Saturday night's storm in sheltered harbors reports reaching here up to tonight indicated. A blinding snow storm and continued high winds today held a number of the vessels at Detroit and other points where they put in Saturday. Four more ice-encased bodies, believed to be those of sailors who went down with the steamer Myron, were picked up today off Salt Point, in White Fish Bay. They will be brought overland tomorrow for identification.

Attack Councillors Who Favored Changing City Name Back to Berlin—W. D. Euler, M.P., is Knocked Unconscious.

Special to The Toronto World. Kitchener, Dec. 1.—Mob rule prevailed here tonight following the hysterical council meeting at which the name question was forever put on the shelf. Ald. Bitzer, to whom was attributed the starting of the agitation, was made to kiss the Union Jack and subsequently torn from the hands of P. C. Blevins and rushed to the jail in Victoria Park and ducked four times. The opposition alderman was sicked around by the mob and dragged given his liberty. The row started in the council chamber following the turning down of the clause to submit a plebiscite on the name in question. Ald. Bitzer and Bowman, knowing the temper of the mob in the chamber, stayed in the committee room, refusing to come into the meeting and vote. M. P. Attacked. Later in the evening the mob proceeded to the Lancaster Club and breaking their way in, seized W. D. Euler, M.P., whom they took over to the G.W.V.A. club rooms. They demanded that he kiss the Union Jack and apologize to the returned soldiers. Mr. Euler refused and was forthwith severely beaten, being knocked senseless. When the row had somewhat subsided he was taken out by Capt. B. A. McIntosh, who had taken to protect Euler from the mob. He was still unconscious when taken from the club and the extent of his injuries is not known. Drag Out Two Aldermen. As soon as the aldermen unanimously turned down the plebiscite clause a portion of the mob invaded the committee room and dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him. The mob then proceeded from the council chamber and rushed to the G.W.V.A. hall, where he was made to kiss the flag. A Union Jack was planned to be torn and he was marched from the building. Duck Bitzer—Wreck Paper Office. P. C. Blevins then got hold of the mob to protect him. He was dragged to safety. The mob rushed the policeman and took Bitzer and later ducked him in the lake. Upon the return from the park, the mob dragged Ald. Bowman and Amussen into the council chamber. They were struck a few blows in the face, while the mob demanded them to sign on the name of the plebiscite, during their attempt to support it. The police interfered at this point and succeeded in getting Ald. Bowman, who had practised his escape, away from the mob. He was placed in a cell and special guard put on to protect him.