BRITISH PRINCESS DECORATES HERO

LONDON LIBERALS CHOOSE ROBSON AS CANDIDATE

President of Reform Club Giv en Monster Ovation As Candidate-Is Out To Destroy One-Man Rule Here-Beck a Menace to Province, Says T. H. Purdom.

Andrew Robson, president of the Liberal Club for the past two years, was the unanimous choice of a Liberal convention last night to contest the seat of London in the coming provincial election.

The tremendous enthusiasm with which the decision was greeted by the crowded meeting in Hyman Hall gave promise of his receiving such support at the polls as would without doubt make him the next member for the city. The candidate is a popular and capable man. Although he has never held any public office, his work during his two years' presidency of the Liberal Club is regarded as sufficient proof of his capability as a legislator. He is a contractor. His birthplace was in Lobo Township, but he has been a resident of the city many years.

Most Enthusiastic Meeting.

The unanimous indorsement of his candidature was the close of the most enthusiastic political meeting which London has seen since pre-war days. There was no lack of candidates suggested, any one of whom would have received hearty support had he or she decided to stay in the field.

Mr. Robson's name was the first one placed before the meeting. He was nominated by F. G.

ACTION FOR DAMAGES TO CARRY LIBERAL STANDARD TO VICTORY DISMISSED BY JUDGE

Mrs. Margaret Sullivan Loses Case in the St. Thomas Court.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Thomas, Sept. 30.—One of the peculiar cases in years was heard day before Mr. Justice Lennox and a jury at the fall sitting of the supreme court. It was an action for damages of no stated amount brought by Mrs. Margaret Sullivan of Detroit against the Michigan Central Railway for injuries sustained when she was thrown against a seat in a passenger coach of the Wolverine some months ago. Mrs. Sullivan declared that the train had stopped and started again in order to make a switch in the local yards when she was traveling from Detroit to St. Thomas. In view of this she thought that the company should be made liable for her injuries. She sustained a broken BOARD OF COMMERCE IS for her injuries. She sustained a broken rib or two and a sprained back through being thrown on the floor. Owing to the fact that she contradicted herself several times in giving her evidence, Justice Lennox refused to let the case MAKING INVESTIGATION INTO to to a jury and dismissed the Barristers Sanders and McEwan of the Toronto firm of Sanders, Torrance & Kingsmill, appeared for the defendant company, and A. A. Ingram of this city for Mrs. Sullivan.

Many Solutions of Puzzle Contest Pour In.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, if you will step this way we will introduce to you several letters pertaining to The Advertiser puzzle contest which speak for themselves. Here is one from Ingersoll, for instance, which says: "I went over the chart twice and got a different answer each time." Another from Chatham which says: "I have worked the puzzle a number of times and always got a different result. Thinking the one inclosed to be the nearest correct one, I am sending it along," and thus writes a contestant residing in Sarnia: "After sending in my solution I went over the puzzle again, and found three more circles. The method I used is the bast, I think, that can be devised" All of which goes to prove that it is better to begin counting at once, if you have not already begun, because the remarkable variation in the solutions already sent in shows there is a wide difference in the result of those who have already registered solutions. By counting now a contestant will have ample time to revise his figures and send in an additional count, according to the rules, thereby increasing his contest is the perfect understanding which nearly everyone seems to have as to just what has to be done. This enables contestants to settle down to work with the knowledge that they are working intelligently, and to the point. Thoroughly planned is every feature of the contest whether it will end with the one puzzle, or whether a subsequent one will have to be introduced to dispose of ties. If, however, there are any points about the contest whether it will end with the one puzzle, or whether a subsequent one will have to be introduced to dispose of ties. Strictest Discipline Is Maintained by All Soldiers.

Fiume, Sunday, Sept. 28.-Fiume is vibrant with the confidence felt by the men who, under the command of Capt. Gabriele d'Annunzio, marched into the French naval headquarters. Pennants bearing the words: "Viva Italia!" and Capt. d'Annunzio's slogan: "Fiume or Death!" mingle with the red, white and green of Italy and the violet, blue and yellow of Fiume. Soldiers are everywhere in the city. Motor trucks lurch through the streets carrying armed men from one point to another and hundreds of troops may be seen at any hour marching with the greatest precision and with the strictest military discipline, the whole scene being similar to that to be encountered at a great Italian military post. Men from all regiments, arms and branches of the service seem to be here. Among them are thousands of veterans of the great war, a majority of the men wearing there or four service medals as well as those indicating they volunteered for the fighting here.

There is an air of confidence everywhere among the volunteers who, wearing their grey uniforms, look as much at home as they would in Rome or Florence. The uniforms of the men are decked with the regulation Italian army insignia, and military regulations are decked with the regulation state of the military salute, while most rigorous making headway in dealing with the salutions are enforced.
