London Sporting Life: A suburban policeman will have cause to remember the visit of Tommy Burns to this country. Burns one morning was engaged in his usual spin, and on a nice soft sidewalk at one part of the road he was running along thinking of anything but policemen, when a "Bobby," standing on the pavement chatting with a gentleman, shoved Burns off, with the remark, "The road's the place for you."

'The Canadian's ankle was slightly hurt by the sudden movement. Burns turned on the policeman and said, heatedly, "Couldn't you have asked me to go of the sidewalk in a gentlemanly manner and then I would have acted in a gentlemanly way? You are like some other people. You behave like a bully because you wear a policeman's uniform. I am training for a match, and I am to use this road every morning. I don't want you to annoy me again."

Burns trotted off, but some men, who knew the champion, and had seen the littletiff, shouted, "Take his number. Tommy." Nothing loth, Burns went back, and took the number, and the policeman wanted Burns' name in exchange, presumably to report. Burns, fearing that some trouble might arise thru a false report, wrote to the headquarters of the district, explained the whole situation, stating that he had asked the policeman to treat him in a gentlemanly way, and that he had called him a bully for the way that he had acted, and explained in this connection that he did not know the law with regard to sidewalks.

At headquarters the matter was taken up vigorously. Visits were paid to Burns' training quarters, courtesies were exchanged, and Burns can now number several members high in the service of the Greatest Athlete in House of Lords.— This distinction is held by Lord Desbo-rough, the president of the forthcoming Olympic games. He has enough sporting trophies in the way of cups and megals to stock a fair-sized silversmith's shop. It would be difficult to mention a sport in which he does not excell. As a swordsman, rower, whip, cricketer, mountaineer and runner, he has held his own with the stock of champlous, and his location for the showed the club to have had a successbest of champions, and his lordship occasionally liked a spice of danger in his sport. Twice he has swum across Niagara, and he stroked an eight which crossed the English Channel in an ordinary rowing boat. He has done, perhaps,

Report from Royston, Ga., says that Detroit has signed Cobb at $5000 a year for three years, the insurance clause being eliminated.

Hans Wagner, one of the world's great-st baseball players, will not be in the game this season. In a letter on Sunday to President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburg Club, with which team Wagner has played since 1897, the renowned sportstop says the game has become too stren-uous for him.

Canadian Soccer Team.

Sporting Editor World: Hearing so much talk about this soccer team to compete in the Olympic games, I would like you to publish a few remarks. Mr. Mc-Pherson seems to have a lot to say. He wasn't fast enough to catch a place on the Thistle team, and why does he offer so many suggestions? We have Canadians who can look after our sports. If we send a soccer team let it be Canadians and nothing else, and if they go down to defeat it will be Canada and not old country players. The Canadians are better than the Scotch or English players now playing in Canada or Toronto. This has been clearly demonstrated by the Little Yorks, who won the senior championship and beat the Thistles by a big margin. Send players over who know one contern and all Canadians, who can get along without the help of other countries. Mr. McPherson should keep quiet and let Canadians pick their own team. The seniors should have a tournament and send over the team that wins.
