POSSIBLY BURIED ALIVE! London, Jan. 4.-A special dispatch from Warsaw says that a painful sensation has been caused there by the alleged burying alive of a prominent society woman, the Countess Helena, who died on Dec. 25, and who was interred on the following day. Persist-ent rumors were circulated that the countess was not dead, but merely in a state of catalepsy, and the family, in order to prove this statement baseless, had the body exhumed yesterday, when it was found that it did not bear the appearance of a corpse, and that Two Skaters Rescued From Drowning there was no sign of putrefaction. Dr. Scott, the physician at Holloway jail formally testified to the death from consumption of Frederick Kast, a groom, who was also one of the defendants. The physician said that the whole time Kast was in charge, the prisoner was not fit to be cross-examined as a witness. FRENCH ELECTIONS. Paris, Jan. 4.-The official return of the results of elections held yesterday to replace one-third of the members of the Senate, whose terms are expiring, shows that 69 Republicans, 13 Radicals, 3 Socialist-Radicals, and 12 Reactionists have been elected. Most of the newspapers agree in say ing that the result will not modify the policy of the Senate.

THE CZAR'S WARNING. Constantinople, Jan. 4,-The Czar has sent a message to the Sultan recommending him to most seriously consider the remonstrances and advice of the great powers regarding the reforms necessary for the empire, and forms necessary for the empire, and adding that if he does not do so he will expose himself to the gravest control of the gravest control sequences. The Czar further says that the Sultan's acceptance of this advice is an indispensable condition to the integrity of his empire and the continuance of peace.

Food for Eight Days. Paris, Jan. 4 .- A short time before Christmas Mrs. D. A. Hogarth and family left town for a few days' visit with friends near Woodstock. Mr. was expected to join them in a day or so, and he was supposed by his neighbors to have done so until Mrs. Hogarth, not having seen or heard of her husband, returned, and found him lying in bed, where he had been for eight days without food or water, and utterly unable to move or help himself in any way.

Mr. Hogarth's illness was caused by the bursting of a tumor in the stomach, which was so bad that whenever he attempted to rise he fell back in a faint. He is now doing as well as can be expected, and hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Extraordinary Bequest by an Old Lady in a London Workhouse. London, Jan. 4.-At the Scarborough of Bowmar's sawmill, near Tazewell, that an old lady who died a few days Tenn., exploded yesterday. Jane Neal ago had left all her worldly goods, including f112 and a gold watch, to the guardians, who, she said, had been her best friends. Two years ago she paid the guardians £75 to pay out to her 7s per week. Previous to that she was receiving relief, and had received altogether £85. The old lady has ciding whether to accept the property or not. The deceased made Mr.Smailes. the relieving officer, the sole executor, and before her death, when he spoke to her about her nieces, she said, "What relatives I have are nothing to me. The guardians have been very good to me, and are going to get everything that is left."

LEGAL ROMANCE.

A Law Clerk Supected of Embezzlement -Given His Choice of Exile or the Dock. London, Jan. 4.-Some four or five years ago a certain well-known and immensely popular managing clerk to a very distinguished firm of solicitors the petty cash account amounted to something like £250 to £300. There was no reason for suspecting the managing clerk; on the contrary, the most him, and people were astounded, therefore, when it was found that the petty cash did not balance to within £80 and some odd shillings. The clerk vehemently protested his innocence, but there was no satisfactory explanation forthcoming, and although the firm were loath to prosecute, they could not, of course, entirely overlook the matter. Accordingly the employe was given the alternative of the dock or retirement from the land of his birth. He chose the latter, and with the assistance of a few remaining friends betook himself to Canada, and the last that was heard of the poor fellow was that he was working "on the rail way" out West. Now for the sequel, and it is here that the strangeness and romance of the story come in. The firm of solicitors still flourishes, and a few weeks ago they had occasion to search an old deed box for some papers which had been prepared about the time the managing clerk was declared a de-faulter. In doing so, there was discovered a deed which bore an £80 stamp, and which it has been further discovered was never entered in gineer, and Wm. Aylott, a valet, was stamped was easily overlooked. It was resumed this morning. Lady Scott at once apparent that the missing £80
